EDITOR'S PREFACE.

Jahr. The present Repertory is a record of the observation which Jahr has been collecting for the last nine years, at the d-side of patients. It is therefore an eminently practical work, and its utility is enhanced by the fact, that the various articles treated of in this Repertory are arranged in alphabetical order, and can, therefore, be consulted with the greatest ease. The reader will find, in reading Jahr's preface, that he gives the preference to particular attenuations in the treatment of disease. The subject of doses has been subjected to a full and impartial amination in the "Pharmacopæia and Posology," a work which is now in press, and will soon be given to the public. All those who take an interest in the doctrine of doses, are referred to this work for more complete information.

AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

THE present work is intended to offer the practitioner every thing which it is necessary to know, in such a manner that, in whatever way the desired information may be sought to be obtained, the practitioner will be sure to find it. I have given both the symptoms and the names of the diseases, and have not only given the pathogenetic indications with great completeness, from my own and other physicians' experience, but have endeavoured to complete these indications by referring the reader to kindred articles, and in this way, giving him an opportunity of studying the internal connection of the remedies, and their relation to the case for which they are recommended. It is true that this method will frequently lead the reader from one article to another through a long series; but, since in nature all things are connected, I consider this circumstance an advantage rather than a disadvantage, so much more, as I know by experience, that the speediest, safest and easiest way of obtaining a full and correct insight into the nature of a particular case of disease, is to study every thing which has a bearing upon it.

As regards the names of diseases, I have adopted the nomenclature of Peter Frank, with which physicians are more familiarly acquainted. In treating of fevers, epilepsies, hysteric affections, &c., I have left Scheenlein's pathology out of consideration, for this reason, that his system is not much respected by the pathologists of the old school, and is combated with a good deal of spirit by the professors of Berlin, Vienna and Prague. After all, pathological symptoms do not amount to much, provided we prescribe in accordance with the totality of the symptoms; for, by pursuing this course, we cannot fail to prescribe for the thing, even if the name be left out of consideration, and provided always that Schonlein's classification of "uterine, testicular, thoracic and other kinds of epilepsy" be correct. There is one work, however, which I regret not having had an opportunity of consulting previous to the publication of this Repertory: it is Hebra's work on Cutaneous Diseases. Hebra's system combines practical advantages with great clearness and simplicity, whereas all other systems of cutaneous diseases are confused and without much practical value. Even as early as 1840, when I first published my "KLINISCHEN ANWEISUNGEN" in French, I applied myself to the study of the German, French and English systems of cutaneous diseases: but the more I advanced in my study, the more I became convinced that it would be impossible to offer an intelligible nomenclature of these diseases to German, French and English practitioners. My "REPERTORY OF THE CUTANEOUS DISEASES" will supply this deficiency as nearly as possible. This Repertory will contain a table exhibiting the chief names of all cutaneous diseases which have been adopted by our most distinguished pathologists, referring, moreover, to the synonymes of these names in other systems, and the symptoms in our Materia Medica which characterize the different diseases. This table will be as complete as possible, though it may not prove satisfactory to all.

As regards the remedies which have been recommended for single symptoms as well as whole groups of symptoms, I have only named such as have proved themselves curative, either in the particular case before us, or by removing, incidentally, the symptoms before us when belonging to a more extensive group. Remedies which have been proposed more or less speculatively, are marked with an interrogation-point (?). A great many new remedies have been added to those that are mentioned in my original Manual. These remedies have all been successfully tried in practice, and may, therefore, either be marked with a cipher (0), or, in case they should already be mentioned in the Manual, with an asterisk (*). Those who consult Boenninghausen's Repertory, will likewise find many useful hints and remarks in this Pocket-Repertory, and a number of remedies that were not yet much used heretofore. As regards the classification of remedies in Nos. 1, 2, 3, I ought to state that, though this classification is essentially based upon experience and the relative importance of the remedies in the particular diseases for which they are indicated, yet the practitioner should never dispense with the trouble of comparing the symptoms of all the remedies mentioned, since one of those arranged under Nos. 2 or 3, may be more specifically indicated than the remedies mentioned under No. 1. This classification is not absolutely true, and it would be wrong to infer that, because a remedy is found under No. 2 or 3, it cannot, therefore, be as useful as one of those mentioned under 1. This classification is merely intended to show that the remedies which are indicated in No. 1, are, generally speaking, those which are more frequently used in this particular case of disease, and that the practitioner, in order to save time, had better examine the remedies under No. 1 first, before he compares those mentioned under Nos. 2 or 3.

It is needless to give any further rules relative to the use of this work. The diseases being alphabetically arranged, both in the index and the body of the work, all the practitioner has to do, is to look for the disease and then to study the paragraphs devoted to it. Beginners, however, will do well to first study the systematic index following immediately after this preface, and more particularly in the article, "General diseases," those subjects which are printed in italics. By this means they will become familiar with the plan of the work, and will know how to use it in particular cases. This is the plan which I have always pursued in teaching. For those who have never studied our Materia Medica, I have added the characteristic symptoms of our principal medicines; I ought to say, however, that this work has especially been written for those who possess my Symptomen-Codex, or some other kind of Materia Medica, which they may consult in important cases. To those who study our Materia Medica with care and attention, the work will prove a valuable vade mecum, and an excellent introduction to the study of larger works. The characteristic symptoms of our principal medicines have been appended for the benefit of those who are not yet acquainted with our Materia Medica, and who are at a loss to know how to commence that study. These characteristic symptoms will serve as central points round which the other and less important symptoms of the medicines can easily be grouped.

For the benefit of beginners, I will subjoin the following remarks on the selection of remedies according to symptoms, and on the magnitude and repetition of doses.

I know, from experience, that Hahnemann's rule, to select a remedy in accordance with the totality of the symptoms, is, in many cases, incorrectly apprehended by beginners, or by physicians who come over to our side from the alleopathic ranks. They do not always distinguish primary and secondary symptoms. This incorrectness is, in the first place, owing to the fact that the old school considerably restricts the meaning of the term "symptom;" and, in the second place, to this other fact, that what is technically termed "taking a record," consists simply in taking down the prominent symptoms without including other constitutional ailments, the treatment of which is postponed until the principal difficulty is removed. It is not supposed, for instance, by beginners, that piles and pneumonia, when occurring in the same patient, have any connection with each other. It is on this account that I have always taught not only to consider the symptoms of the case, but also the symptoms of the patient. And even then I have not always been properly understood. Many symptoms, which our school considers as manifestations of the general disease, were considered as independent diseases by the beginner, simply because they had particular names in the old school works on pathology. I have, therefore, refrained from using the word symptom in my lectures to beginners, and have worded my furdamental rule of treatment as follows: The proper selection of a remedy, in chronic and generally also in acute diseases, depends upon the following three points: "1. The remedy must correspond to the pathognomonic symptoms of the case; 2, to the accidental symptoms which do not seem to be a part of the essential features of the disease; and 3, to all other diseases and morbid phenomena which we might discover in the patient." If a patient be afflicted with pneumonia, for instance, we should not only record the essential symptoms of pneumonia, but also the symptoms of any other affection of the eyes that might happen to coexist with the inflammation, such as: ectropion, pterygion, blepharoptosis, diplopia, amblyopia, &c., and, moreover, the general morbid phenomena of the organism, no matter whether the books speak of them as mere symptoms or as independent diseases. In all chronic diseases this mode of recording the symptoms should he strictly pursued; and even in acute diseases the proper remedy will always be found to correspond to these three series of phenomena, though it need not be selected with particular reference to the third series, provided the disease does not rest upon a chronic foundation, and was occasioned by some exceptional cause. The accidental symptoms, however, that is, those symptoms which are not essentially pathognomonic, should be carefully noted in acute diseases, and the remedy should be selected with especial reference to these accidental symptoms. Some time ago I treated a man of 40 years for acute bronchitis. The remedies which were indicated by the pathognomonic symptoms, such as Acon., Bell., Bry., Dulc., Merc., had no effect. Ithen learned that the patient had a pain in the calf, as if bruised, with tension on setting the foot on the ground. The patient did not remember having ever hurt himself at that place. The spot looked reddish, green-yellow on the sides, and was painful to the touch. This led me to Conium 30, three globules in water. After the second dose the spot was less painful, the fever diminished, the cough looser, and the appetite improved.*

*The apparently accidental symptoms are frequently the more essential symptoms of the patient. He who knows how to distinguish them from the pathognomonic symptoms, will frequently be able to cure noma, dropsy, inguinal hernia, &c., with remedies which have never produced such diseases; remedies which are individually essential to a cure, and such remedies do not always correspond to the pathognomonic symptoms.

As regards the magnitude of doses, my rule is to give as little medicine as possible. Nevertheless, in spite of the careful attention with which I have hitherto followed the discussions relative to that subject, I have not yet been able to decide whether the higher or the lower attenuations are the weaker or stronger doses. I have known one drop of the pure tincture to act for weeks precisely in the same manner as the 30th attenuation has been suppo ed to do; I have seen violent effects from the 30th as well as from the 2d or 3d; and on the other hand, I have effected speedy cures, without any previous aggravations, by means of the tincture, and the 1st, 2d or 3d attenuation, as well as with the 30th. I have observed similar effects from the 100th up to the 3 and 8,000th potency. In some cases I have effected a cure by a mere change of potencies, and sometimes an attenuation which seemed to do no good whatever, would effect a speedy cure when the same remedy was given after two or three other medicines.

As regards the repetition of doses, it is my conviction, confirmed by abundant experience, that an unnecessary repetition of the same remedy is productive of mischief, especially if the remedy was not indicated by the symptoms, or was continued after it had produced an incipient improvement. I have seen bad effects from spoonful doses of a solution of a few pellets, just as much as if the original dose had been repeated. We know that from the fourth attenuation upwards, the medicines act rather dynamically than chemically, but what the real difference is between the first and thousandth attenuation, is as yet impossible to say. It is my belief that the attenuations, if carried up to a certain degree, act more speedily and more positively than the lower preparations, and that a spoonful of a solution of a few pellets is a milder dose than a drop of an alcoholic attenuation; but I am unable to offer any proofs in favour of my belief; what I know positively, is, that we do not yet know the limit how far the attenuating process can be carried without destroying the power of the medicine, and that, under proper circumstances, a pellet of the 8,000th potency acts as well as a pellet of the 30th or 3d.

From this we may infer, that an unnecessary repetition of the dose might prove injurious to the patient; that a frequent repetition of the dose is necessary in very acute diseases, such as cholera, or even in recent chancre; that a single dose will frequently suffice in many slighter affections; and that, in chronic diseases, a dose should be allowed to act a long time. This is probably owing to the fact, that in such diseases as steatomata, polypi, chronic pulmonary and liver complaints, old wens, ulcers and herpes, the retro-formative process takes place very slowly, and that therefore a too frequent repetition of the dose produces an aggravation before the curative process has commenced. In all chronic diseases I never give more than one dose, of three or four pellets, and allow it to act a long time; and even in acute diseases I never repeat the dose until the preceding one has exhausted its action. I, therefore, use a solution of from three to six pellets of the 30th potency, in a tumblerful of water, administering it in teaspoonful doses every two, three or six hours. Sometimes I use a higher potency as being a weaker one, especially if I want to ascertain whether I have hit the right remedy, for which purpose a small dose is just as effectual as a large one: for even the smallest dose of the proper remedy, if it do not effect an immediate cure, will at least make a favourable impression upon the disease. If no such impression be manifest, I would rather resort to another remedy than to prescribe a lower attenuation of the same remedy. The beginner in homeopathy should especially guard himself against prescribing for mere names of diseases, as is too much the case in the old school. This is the reason why I have given as many symptoms as possible, and why I invite the beginning practitioner not to content himself with my own indications, but, moreover, to consult the Materia Medica Pura in every case. The study of the Materia Medica Pura is indispensable to learn to distinguish medicinal symptoms from the natural symptoms of the disease. This is especially important in chronic diseases where new symptoms frequently make their appearance, which may require a change of remedies, according as they are either a medicinal aggravation.

or a new development of the disease. The present work is therefore, not intended to supply the place of the Materia Medica Pura; it is simply what the title indicates, a Pocket-Repertory to aid the memory of older practitioners, and to be a guide for beginners.

SYSTEMATIC TABLE

OF THE

VARIOUS ARTICLES CONTAINED IN THIS WORK,

IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER.

N. B.—Those headings in the following paragraphs which are printed in italics, should be studied first; the general information which they furnish will be found more or less useful in all particular cases.

I. GENERAL REMARKS.—See the articles:

A. Constitution, age, sex and temperament; causes of disease; conditions of aggravation; conditions of improvement; emotions; colds; suppression of secretions and eruptions; injuries; ill effects of heat; ill effects of various kinds of nourishment; weakness of stomach; diseases of drunkards; ill effects of growth; poisoning, especially by alum, arsenic, valerian, prussic acid, lead; abuse of cinchona; noxious vapours; iron; adipic poison; ichtyotoxicon; crab-apple vinegar; poisonous honey; abuse of iodine; abuse of coffce; abuse of camphor; abuse of chamomile; poisoning by copper; abuse of magnesia; abuse of mercury; opium; narcotism; phosphorus; noxious mushrooms; glanders; saffron; sal ammoniacum; nitrate of silver; abuse of salt; sarsaparilla; hepar sulphuris; abuse of sulphur; mezereum; cantharides; stramonium; poisonous sumach; abuse of tobacco; abuse of tea; alcohol; tin

B. Deadness of single parts; swelling of veins; aneurisms; sanguinous congestions; plethora; anæmia; hæmorrhage; rushes of blood; inflammations; arthrocace; hydrarthrus; arthritis; arthralgia; diseases of bones; spasms; paralysis; contraction of muscles; polypi; rhachitis; rheumatism; mucous derangement; paraxysms of pain; scurvy; scrophulosis; tuberculosis; typical affections; dropsy.

C. Emaciation; debility: atrophy of scrofulous children; deficient exhalation; dread of motion; cyanosis; chlorosis; eclampsia; epilepsy; adiposis; jaundice; catalepsy; diseases of children; dread of air; marasmus senilis; nervous debility; fainting; apparent death; apoplexy; asthenia: consumption; indolence; awkwardness; chorea; hydrophobia; worm-affections; tremour.

II. CUTANEOUS AND EXTERNAL DISEASES: - See:

- A. Formication; acne; lepra; cruptions; variola; blood-blisters; petechiæ; boils; eczema; exanthemata; herpetic eruptions; phagedenic blisters; rash; zona; itching of the skin; ichthyosis; itch; lichen; measles; nettle-rash; plague; pemphigus; purple-rash; ecthyma; rubeolæ; scarlatina; varicella; rupia; impetigo; syphilis; varioloid. Tinea capitis; eruptions in the face; mentagra; herpes praeputialis.
- B. Excrescences; steatoma; chilblains; fungus articularis; moles; polypi; tuberculosis; fungus excrescences (fungus hæmatodes, &c.); sycoma; sycosis; warts.
- C. Abscesses, gangrene; glandular diseases; suppurations; tumours; ulcers; rhagades; indurations of the skin; anasarca; stings of insects; diseases of bones; diseases of nails and panaritia; ædema; erysipelas; scurvy; scrofulous affections; indurations; injuries; sore skin.
- D. Cyanosis; chlorosis; bloody sweat; jaundice; pitiriasis; erythrema; dropsy.
- III. Morbid Sleep. See: Night-mare; yawning; morbid sleep; sleeplessness; sopor; dreams, (see under morbid sleep.)
- IV. Fever.—See: Inflammatory fevers; gastric (mucous and bilious fevers); yellow fever; catarrhal (and rheumatic fever); nervous fever (typhus); plague; morbid sweat; febris anglica; deficient warmth; fever and ague; dentition-fever (see under diseases of children); hectic fever.
 - V. MENTAL DISEASES.—See: Paroxysms of anguish; idiocy; delirium; weak memory and mind; mental derangement; emotions; morbid emotions; home-sickness; hypochondria; hysteria; unhappy love; anthropophobia; diseases of drunkards; melancholy; mania of suicide; awkwardness.

VI.-VII. DISEASES OF THE HEAD AND BRAIN.—See: Delirium; meningitis; concussion of the brain; hydrocephalus; debility of the brain; congestions of the brain; apoplexy; vertigo.

VIII. External Head.—See: Open fontanelle; large head; falling off of the hair; tinea capitis; bones of the skull; plica polonica.

IX. DISEASES OF THE EYES.—See: Hæmorrhage from the eyes; ophthalmia; running of the eyes; cancer of the eyes; blepharophthalmitis; blepharospasmus; blepharoplegia; pains in the eyes; weakness of the eyes (and alterations of vision); contraction of the lids; ulceration of the eyes; paleness of sight; stye; short-sightedness; photophobia; hemeralopia; strabismus; cataract; glaucoma; nyctalopia; fistula lachrymalis; bleareyedness; far-sightedness.

X. Diseases of the Ears:—See: Deficient hearing; excessive irritation of hearing; otorrhea; parotitis; otitis; herpes of the ear; otalgia; polypus of the ears.

XI. DISEASES OF THE NOSE.—See: Anosmia; excessive irritation of the sense of smell; bleeding of the nose; suppuration of the nose; swelling of the nose; cancer of the nose; polypus of the nose; coryza.

XII. Face.—See: Swelling of the cheeks; eruption in the face; complexion; erysipelas of the face; prosopalgia; trismus; mentagra; swelling of the lips.

XIII. TEETH.—See: Diseases of the gums; toothache; dentition (see under: Diseases of children.)

XIV. Buccal Cavity. -- See: Ranula; hæmorrhage of the mouth; stomacace; fetor of the mouth; aphthæ; ptyalism; deficiency of speech; diseases of the tongue.

XV. Throat and Fauces.—See: Angina faucium; angina tonsillaris; dysphagia; pharyngitis; œsophagitis.

XVI. TASTE AND APPETITE.—See: Loss of appetite; malacia; ulterations of taste; loss of taste; canine hunger; weakness of the stomach, (and ill effects of certain kinds of nourishment.)

XVII. Gastric Derangement.—See: Hæmatemesis; cholera and cholerine; gastric (and bilious) derangement; derangement of the stomach; hiccough; heartburn and eructations.

XVIII. DISEASES OF THE STOMACH. — See: Gastroenteritis; gastritis; gastromalacia; cardialgia, and pains in the stomach.

XIX. Hypochondria.—See: Hepatitis; induration of the liver; splenitis; diaphragmitis.

XX. ABDOMEN AND GROIN.—See: Distention of the abdomen; abdominal congestions; enteritis; peritonitis; colic; abdominal tubercles; ascites; pot-bellied; ileus; tympanitis.—Hernia; bubo.

XXI. Stool and Anus.—See: Hæmorrhage of the anus; itching of the anus; diarrhæa; cholera and cholerine; hæmorrhoids; fistula recti; prolapsus of the rectum; dysentery; constipation; worm-affections.

XXII. Urine and Urinary difficulties.—See: Catarrh of the bladder; cystitis; hæmorrhoids of the bladder; cystospasmus; cystoplegia; polypus of the bladder; thickening of the bladder; urinary secretion; urinary difficulties; urinary fistula: hæmorrhage of the urethra; urethritis; gonorrhæa; stricture; diabetes; retention of urine; nephritis; calculi renales; lithiasis.

XXIII. Male sexual parts.—See: Balanorrhœa; sexual instinct; sexual power; gonorrhœa; hernia scrotalis; orchitis; induration of the testes; phimosis; prostatitie; herpss præputialis; sycosis; syphilis.

XXIV. Female sexual parts, and Diseases of women.—See: Diseases of the ovaries; hæmorrhage of the uterus; metritis; cancer of the uterus; diseases of the uterus; prolapsus of the uterus; herpes præputialis; swelling of the pudendum.—Menstrual difficulties; amenia; chlorosis; leucorrhæa; sexual instinct; sexual power; pregnancy; confinement; labour; puerperal fever; nursing; breasts and nipples.

N. B. Diseases of children, infants at the breast and new-born infants, (see under: Diseases of children.)

XXV. Trachea and Cough.—See: Croup; influenza; hoarseness (and aphonia); cough; catarrh; catarrhal fever; laryngitis; laryngeal phthisis; whooping-cough; tracheitis; tracheal phthisis; catarrh.

XXVI. CHEST, RESPIRATION AND HEART.—See: Asthma Wigandi et Millari; asthma spasmodicum; asthma thymicum; angina pectoris; congestions of the chest; inflammation of the chest; pleuritis; pains in the chest; hydrothorax; orthopnœa paralytica; diseases of the heart) and palpitation of the heart); hæmorrhage of the lungs; pneumonia; paralysis of the lungs; pulmonary phthisis.

XXVII. BACK, SMALL OF THE BACK AND NECK.—See: Lumbago; nephritis; atrophia spinalis; spinitis; arthralgia; diseases of the bones; spasms; paralysis; rhachitis; rheumatism; paroxysms of pain; scrophulosis.

XXVIII. UPPER EXTREMITIES.—See: Deadness of single parts; arthrocace; hydrarthrus; tumours; arthritis; chiragra; arthralgia; diseases of the bones; paralysis; contraction of muscles; rheumatism; paroxysms of pain; diseases of the nails (and panaritia).

XXIX. Lower extremities.—See: Arthrocace; hydrarthrus; arthralgia; tumours; ulcers; arthritis; coxagra; gonitis; diseases of the bones; paralysis; diseases of the nails; ædema podagra; psoitis; contraction of muscles; erysipelas; rheuma tism; paroxysms of pain; diseases of the nails.

N.B. The full names of the remedies recommended in this work, will be found at the end of the work, in the "Characteristic Symptoms;" in the body of the work the abbreviated names have been used.

CLINICAL GUIDE;

oR,

POCKET-REPERTORY;

FOR THE HOMEOPATHIC TREATMENT

O F

ACUTE AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

N. B.—The classification of remedies which I have used in this Repertory, is the same as that which has been used in my Manual. The remedies under No. 1 are those that have acquired authority both from our provings and from experience at the sick-bed; the remedies under No. 2 are likewise authoritative, but not in the same absolute sense as those under No. 1. The remedies under No. 3 have only been confirmed by single cases, or are simply indicated theoretically; and the remedies marked with an interrogation-point (?), have never been used in practice, and are proposed upon a mere theoretical suggestion.

CLINICAL GUIDE

For the Homoeopathic Treatment of

ACUTE AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

ABSCESSES, INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.- § 1. Internal abscesses generally require the same remedies as external.

A preference should be given:

a) for acute abscesses, to: Ars. asa. bell. bryon. cham. hep.

led. mezer. phosph. puls. sulph.

b) for chronic abscesses, whether cold or occasioned by congestions, to: Asa. aurum. calc. carb-veg. con. hep. iod. laur. lycop. mang. merc. merc-corr. nitr-ac. phos. sep. sil. sulph.

§ 2. Particular indications:

ARSEN.: for intolerable, burning pains, during the fever; or when the abscess threatens to become gangrenous, or is accompanied with great debility.

Asa: for abscesses discharging a colorless, serous pus; violent pains on contact, and great sensitiveness of the adjoining parts.

Bellad: Pressure, burning and stinging in the abscess; cheesy and flocculent pus.- Is especially suitable for hepatic abscesses.

Bryon.: The tumor is either very red or very pale, with tensive pain.

MEZER.: for abscesses of fibrous parts and of tendons, or for abscesses arising from abuse of Mercury.

Pulsat.: When the abscess bleeds readily, with stinging or cutting pains; or when an itching, burning and stinging is experienced in the surrounding parts; especially varices.

RHUS.: especially for abscesses of the axillary or parotid glands, when the swelling is painful to the touch, or discharges a bloodyserous pus.

ACNE.—For acne in the face of young people: Bell. carbveg. hep. or sulph.

For acne arising from sexual abuse, principally: Calc. phos-uc.

and sulph.

For acne of drunkards: N-vom. led. and sulph., or ars. lach.

For acne rosacea: 1) Carb-an. kreos. rhus. veratr. 2) Ars. calc. carb-veg. mezer. ruta. 3) Aur-m. cann. caust. canth. cicut. laches. ledum. sepia.

For acne punctata (comedones, black pores) most frequently:

1) Bell. hep. natr. nitr-ac. sulph. 2) Natr-m. sabin. selen.

ADIPOSIS: for adiposes of young men and girls, observation and symptoms point to the following remedies: 1) Ant. calc. caps. ferr. puls. sulph. 2) Ars. baryt. cupr. lyc. veratr.

AGUSTIA:

§ 1. The principal remedies are: 1) Bell. lyc. natr-m. phosph. puls. sil. 2) Alum. amm-m. anac. calc. hep. hyos. kal. kreos. magn-m. n-vom. rhod. sec. sep. veratr.

§ 2. For agustia from purely nervous causes, such as paralysis, the principal remedies are: Bell. hyos. lyc. natr-m. n-vom.

sep. veratr.

For agustia attended with catarrh, &c., we use: 1) N-vom.

puls. sulph. 2) Alum. calc. hep. natr-m. rhod. sep.

§ 3. Compare Hearing, hardness of, Anosmia, Amblyo-Pia, &c.

ALCOHOL, POISONING BY.—According to Hering, the principal remedies are: 1) Milk. 2) Mucilaginous drinks. 3) Caustic spirits of Ammonium, (one drop in a tumblerful of sugar-water, in teaspoonful doses). Black coffee is likewise useful, as well as Nux-vom. in homeopathic doses.

ALUM, Poisoning by, and ill effects of, abuse of, for poisoning by large doses of: 1) Soap-water, or, 2) sugar-water, until vomiting sets in; afterwards Puls. or veratr. for the remaining symptoms.

AMBLYOPIA, weakness or morbid alteration of sight; weakness of sight, from mere dim-sightedness to complete blindness may arise from so many causes, and may be attended with so many different morbid states of the organism, that there is scarcely a remedy which is not of advantage in the treatment of this affection. I have, therefore, noted only the most efficacious remedies for amblyopia, furnishing particular indications to serve as points of support, and to facilitate the selection of remedies for particular cases.

The principal remedies for amblyopia, are: 1) Aur. bell. calc. caust. chin. cic. cin. dros. hyos. merc. natr-m. n-vom. phos. puls. rut. sep. sil. sulph. veratr. 2) Agar. cann. caps. con. croc. dig. dulc. euphr. guaj. kal. lach. lyc. magn. natr. nitr-ac. op. plumb.

rhus. sec. spig. tart. zinc.

For amblyopia, simple weakness of sight: 1) Anac. bell. calc. caps. cin. croc. hyos. lyc. magn. puls. rut. sep. and sulph. 2

Cann. caust. natr. natr-m. phos. plumb. &c.

For amblyopia amaurotica (incipient amaurosis): 1) Aur. bell. calc. caps. caust. chin. cic. con. dros. dulc. hyos. merc. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. op. phos. puls. rhus. sec. sep. sil. sulph. veratr. 2) Agar. caps. cin. dig. euphr. guaj. kal. lach. lyc. n-mosch.? plumb. zinc. &c.

For complete amaurosis, provided it is not incurable, the same remedies should be used as for amblyopia amaurotica, the remedy depending not so much upon the degree of weakness, as upon the totality of the symptoms. Unless secondary symptoms should require other remedies, we may use: Bellad. calc. merc. phosph. sep. sulph. &c., though any other remedy may be used if indicated by the general symptoms.

For erethic amaurosis, principally: Bell. calc. cic. con. hyos.

merc. nitr-ac. op. phos. sep. sulph. &c.

For torpid amaurosis: Aur. caps. caust. chin. dros. dulc. natr. natr-m. op. phos.-ac. plumb. sec. veratr. &c.

§ 2. As regards external causes, if the weakness should have been caused by fine work, give Bell. or Ruta, or perhaps, Carbv. calc. and spig.

If by debilitating causes, loss of animal fluids, sexual abuse, &c., give Chin. or cin. or perhaps, 2) Anac. calc. natr. natr-m.

n-vom. or sulph. or, 3) Phos-ac. sep.

If by DRINKING, Chin. calc. lach. n-vom. op. and sulph.

If by external injuries, blow on the head, violent concussions, &c., 1) Arn. 2) Con. euphr. rhus. rut. or staph.

If by old age, principally: Aur. bar. con. op. phos. sec.

If by scrophula: 1) Bell. calc. chin. cin. dulc. merc. sulph.
2) Aur. euphr. hep. n-vom. or puls. &c.

If by ARTHRITIC METASTASIS: Ant. bell. merc. puls. rhus. spig.

sulph. &c.

§ 4. As regards symptoms, the remedy should be selected in accordance with the totality thereof, both the symptoms of the eye and those of the general organism. But as it would be impossible to enumerate those symptoms without repeating the pathogenesis of every remedy indicated, I must content myself with furnishing the following particular indications for the different remedies of the eyes, leaving to the practitioner the business of supplying omissions and modifying my indications agreeably to the general symptoms of the patient. Use:

AURUM: for black spots, or scintillations; half-sightedness, so that things appear to be cut off horizontally; tensive pain in the eves.

Belladonna: for dilated or insensible pupils; photophobia, spasmodic motions of the eyes and eyelids, induced by the light impinging upon the retina; scintillations or mist, or black spots or points before the eyes, or spots of various colours, or silver-coloured; hemeralopia, as soon as the sun is down; diplopia; or the objects appear red, or inverted; stitches in the eyes, or aching and distensive pains extending to the orbits and forehead; red face.

CALCAREA: for mistiness of sight, gauze before the eyes, especially when reading, or after eating, with black motes before the eyes; extreme photophobia, with dazzling of the eyes by light; dilated pupils; pressure, or feeling of coldness in the eyes.

CAUSTICUM: for sudden and frequent loss of sight, with sensation as if a pellicle were stretched over the eyes; or dimsightedness as if looking through a cloth or mist; black threads or motes, scintillations; photophobia.

CHINA: for weak sight, the patient sees only the outlines of things near him; the letters look pale, are surrounded by white borders, blurred; dilated and not very sensible pupils; dimness of cornea as if the eyes were filled with smoke; scintillations or black motes; the eyes feel better after sleeping.

CICUTA: Frequent vanishing of sight, as if by absence of mind, with vertigo, especially when walking; the objects seem to totter, and the letters to move when reading; diplopia; frequent obscuration of sight, alternating with hardness of hearing; blue margins around the eyes; photophobia, burning in the eyes; aching pain over the orbits.

CINA: for dimness of sight when reading, going off by wiping the eyes; dilated pupil; photophobia; pressure in the eyes, as if sand had got in, especially when reading.

DROSERA: for frequent vanishing of sight, especially when reading, the letters look pale and blurred; photophobia, the eyes are dazzled by the light, or by the glare of fire; they are very dry; the nose is dry and stopped up; stitches in the eyes.

Hyoscyamus: for dilated pupils; frequent spasms of the eyes and eyelids; squinting; diplopia; hemeralopia; illusion of sight, as if things were red, or larger than they really are; aching, stupefying pains over the eyes.

MERCURIUS: for mistiness of sight; frequent, momentary loss of sight; black points; scintillations, black motes; paroxysms of momentary blindness; the letters seem to move when reading; the eyes are very sensitive to the light, or the glare of fire; cutting, stinging or aching pains in the eyes, especially when exerting the eyes; (dilated, or even insensible, or unequal pupils.)

NATRUM MUR.: for frequent obscuration of sight, especially when stooping, walking, reading, writing, &c.; dimsightedness as if through gauze or feathers; the letters look blurred; diplopia; half-sightedness; frequent, spasmodic closing of the lids; frequent lachrymation.

Nux vom.: for scintillations, or black or gray points, or flashes; the eyes are very sensitive to light, especially early; violent pressure in the eyes after using them ever so little; red face; dilated pupils; heaviness and frequent closing of the eyelids.

Phosphorus: for sudden paroxysms of nyctalopia, or sensation as if things were covered with a gray veil; the eyes are very sensitive to the light, or are dazzled by bright light; blackness, or black points or sparks; aching pains in the eyes, orbits and forehead; frequent lachrymation, especially in the open air, and when exposed to the wind.

Pulsatilla: for frequent vanishing and obscuration of sight, with paleness of sight, and disposition to vomit; blindness at twilight, and sensation as if the eyes were bandaged; or mistiness of sight, or sensation as i the dimness of sight could be removed by wiping, particularly in the open air, or in the evening, or early on waking; diplopia, or paleness of sight; shining or flashing rings before the eyes; photophobia, with stitches in the eyes when the light impinges upon the retina; frequent and copious lachrymation, particularly in the open air, when exposed to wind and light; contraction of the pupils.

RUTA: for mistiness of sight, with complete obscuration at a distance; musew volitantes; aching or burning pains in the eyes on using them, particularly when reading; lachrymation in the open air.

Seria: for dimness of sight, particularly when reading or writing; contraction of pupils; gauze, black spots or stripes before the eyes; photophobia in the day-time; aching pain over the eyeball.

SILICEA: for dimness of sight, as if looking through a gray cover; paroxysms of sudden nyctalopia; the letters look pale and blurred when reading; sparks and black spots before the eyes; potophobia, the light of day dazzles the eyes; frequent lachrymation, especially in the open air; stitches in the forehead which seem to strike through the eyes.

Sulphur: for mistiness, or dimness of sight as if looking through black gauze or feather-dust; frequent obscuration of sight, especially when reading; photophobia, especially from the light of the sun, and when the weather is warm and sultry; the eyes are dazzled by the light; sudden paroxysms of nyctalopia; scintillations and white spots, or motes and black points or stripes before the eyes; tearing burning pains in the head and eyes; profuse lachymation, especially in the open air; or great dryness of the eyes, especially in the room; unequal or dilated and insensible pupils.

VERATRUM: for hemeralopia; sparks and black spots before the eyes, particularly on rising from the bed, or from a chair; profuse luchrymation, with burning, cutting, and feeling of dryness; diplopia; photophobia, &c.

If caused by violent acute diseases, use: Calc. carb-v. chin. hep. kal. natr. natr-m. n-vom. veratr.

See CHLOROSIS, DEBILITY, SCURVY, &c.

ANASARCA.—Principal remedies: Ars. bry. chin. dig. dulc. hell. merc. and sulph., or perhaps Camph. convolv. lact. rhus.

samb. and sol-nigr.

For anasarca after cutaneous diseases, such as: scarlatina, measles, &c., we give with great effect, hell. and ars.; in other cases the remedies have to be chosen in accordance with the symptoms. See Dropsy.

ANEURISM.—Best remedies, so far as known: Carb-veg. lach. and lyc.; also: Guaj. puls. and sulph.—In some cases may be required: 1) Calc. caust. graph. kali-carb. 2) Amb. arn. ars. ferr. natr-m. zinc.

ANEURISM BY ANASTOMOSIS.—Yields to: Carb-veg. caust. lycop. platin. thuj.

ANGINA PECTORIS, NEURALGIA CORDIS.—One of the principal remedies seems to be Hep., after which give: 2) Ars. lach. samb. veratr., and 3) Acon. aur. bell. caust. dig. phos. spong., and (according to Hartmann) Angust. ipec. and sep.

As regards the particular indications, we refer the reader to the remedies under Asthma, Congestions of the chest, Spasms of the chest, Suffocative catarrii, and Diseases of the heart, and the symptoms of those remedies in Hempel's "Jahr."

ANGUISH, PAROXYSMS OF.—Generally a mere symptom, though sometimes so prominent and distressing that it deserves a special treatment. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. ars. aur. bell. cham. digit. merc. n-vom. puls. veratr. 2) Alum. anac. baryt. bryon. carb-an. carb-veg. coccul. cupr. graph. hyosc. ignat. lycop. nitr. nitr-ac. phosph. rhus. sepia. spigel. spong. sulph.

APHTHÆ.—The best remedies are: Borax. merc. n-vom. sulph. sulph-ac. &c.

See: STOMACACE.

APOPLEXIA .- The best remedies are: 1) Arn. baryt. bell. cocc. lach. n-vom. op. puls., and then 2) Acon. ant. coff. con. dig. hyos. ipec. merc. n-mosch. tart.

§ 2) For apoplexia sanguinea: 1) Arn. bell. lach. n-vom. op., or 2) Acon. anth. baryt. coff. ipec. hyos. merc. puls.

For apoplexia serosa: Arn. ipec. dig. merc.; or: Baryt. cin.

For apoplexia nervosa: 1) Arn. bell. coff. hyos. stram. 2) Camph. laur.

§ 3. For the subsequent paralysis: 1) Arn. baryt. bell. cocc. lach. n-vom. rhus. stram. zinc.; or 2) Anac. calc. caust. con. dulc. natr-m. laur. phosph. plumb. ruta. sep. sil kal. lach. phos-ac. sulph-ac.

For hemiplegia, particularly: Alum. anac. caust. cocc. graph.

 \S 4. For apoplexia of drunkards, give: Lach. n-vom. op.; or: Baryt. coff. con. puls.

For apoplexia of old people: Baryt., or Op., or Con. dig.

merc. &c.

For apoplexia from loss of blood, or other debilitating causes:

Chin. ipec., or Carb-veg. cocc. n-vom. puls. sep.

For apoplexia from overloading the stomach: a few table-spoons of black coffee, or, if these should be insufficient: Ipec. nux-v. or puls.

§ 5. Particular indications:

Arnica: full and strong pulse, with paralysis of the limbs (especially on the left side); loss of consciousness and stupefaction, with stertorous breathing; sighing, muttering, involuntary discharge of faces and urine, &c.

BARYTA: for paralysis of the tongue, or the upper limbs (especially on the right side); the mouth is drawn to one side; disturbed consciousness, with childish gesticulations and inability to keep the body erect; coma, restlessness, moaning and muttering; circumscribed redness of the cheeks.

Belladonna: Stupefaction, loss of consciousness and speech, or convulsive movements of the limbs and muscles of the face; paralysis of the extremities, especially on the right side; the mouth is drawn to one side; paralysis of the tongue; ptyalism; difficulty of swallowing, or entire inability to swallow; (loss of sight;) dilated pupils; red, protruded eyes; red and bloated face.

Cocculus: The paroxysms are preceded and attended by vertigo, nausea; convulsive motions of the eyes; paralysis, especially of the lower limbs, with insensibility, &c.

LACHESIS: Stupefaction and loss of consciousness, with blue face and convulsive movements, or tremor of the extremities; or paralysis, especially of the left side; the paroxysms are preceded by: frequent absence of mind, or vertigo, with rush of blood to the head.

Nux vom.: Stupefaction, stertorous breathing and ptyalism; bleareyedness, dim eyes; paralysis, especially of the lower limbs; hanging down of the lower jaw; the paroxysms are preceded by: vertigo with headache and buzzing in the ear, or nausea with urging to vomit.

Opium: The paroxysms are preceded by: dulness of sense, vertigo and heaviness of the head, buzzing in the ears, hardness of hearing, staring look, sleeplessness, anxious dreams, or frequent desire to sleep; the paroxysm is attended by: tetanic rigidity of the whole body; redness, bloatedness and heat of the face; the head is hot and covered with sweat; red eyes, with dilated, insensible pupils; slow, stertorous breathing; convulsive motions and trembling of the extremities, foam at the mouth, &c.

PULSATILLA: For stupefaction and loss of consciousness, bloated and bluish-red face, loss of motion, violent palpitation of the heart, almost complete suppression of the pulse, and rattling breathing.

§ 6. For further indications see: Congestions of the head, Sopor, Spasms, &c.

APPARENT DEATH: Put a few pellets of the specific remedy on the tongue of the patient, or administer the medicine by the rectum, not omitting the required mechanical means of cure; but never resort to bleeding.

If the asphyxia should have been occasioned by a blow, fall, &c., give Arnica. If the patient should have been bled before the exhibition of Arnica, give first China, (according to Hering), and then Arnica.

If arising from suffocation, Hering recommends, for those who died by suspension: Opium; by carbonic acid gas: Opium, acon. or bell.; and by drowning: Lachesis.

For asphyxia from congelation, after the patient had been resuscitated by the usual means, give for the remaining symptoms:

Ars., carb-veg.; or Acon. and Bryo.

For asphyxia by a stroke of lightning, give: Nux vom. The patient should at the same time be placed in recently dug soil, half sitting, half lying, and should be covered with it all over, except his face, which is to be turned towards the sun, until the first signs of life become apparent.

For asphyxia of new-born infants, we use: Tart-emet. op.

china, (and Acon. Hempel.)

Compare: Causes and Conditions.

ARTHRALGIA: Having said everything we had to say on the pathological character of the diseases belonging under this head, rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, &c., we here point out more particularly the parts to which the remedies have specific curative relations. This knowledge is not required in every case, but in many cases it is, since two or three remedies may correspond to the general state of the patient, and one of them only to the part affected.

§ 2. The remedies which are given for:—a) arthralgia generally, are: 1) Agn. calc. caust. ferr. kal. led. lyc. mang. merc. natr-m. n-vom. puls. rhus. sep. stront. sulph. 2) Amb. amm. ant. arn. aur. bry. caps. carb-veg. coloc. dros. hell. hep. petr. phosph. rhod. ruta. sassap. sil. spig. stann. staph. sulph-ac. thuj. zinc.

§ 7. For further particulars see: Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain, paroxysms of, Coxagra, Ganitis, &c.

ARTHRITIS.—The best remedies are: 1) Acon. ant. ars. bell. bry. calc. caust. chin. cocc. coloc. ferr. guaj. hep. jod. led. mang. n-vom. phosph. phos-ac. puls. rhod. sabin. sass. sulph. 2) Canth. chel. cic. colch. con. daph. dulc. men. merc. stann. tart. thuj. 3) Arn. cin. ran-bulb. ran-sc. staph. chinin.

§ 2. For acute arthritis: 1) Acon. ant. ars. bell. bry. chin. ferr. hep. n-vom. puls. 2) Berb. canth. colch.

For chronic arthritis: Calc. caust. coloc. guaj. jod. mang.

phos-ac. rhod. sass. sulph.

For erratic arthritis: 1) Arn. mang. n-mosch. n-vom. puls.; or 2) Asa. daph. plumb. and rhod.

§ 3. Arthritic nodosities require: 1) Calc. rhod. 2) Agn. ant. bry. calc. carb-veg. graph. led. lyc. n-vom. staph.; or 3) Aur. carb-an. dig. lyc. phosph. sabin. sep. sil. zinc.

Arthritic contractions are frequently relieved by: 1) Bry.

caust. guaj. sulph.; or 2) Calc. coloc. rhus. sil. thuj.

§ 4. For the precursory symptoms of gout, the same remedies are generally to be used that we use for the gout itself. The following remedies will generally answer: Ant. bell. bry. n-rom.

For recent arthritic metastases, the following are very useful: Acon. bell. n-vom. sassap. sulph.—In most cases the affected organs should be considered; we refer the reader to the paragraphs on: headache, ophthalmia, gastric derangement, where the symptoms arising from arthritic causes will be found mentioned.

§ 5. For the arthritic affections of drunkards, we use: 1) Acon. calc. n-vom. sulph.; or 2) Ars. chin. hep. jod. lach. led. puls.

For arthritis of persons that indulge in rich living: Ant. calc.

jod. puls: and sulph.

For that of persons working in the water: 1) Calc. puls. sass. sulph.; or 2) Ant. ars. dulc. n-mosch. and rhus.

§ 6. For particular indications see: Rheumatic pains; and compare: Causes, Pain, paraxysms of, Conditions, Periods of the day, Influence of the weather, Nourishment, &c.

ARTHROCACE.—This inflammation of the terminal extremities of bones has been most successfully treated with: 1) Coloc. phos-ac.; or perhaps with: 2) Calc. hep. sil. sulp.; or 3) Puls. rhus. zinc.

ARSENIC, POISONING BY. -- The antidotes are: 1) Soapwater; 2) Albumen, dissolved in water and used as a drink; 3) Sugar-water; 4) Milk; 5) Sesquioxyde of iron. Vinegar is useless; oil is hurtful.

After the first alarming symptoms have been removed, we give Ipec. After Ipec. we give China, especially when the patient is irritable, has a restless sleep and nightly febrile motions; or Nux vom. when the patient is worse in the daytime, particularly after sleeping, with constipation, or else with diarrhæic, slimy stools; or Veratrum, if after Ipec. frequent nausea remains, with vomiting and heat, or chilliness over the whole body, and great debility

For the eruptions, ophthalmia and headache caused by wearing hats that have been worked with Arsenic, the best remedies are: 1) Carb-veg. ferr. 2) China, hepar.

The best remedies for the ill effects of Arsenic as a medicine, are: Chin. ipec. n-vom. veratr.

ASCITES.—The best remedies are: 1) Ars. chin. hell. calc. merc. sulph. 2) Acon. bry cin. colch. dulc. euph. prun. sep.; or 3) Asa colch. dig. led. lyc. puls. squill.

Ascites from loss of blood by venesection, &c., yields to China as by a miracle.

In all other cases the selection of the remedy depends upon the exciting cause, and the pathological character of the disease, and the general symptoms of the remedy have to be carefully compared with the symptoms of the disease.

ASTHMA MILLARI ET WIGANDI.—The specific remedy for Asthma Millari, is, in most cases, Sambucus. In other cases, we give: Acon. ars. ipec. lach. mosch.

For the concealed Asthma Millari, the so-called Asthma Wigandi, we have principally: 1) Acon. bellad. ipec. samb. 2)

Ars. baryt. cham. chin. coff. cupr. lach. n-vom. op.

For the particular symptoms, see: Asthma spasmodicum, and vol. i. of Hempel's Jahr.

ASTHMA SPASMODICUM, OR PERIODICUM, AND ASTHMA GENERALLY.—§ 1. The remedies are: 1) Acon. ars. bell. bry. cupr. ferr. ipec. n-vom. phos. puls. samb. sulph. 2) Ambr. amm. aur. calc. carb-veg. cham. chin. coccul. dulc. lach. mosch. op. tart. veratr. zinc. 3) Ant. caust. coff. hyos. ign. kal. lyc. merc. nitr-ac. n-mosch. sep. sil. stann. stram.

§ 2. The following remedies are the best to control an attack of asthma immediately: 1) Lach. 2) Acon. ars. cham. ipec. mosch. op. samb. tart.; or 3) Bell. bry. chin. n-mosch. n-vom. puls.

To remove the asthmatic disposition, we use: Ant. ars. calc. n-vom. sulph.; or Amm. carb-veg. caust. cupr. ferr. graph. kali. lach. lyc. nitr-ac. phos. sep. sil. stann. zinc.

§ 3. For asthma from congestion of blood to the chest: 1) Acon. aur. bell. merc. n-vom. phos. spong. sulph. 2) Amm. calc. carb-veg. cupr. ferr. puls.

For asthma attended with menstrual irregularities: 1) Bell.

coccul. cupr. merc. n-vom. puls. sulph. 2) Acon. phos. sep.

For flatillent asthma (asthma from incarceration of flatulence in the abdomen): 1) Carb-veg. cham. chin. n-vom. op. phos.

sulph. zinc. 2) Ars. caps. hep. natr. veratr.

For asthma humidum or pituitosum (asthma with accumulation of mucus in the bronchi or lungs): 1) Ars. bry. calc. chin. cupr. dulc. ferr. graph, lach. phos. puls. sen. sep. stann. sulph. 2) Bar. bell. camph. con. hep. ipec. merc. n-vom. sil. tart. zinc.

For the real asthma spasmodicum, the best remedies are: 1) Bell. cocc. cupr. hyosc. lach. mosch. n-vom. samb. stram. sulph. tart. zinc. 2) Ant. ars. bry. caust. ferr. kali. lyc. op. sep. stann.

§ 3. For asthma from inhaled dust, stone-dust, as takes place among sculptors, stone-cutters, &c., we employ: 1) Calc. hep. sil. sulph. 2) Ars. bell. chin. ipec. n-vom. phos.

For asthma caused by the vapor of sulphur, give Pulsat.;
—by the vapours of copper or arsenic: 1) Merc. hep. ipec.

2) Ars. camph. or cupr.

For asthma from a cold: 1) Acon. bell. bry. dulc. ipec. 2) Ars. cham. chin.

For asthma caused by an emotion: Acon. cham. coff. ign. n-vom. puls. veratr.

If caused by a suppressed catarrh: 1) Ars. ipec. n-vom. 2) Camph. carb-veg. chin. lach. puls. samb. tart.

§ 4. For asthma of children, we generally find useful: 1) Acon. ars. bell. cham. coff. ipec. mosch. n-wosch. n-wom. op. samb. tart.
2) Camph. chin. cupr. hep. ign. lach. lyc. phos. puls. stram. sulph con. cupr. ipec. lach. phos. stann. sulph. &c.

For asthma of old people: 1) Aur. bar. con. lach. op. 2) Ant. camph. carb-veg. caust. chin. sulph.

§ 5. Particular indications by the symptoms:

Aconitum: 1) for sensitive individuals, young, plethoric girls leading a sedentary life, or when the paroxysms set in after the east emotion; 2) dyspnæa with inability to take a deep breath, accompanied with restlessness, heat and sweat; 3) suffocative cough at night, with barking and hoarse voice, spasmodic constriction of the throat and chest; anxious, short and difficult breathing, with open mouth; great anguish, with inability to utter a single word distinctly; or 4) for asthma of adults, caused by rush of blood to the head, with vertigo, full and frequent pulse, cough and bloody expectoration.

Arsenicum: Acute or chronic asthma, with difficult breathing, cough and accumulation of thick mucus in the chest; shortness of breath, particularly after a meal; oppression of the chest, and want of breath on walking fast, on ascending an eminence, or after any kind of exercise, even after laughing; constriction of the chest and larynx, with painful pressure on the lungs and in the pit of the stomach; anguish and suffocative paroxysms increased by the warmth of the room; suffocative attacks, especially at night, or in the evening when in bed, with panting and wheezing breathing, with the mouth open, great anguish as if the patient would die, and cold sweat; the paroxysms abate as soon as the patient begins to cough and throws off mucus, or a tenacious, viscid saliva in the shape of vesicles; the paroxysms come on again in rough weather, in the cold open air, or when the temperature of the air changes, and they may be caused by warm and tight clothes; the paroxysms are accompanied by great debility; or by paroxysms of pain and burning in the chest. (In acute asthma, Arsen. is frequently suitable after Ipec., unless it had been given at the commencement of the attack.)

Belladonna: Suitable for children and women of an irritable constitution, and with disposition to spasms; oppression of the chest and loss of breath, tightness in the chest and stitches under the sternum; with paroxysms of dry cough at night, with catarrh, or moist cough and expectoration of mucus after a meal; anxious sighing; at times deep, at times short and rapid breathing, with open mouth, and great working of the chest; constriction of the larynx, with danger of suffocation on touching the larynx, and on turning the neck; uneasiness and beating in the chest, with palpitation of the heart; asthmatic paroxysms with loss of consciousness, relaxation of the muscles and involuntary discharge of urine and fæces.

BRYONIA: Difficult breathing and loss of breath, particularly at night, and towards morning, with stitching colicky pains, urging to stool, inability to lie on the right side, pressure and tension in the chest and contractive sensation in cold air; frequent cough with pains in the hypochondria, tickling in the larynx, vomiting and expectoration, at first frothy, then thick and viscid; increased difficulty of breathing, when talking and during any kind of exercise; the patient feels relieved after ex-pectorating or on rising from his recumbent posture; in the evening when in bed, the patient complains at times of palpitation of the heart, anguish and throbbing in the temples. with difficult, anxious and sighing breathing, with straining of the abdominal muscles and mingled with deep inspirations, or slow and deep breathing during exertions; frequent stitches in the chest, especially during an inspiration and when coughing, also during motion. (Bry. is frequently suitable after Ipec., in acute asthma.)

CUPRUM: Suitable to children or hysteric individuals, especially after fright, chagrin, a cold, and before the appearance of the menses; with spasmodic constriction of the chest, hiccough, difficulty of breathing and talking; hurried breathing, stertorous and moaning, with convulsive straining of the abdominal muscles; dyspuca, especially when walking and ascending an eminence, with desire to take deep breath; short and spasmodic cough, with dyspnæa, suffocative fits and stridulous inspirations when attempting to take deep breath; rattling in the chest as of mucus, expectoration of white and watery mucus; sensation of emptiness and faintness in the pit of the stomach, and painfulness of the pit on touching it; orgasm of the circulation with palpitation; red face covered with warm sweat; the symptoms are worse at the period of the menses.

FERRUM: Violent orgasm of the blood, oppression of the chest, with almost imperceptible movement of the thorax on taking breath, and greatly dilated nostrils during an expiration; dyspnæa, particularly at night or in the evening, in bed, in a recumbent posture, with the head low, or during rest generally, or from the least covering on the chest; the patient feels relieved after being uncovered, or after raising the trunk, or from taking ever so little physical or mental exercise; suffocative fits, in the evening, in bed, with warmth of the neck and trunk, the limbs being cold at the same time; spasmodic constriction of the chest, aggravated by motion; paroxysms of spasmodic cough with expectoration of tenacious and transparent mucus; expectoration of blood.

IPECACUANHA: Suitable to children and adults, for: Dyspnæa, nightly suffocative fits; spasmodic constriction of the larynx, rattling of muous in the chest; dry and short cough, great anguish and fear of death, cries and restless running to and fro; the face is alternately red and hot, or pale, cold and sunken; anxious features; nausea with cold sweat on the forehead; the breathing is anxious, hurried and sighing, or short and as if through dust; tetanic rigidity of the body, with bluish redness in the face. Ipec. is generally first indicated in paroxysms of acute asthma; afterwards we give Ars. bry. or nux-vom.

Nux vom.: Short or slow and stridulous breathing; anxious oppression of the chest, especially at night, early in the morning, and after eating; spasmodic constriction, especially of the lower part of the chest, with loss of breath in walking or talking, or in cold air and after every exercise; orthopnœa and nightly suffocative paroxysms, especially after midnight, preceded by anxious dreams; short cough, with difficult expectoration; expectoration of blood; the clothes feel unpleasant on the chest and hypochondria; distention, aching pain and anguish in the region under the heart and in the region of the hypochondria; tension and pressure in the chest; rush of blood to the chest, with orgasm of the blood; warmth, heat and palpitation of the heart; great anguish and distress in the whole body; the asthma is diminished in a recumbent posture, or by turning to the other side, or by raising the trunk.

Phosphorus: Noisy and panting breathing, dyspnæa, oppressed breathing and oppression of the chest, particularly in the evening and morning, or when sitting; great, oppressive anxiety in the chest; stridulous inspirations, in the evening on falling asleep; nightly suffocative paroxysms as if the lungs were paralyzed; spasmodic constriction of the chest; short cough, with either salt, or sweetish, or blood-streaked expectoration; stitching or pressure, heaviness, fulness and tension in the chest; congestion of blood to the chest, with ascension of heat in the throat, and palpitation of the heart;

Pulsatilla: Especially for children, after suppression of rash, also for hysteric persons, after suppression of the menses or in consequence of cold, with hurried, short and superficial or rattling breathing; arrest of breathing as if from the vapours of Sulphur; oppression of the chest, loss of breath and suffocative fits, with anguish of death, palpitation of the heart, and spasmodic constriction of the larynx and chest, particularly at night and in the evening, in a horizontal posture; the asthmatic distress increases by motion, also by ascension of eminences, and by walking in the open air; short, barking cough with asthma, or copious expectoration of mucus, or blood-streaked expectoration; spasmodic tension, sensation of fulness and pressure in the chest, with internal heat and orgasm of the blood; stitches in the chest and sides.

Sambucus: Especially for children, when the following symptoms occur: stridulous and hurried breathing; oppression of the chest, with pressure in the stomach and nausea; pressure on the chest as from a load, with anguish and danger of suffocation; dyspnæa when lying; nightly suffocative paroxysms, with spasmodic constriction of the chest, sudden starting from sleep and cry; great anguish trembling of the whole body, swollen, bluish hands and feet, heat of the whole body, mucous rattling in the chest, and inability to utter a single loud word; morbid sleep with the eyes and mouth half open; paroxysms of suffocative cough aud cries.

SULPHUR: for chronic asthma, with difficulty of breathing, and painless oppression of the chest; frequent attacks of asthma in the day-time, even when talking; shortness of breath when walking in the open air; wheezing, mucous rattling, rhonchus in the chest; oppressed breathing and suffocative fits, especially at night; fulness and sensation of weariness in the chest; pressure in the chest as from a load, after eating ever so little; burning in the chest, with rush of blood and palpitation of the heart; suffocative cough, with spasmodic constriction of the chest and urging to vomit; difficult expectoration of whitish mucus, or copious, yellowish expectoration; blood-coloured saliva; spasms in the chest, with compressive sensation and pain in the sternum, bluish-red face, short breath and inability to speak.

§ 6. The following remedies may likewise be employed:

Ambra: suitable to children and scrofulous individuals with short, oppressed breathing, paroxysms of spasmodic cough with expectoration of mucus, wheezing in the air-passages, pressure in the chest, &c.

Ammonium: for chronic asthma, especially when attended with disposition to hydrothorax, with shortness of breath, especially on ascending an eminence; oppressed breathing and palpitation of the heart after the least exercise; congestion of blood to the chest and feeling of heaviness in the thorax.

AURUM: congestion of blood to the chest, with great oppression, and desire to take deep breath, especially at night and when walking in the open air; suffocative fits with spasmodic constriction of the chest, violent palpitation of the heart, bluish-red face, and falling down without consciousness.

CALCAREA: for chrome asthma, with tight breathing and tension in the chest as if from rush of blood, relieved by raising the shoulders; desire to take deep breath and sensation as if the breath remained stopped between the scapulæ; the patient loses his breath by merely stooping; he is suffering with dry cough, especially frequent at night.

Carbo veg.: for spasmodic flatulent asthma, also for chronic asthma with disposition to hydrothorax, oppression and tight breathing; fulness, accumulation of mucus and anxious compression of the chest, heavy and short breathing, especially when walking; pressure and sensation of weariness in the chest, frequent attacks of spasmodic cough, &c.

Chamomilla: especially suitable to children, or for suffocative fits, with short, anxious breathing, swelling of the pit of the stomach and hypochondria, with uneasiness, screams and drawing-up of the legs; paroxysm of asthma after a fit of anger, or after taking cold.

China: for difficult breathing and oppression, with inability to breathe with the head low; wheezing during an inspiration; spasmodic cough and nightly suffocative fits, as if from too much mucus in the throat, with difficult expectoration of a clear and thick mucus; pressure in the chest as if from rush of blood, with violent palpitation of the heart; sudden prostration; bloody expectoration.

Cocculus: Suitable to hysteric females, or for rush of blood to the chest, with difficulty of breathing as if the throat were constricted; racking cough with oppression of the chest, especially at night; spasmodic constriction of the chest, especially on one side only; pressure in the chest and orgasm of the blood with anguish and palpitation of the heart; sensation of languor and emptiness in the chest.

Dulcamara: For humid asthma, or for acute asthma from a cold.

LACHESIS: Suitable to persons suffering with hydrothorax, or of a large, bloated, lymphatic appearance, shortness of breath after a meal, during a walk and after exercising with the arms; tight breathing, dyspnæa and oppression of breathing, with aggravation after eating; suffocative fits in a recumbent posture, or when touching the neck; spasmodic constriction of the chest, obliging one to rise from bed and to sit with the trunk bent forwards; slow and wheezing breathing; desire to take deep breath, especially when sitting.

Moschus: Suitable to hysteric individuals and to children, or for oppression of the chest and suffocative fits as if from the vapors of Sulphur, commencing with a desire to cough and getting worse until the patient despairs of getting over the paroxvsm; spasmodic constriction of the larynx and chest, especially when feeling cold.

OPIUM: Congestion of blood to the chest, or pulmonary spasms, with deep, stertorous, rattling breathing; tightness of breath and oppression, with great anguish, tightness, and spasmodic constriction of the chest; suffocative fits during sleep, like nightmare; suffocative cough with bluish redness of the face.

Spongia: For pressure in the larynx as from a plug; wheezing breathing, or slow and deep breathing, as if from debility; mucous rattling; want of breath and suffocative fits after every exercise, with weariness, rush of blood to the chest and head, anguish and heat in the face; also for asthmatic symptoms in consequence of goitre.

STANNUM: For asthma and oppression, especially in the evening or at night when lying down, also in the day-time during every exercise, and frequently attended with anguish and desire to detach the clothes; oppression and mucous rattling in the chest; cough with copious expectoration of viscid or lumpy, clear or watery, yellowish, salt or sweetish mucus.

Tartarus: Especially suitable to old people, also to children, or for anxious oppression, difficulty of breathing and shortness of breath, with desire to sit erect; oppression and suffocative fits, especially in the evening or in the morning, in bed; mucus and rattling in the chest; suffocative cough or congestion of blood to the chest, and palpitation of the heart.

VERATRUM: Suitable after Chin., ars., ipec., especially for suffocative fits, even when sitting erect and during exercise; pains in the side; hollow cough; cold sweat, or cold face and cold limbs.

ZINCUM: For tight breathing and oppression, especially in the evening; shortness of breath after eating, from accumulation of flatulence; increase of asthma when the expectoration stops, decrease when it recommences.

See the Symptoms of these remedies in Vol. II. of Hempel's Jahr, and compare: Congestion of blood to the Chest, Catarrh, Pulmonary Phthisis, &c.

ASTHMA THYMICUM (ASTHMA OF KOPP).—Remedies:
1) Acon. bell. con. hep. ipec. merc. sen. spong. tart. veratr.
2) Amm, lach. phos. zinc. 3) Ambr. asa. aur. berb. cupr. ignat. ferr.

For the precursory symptoms: Acon. hep. ipec. sen. spong. tart.

For the cough: Bell. con. hep. merc. veratr.

For the symptoms, we refer the reader to ASTHMA SPASMODICUM.

ATROPHY OF CHILDREN. — The best remedies for atrophy of scrofulous children are: Sulph., followed by Calcar.; also: 1) Ars. baryt. bell. chin. cin. n-vom. phos. and rhus., or also: 2) Arn. cham. hep. jod. lach, magn. petr. phos. and puls.

Particular indications:

ARSENICUM: Dry, parchment-like skin; hollow eyes with blue margins; the food is passed or vomited up undigested; desire to drink frequently, but little at a time; great restlessness and tossing to and fro, especially at night; short sleep, interrupted by starting and convulsions; edematous swelling of the face; greenish or brownish diarrheic stools with discharge of undigested food; weariness with constant desire to lie down; cold hands and feet; palpitation of the heart; nightsweats.

BARYTA: For swelling of the cervical glands; great physical debility; constant desire to sleep; bloated abdomen and face, pot-belliedness; great laziness, indisposition to work either with the mind or body; aversion to play; absence of mind; want of attention and weak memory.

Belladonna: Frequent colic, with involuntary stool; whimsical and obstinate; cough at night, with mucous rattling; swelling of the cervical glands; restless sleep or sleeplessness; aversion to exercise and open air; nervousness; especially suitable to children with premature intellect, blue margins and blond hairs.

CALCAREA: Great emaciation with a good appetite, hollow, wrinkled face, faint eyes, swelling and induration of the mesenteric glands; great debility with general weariness after the least exercise, and frequently with profuse sweat; frequent diarrhœa or clayey stools; dry, withered skin; dry hair; frequent palpitation of the heart; chills; pains in the small of the back; extreme nervous sensitiveness; aversion to exercise.

China: Emaciation, especially of the hands and feet; cedematous swelling of the abdomen; voraciousness; diarrhea, especially at night, with discharge of undigested food, or copious whitish and papescent stools; copious sweats, especially at night; idleness and listlessness; hollow, pale or livid face; stupefying, unrefreshing sleep; great debility and prostration.

Cina: Worm-affections, pale face, wetting the bed, and great voracity.

Nux vom.: Yellowish, sallow complexion, bloated face, obstinate constipation, or alternate constipation and diarrhœa; large abdomen with flatulence; great hunger, desire to eat, with frequent vomiting of the ingesta; constant desire to lie down; aversion to open air; ill-humour, disposed to anger; nervousness.

Phosphorus: Suitable to young girls with blond hair, blue eyes, delicate skin, slender stature, with cachectic cough, diarrica and frequent, exhausting sweats, great debility with orgasm of the blood, palpitation of the heart, or oppression of the chest after the least exercise.

RHUS TOX.: Great debility with constant disposition to lie down, pale face, hard and distended abdomen; great thirst; slimy or bloody diarrhæa; great appetite.

STAPHYSAGRIA: Large abdomen, voraciousness, and canine hunger; slow stool; swelling of the submaxillary and cervical glands; frequent or constant attacks of catarrh, with scurf in the nostrils; unhealthy, readily-ulcerated skin; fetid night-sweats; frequent boils

SULPHUR: In almost every case the treatment may commence with Sulphur; it should be given for the following symptoms: hunger, the patient sweats easily, swelling of the inguinal glands, or of the axillary and cervical glands; hard and distended abdomen; mucous rattling in the trachea; fluent coryza, frequent, slimy diarrhæa, or obstinate constipation; pressure on the chest; palpitation of the heart; pale colour of the skin, with bad looks, deep and hollow eyes; stitches in the chest and sides, &c.

Compare: Hectic fever, Phthisis, and Scrofula.

ATROPHY OF THE SPINAL MARROW (MARASMUS, TABES DORSALIS).

The following remedies are probably the most useful: 1) N-vom. sulph. 2) Calc. carb-veg. caust. coccul. natr-m. phosph. phos-ac. 3) Chin.? staph.?

I have treated 21 cases of this disease arising from onanism, accompanied with hypochondria, despondency, aversion to life, &c. The characteristic formication in the back was present in every case; I gave in every case a dose of Nux vom. 30, allowing it to act from 2 to 3 weeks, and then Sulphur, 30, allowing it to act from 4 to 5 weeks. If unpleasant symptoms remain, I resort to Calc. carb-veg. caust. phos-ac.

China and Staphys. may prove useful in some cases.

For atrophy with paralysis of the lower extremities, the best remedies are: Nux-v. sulph. nux-v. caust. nux-v. carb-veg. cocc. phos. rhus-tox., if given in this order and at long intervals. Constant change of remedies is exceedingly hurtful in this disease.

See: DEBILITY.

AWKWARDNESS.—If a natural defect, nothing can be done for it; if a morbid state, the following remedies may prove useful: Bell. caps. carb-an. caust. coloc. graph. kal. lyc. natr-m. petr. sep. sil. sulph.

BACK, small of the, pains in the: Generally a mere symptom, especially in piles and uterine affections. The principal remedies are: 1) Alum. amm. caust. kal. kreos. lach. natr-m. n-vom. puls. rhus. sep. sulph. 2) Amb. baryt. borax. calc. dule. graph. lyc. natr. sil. veratr. 3) Arn. carb-an. cham. chin. coccul. ign. magn-m. merc. n-mosch. phosph. ruta. sabin. spong. zinc.

BALANORRHEA, or Gonorrhea spuria.—If syphilitic or sycosic, the principal remedies are: Merc. nitr-ac., or thuj.

In all other cases the following remedies will prove useful: 1) N-vom. sep. sulph., or: 2) Chin. merc. mez. nitr-ac. thuj.

BLEPHAROPHTHALMIA.

The best remedies are: 1) Acon. ant. ars. calc. bell. calc. cham. chin. euphr. hep. merc. n-vom. puls. sulph. veratr. 2) Alum. bar-c. bry. caust. cocc. dig. jod. kreos. lyc. natr. natr-m. phos-ac. rhus. sen. sep. spig. staph. thuj. zinc.

§ 2. If the external surface of the lid be inflamed, give: Acon.

bell. hep. and sulph.

If the inner: Acon. ars. bell. hep. merc. n-vom. phos. puls rhus. sulph.

For inflammation of the margins and Meibomian glands: Bell cham. euphr. hep. merc. n-vom. puls.

For styes: Puls. or staph., or Am-c. calc. or ferr.

For inflammation of the upper lids: 1) Alum. bry. calc. caust. croc. hep. phos. puls. rhus. sep. spig. staph. sulph. 2) Bar. bell. cham. chel. con. cycl. ferr. lyc. merc. sil.

For inflammation of the lower lids: 1) Ars. bry. calc. dig. merc. natr-m. rhus. rut. sen. sep. 2) Alum. bell. caust.

§ 3. For acute ophthalmia: Acon. bell. cham. euphr. hep. merc. n-vom. and puls.

For chronic ophthalmia: Ant. ars. calc. chin. and sulph.

§ 4 Particular indications:

Aconitum: The eyelids are swollen, hard and red, with heat, burning and dryness; or they are pale, shining and swollen, with burning and tensive pains; copious secretion of mucus in the eyes and nose; extreme photophobia; fever, with great heat and thirst, &c. (After Acon., are frequently given: Bell., hep. or sulph.)

Antimonium: Red swelling of the lids, with gum in the canthi; photophobia and stitches in the eyes.

Arsenicum: Inflammatory redness of the conjunctiva, with congestion of the vessels; great dryness of the lids, especially the edges, with spasmodic closing or nightly agglutination.

Belladonna: Swelling and redness of the lids, with burning and itching, constant agglatination, bleeding on opening the eyes, also attended with eversion of the lids, or with great paralytic weakness of the lids.

CALCAREA: Cutting, burning or acute pains, especially when reading, with red, hard and big swelling, copious secretion of gum, and nightly agglutination; to be given especially when Sulphur does not seem to relieve the patient.

Chamomilla: Great dryness of the edges, or else copious secretion of mucus, with nightly agglutination, spasmodic closing, or great heaviness of the lids.

China: Frequent creeping on the inner surface of the lids, especially in the evening, with lachrymation.

EUPHRASIA: Ulceration of the margins, with itching in the day-time, and agglutination at night, with redness, swelling, photophobia and constant winking, coryza, headache, or heat about the head. (If Euphr. should be insufficient, Nux vom. and puls. will complete the cure.)

HEPAR: Inflammatory redness of the lids, with ulcerative or contusive pain on touching them; nightly agglutination, or spasmodic closing of the eyelids. (This remedy is frequently suitable after Acon. or merc.; after Hep., Bell. is frequently suitable.

Hyoscyamus: Spasmodic closing of the lids.

MERCURIUS: Hard lids as if contracted, with swelling, difficulty of opening the lids, cutting pains, ulcers on the margins, pustules on the conjunctiva, crusts around the eyes, eversion of the lids; stitching and burning pains, itching, or when there is no pain at all. (After Merc., if insufficient, Hep. is frequently suitable.)

Nux vom.: Burning itching of the lids, especially the margins, or sore pain made worse by contact, agglutination of the lids, especially early in the morning; eye-gum in the canthi; catarrh, headache, or heat in the head. (Nux vom. is frequently suitable after Euphrasia, if this should not suffice to remove the inflammation.)

Pulsatilla: Inflammatory redness of the conjunctiva or the margins, copious secretion of mucus; trichiasis; styes; nightly agglutination; tensive or drawing pains. (Puls. frequently effects a cure, if Euph, or nux-vom. should not suffice.)

Rhus Tox.: Stiffness of the eyelids, as if paralyzed, with burning itching.

SULPHUR: Inflammatory redness of the lids, with burning pains, secretion of mucus and eyegum; ulceration of the margins, pustules and ulcers around the eyes, &c. (Acon. is frequently suitable before Sulphur, and after Sulph., Calc. is frequently suitable.)

VERATRUM: Excessive dryness of the lids, lachrymation, difficulty of moving the lids, and great heat in the interior of the eyes.

§ 5. For further particulars, see: Ophthalmia, § 1—8, and the articles at the conclusion of that article.

BLEPHAROPLEGIA, PARALYSIS OF THE EYELIDS.—The best remedies are: 1) Bell. nitr-ac. sep. spig. stram. veratr. zinc.
2) Calc. cham. cocc. hyos. n-vom. op. phos. plumb. rhus.

BLEPHAROSPASMUS.—Principal remedies: 1) Bell. cham. croc. hep. hyos. merc. natr-m. staph. stram. sulph. 2) Ars. cocc. con. rhus. rut. sep. sil. viol-od.

BLISTERS, BLOODY.—Best remedies: 1) Ars. natr-m. sec. 2) Aur. bry. canth. sulph.

BOILS. — Remedies: 1) Arn. bell. hep. lyc. phos. sulph.
2) Alum. ant. calc. lach. led. merc. mur-ac. nitr-ac. n-mosch. n-vom. phos-ac. sec. sep. sil. staph. tart. thuj.

Large boils require: 1) Hep. lyc. nitr-ac. sil. 2) Hyon natr.

Small boils: 1) Arn. bell. sulph. 2) Grat. magn-c. natr-m. zinc.

If they mature slowly, give Hepar; if very much inflamed and painful, give Bell. or merc.

If large boils can be treated at the very commencement, Calc.

sometimes eradicates the disposition.

If large boils threaten to become carbunculous, the best remedies are: 1) Ars. bell. sil. 2) Caps. hyos. lack. rhus. sec. sil.

For the disposition to boils, give: Lyc. nux-v. phosph. and sulph.

BONES, DISEASES OF: OSTITIS, EXOSTOSIS, CARIES, NECROSIS, and other diseases.

§ 1. The best remedies are: 1) Ang. asa. aur. bell. calc. dulc. lyc. merc. mez. phosph. ruta. sep. sil. sulph., and likewise: 2) Chin. hep. nitr-ac. phos-ac. rhus. staph.

§ 2. Particular indications:

§. 4. Particular indications:

Aconite: Burning fever, with full, bounding pulse; rough, hoarse voice; painful sensitiveness of the affected part, with aggravation of the pain in breathing, coughing or talking; short, dry cough with constant irritation and painful titillation in the larynx and bronchi; oppressed breathing, with tension, soreness or stitches in the chest when coughing or breathing; violent, rough hollow cough at night, short and panting cough in the day-time; thirst, sleeplessness or restless sleep, with tossing about; burning headache, red face and eyes; or also when the cough is convulsive or hacking, with scanty expectoration of whitish and scanty mucus.

Belladonna: Dry cough with sore throat, coryza, fever in the afternoon and evening, dry and burning skin, frequent desire for cold drinks, without, however, drinking much; obstinacy and malice in children, with hurried respiration during sleep; or when the following symptoms occur: spasmodic cough which does not allow one time to breathe; racking cough, from intolerable titillation in the larynx, as if from dust or from some other foreign body; or dry, short, hollow, barking cough; the cough occurs at night, or in the afternoon or in the evening when in bed, and even during sleep, coming on again after the least motion; bruised pain in the nape of the neck when coughing, or headache as if the forehead would split; rheumatic pains in the chest; stitches in the sternum or hypochondria; mucous rattling in the chest; red face and headache; hoarseness and mucus in the chest; frequent sneezing, especially at the termination of a paroxysm.

BRYONIA: Dry or moist cough, from titillation in the throat, or when the following symptoms occur: Spasmodic cough, suffocative cough, especially after midnight, or after eating and drinking, with vomiting of the ingesta; cough with yellowish expectoration, or expectoration of a dirty, reddish, or bloody mucus; stitches in the side when coughing, or pains in the chest and head as if these parts would split; great inclination to sweat; hoarseness, mucous rattling in, and painfulness of, the larynx, increased by CHAMOMILLA. Accumulation of tenacious mucus in the throat, with dry cough, occasioned by constant titillation in the larynx and chest, worse when talking; or cough evening and morning, or at night when in bed, and even during sleep, sometimes accompanied by suffocative fits; scanty expectoration of bitter mucus in the morning; or when the cough was caused by chagrin, or when children are attacked with it in consequence of their cries; or for hoarseness with coryza, dryness and burning in the throat, thirst; fever towards evening; ill humour, taciturnity, disposition to be angry and peevish.

MERCURIUS: Roughness and hoarseness, with burning and titillation in the larynx; disposition to sweat, but the sweat affording no relief; aggravation by the least draught of air; or when the following symptoms occur: dry, racking cough, especially in the evening, or at night, even during sleep, and occasioned by titillation and a feeling of dryness in the bronchi; cough with stinging pains in the chest; or with nausea, bleeding of the nose (in the case of children), pains in the head or chest, as if these parts would split, expectoration of blood, fluent coryza, hoarseness and mucous diarrhæa.

Nux vomica: Rough, dry and deep cough, occasioned by dryness of the larynx, with tension and pain in the larynx and bronchi; hoarseness and painful feeling of rawness in the throat; especially in the morning, or in the evening when in bed; accumulation of tenacious mucus in the throat, which the patient is not able to detach; dry coryza with dry mouth, hot and red cheeks, shivering or alternate chills and heat; constipation, painful heaviness in the forehead, ill humour, irritated spirits, obstinacy, &c.; or when the following symptoms are present: Convulsive, racking cough, occasioned by titillation in the throat, especially in the morning, or at night when in bed, or after a meal, or when occasioned by exercise, thinking or reading; oppression at night, or headache as if the skull would split; contusive pain in the epigastrium and pain in the hypochondria when coughing; or, for: cough with vomiting or with bleeding from the nose or mouth.

Pulsatilla: Hoarseness, aphonia; stitches and soreness of the throat and palate; coryza, with yellowish, greenish and fetid discharge; moist cough, with pain in the chest; chilliness and absence of thirst; or cough which is at first dry, then moist, with profuse expectoration of a salt, bitter, yellowish or whitish, or even bloody mucus; or racking cough, especially in the evening or at night in bed, worse when lying; with nausea, vomiting, suffocative sensation as if from the vapours of sulphur, and mucous rattle; painfulness of the abdomen, when coughing, as if bruised, or painful shocks in the arm, shoulder or back, or involuntary emission of urine.

RHUS TOXICODENDRON: Hoarseness and roughness, soreness of the throat, frequent sneezing, considerable mucus in the nose without coryza, but with difficulty of breathing; or for: short and dry cough at night, occasioned by a titillation in the bronchi, with restlessness and shortness of breath, especially in the evening and before midnight; painful shocks in the head and chest, or tension or stitches in the chest; pain in the stomach or stitches in the loins; or when the cough gets worse in the cold air, and is less in warmth or during motion; or when the cough comes on in the morning on waking, or in the evening, with bitter taste in the mouth. or vomiting of the ingesta.

SULPHUR: Hoarseness, aphonia, roughness and scraping in the throat, accumulation of mucus in the bronchi, fluent coryza, cough, soreness in the chest, chills, aggravation of the symptoms in cold and damp weather; or for: dry, racking cough, with nausea, vomiting and spasmodic constriction of the chest, especially in the evening, or at night when lying, or in the morning, or after a meal; or for: Cough with copious expectoration of thick, whitish or yellowish mucus, sometimes only in the day time, with dry cough at night; or obstinate, dry cough from titillation in the throat, stitches in the chest or head when coughing, stupefaction, obscuration of sight; feeling of fulness in the cnest, oppression, mucous rattling, palpitation of the heart, and suffocative fits.

§. 5. The following remedies may likewise be used:

Arnica: Dry or moist cough, if excited by titillation in the larrynx, especially in the morning, during sleep, with weeping and cries, or when it attacks children after crying much; or for moist cough, the patient being unable to throw off the loose mucus; and when the following symptoms are present: Aching and crampy pain in the head, as if the brain were strung together; statches in the chest; pain in the loins and rheumatic pains in the limbs; frequent bleeding of the nose and mouth, or even bloody expectoration.

ARSENICUM: Moist cough with difficult expectoration and tenacious mucus in the larynx and bronchi; or for: dry, racking cough, especially in the evening after lying down, or at night, excited by drink or cold air; attended with dyspnæa, or even suffocative fits, especially in the evening in bed; great languor, debility; hoarseness and coryza, with discharge of an acrid, corrosive mucus; rheumatic headache, with violent pains; the symptoms are worse at night and after a meal.

CALCAREA: Frequent attacks of obstinate hoarseness; accumulation of tenacious mucus in the bronchi and larynx; dry, violent cough, with titillation as if from feather-dust in the throat, especially in the evening, in bed, or at night, during sleep; or moist cough, with mucous rattling, or with a thick, yellowish, fetid expectoration; pains and stitches in the side and chest; great languor, and sadness on account of one's ill health.

CAPSICUM: Hoarseness and dry cough, which is worse in the evening and at night, sometimes attended with nausea, wandering rheumatic pains, and headache as if the skull would split; pressure in the throat and ear; stitches in the chest or back, or pressure on the bladder, with stitches in that region; corvza.

with stoppage of the nose and titillation in the nostrils.

CARBO VEG: Obstinate hoarseness and roughness of voice, especially in the morning or evening, made worse by constant talking, or cold and damp weather; or spasmodic cough, either several paroxysms in the day-time, or only in the evening; or cough with profuse expectoration of greenish mucus; rheumatic pains in the chest or limbs; ulcerative pain, or scraping and titillation in the larvnx.

CAUSTICUM: Violent, racking cough, especially at night, with pain in the throat and head; hoarseness, roughness and feebleness of the voice; mucous rattling; pain in the larynx and chest, as if raw; fluent coryza with headache; feeble appetite, nausea and vomiting of the ingesta; rheumatic pains in the limbs and facial bones; chill during every motion; heat at night, with palpitation of the heart; great debility of the lower limbs; aggravation of the symptoms in the open air; involuntary emission of urine during cough.

CHINA: Hoarseness, rough and deep sound of the voice, owing to mucus adhering in the larynx; dry cough as if from the vapours of sulphur; or spasmodic suffocative cough at night, with bilious vomiting and difficult expectoration of viscid or whitish, and semetimes bloody mucus; the cough is excited by laughing, talking, breathing, and even by eating and drinking.

CINA: Suitable to children, when the cough is dry, or with scanty expectoration, with sudden starting during sleep as if in affright, want of breath, moaning, pale face or rough cough every evening, especially when the children are affected with worms; or when fluent coryza is present, with burning heat in the nostrils, and violent, and painful sneezing.

Drosera: Hoarseness with deep sound of the voice; dryness, roughness and scraping in the larynx, with accumulation of yellowish, gray or greenish mucus; dry, spasmodic, racking cough, especially at night or in the evening when in bed, frequently attended with nausea or vomiting of the ingesta, bleeding of the nose or mouth; paroxysms of suffocation or cough, excited by laughing or weeping, emotions, singing, tobacco-smoke, or drinking.

DULCAMARA: Moist cough, especially after a cold, with hoarseness or bloody expectoration; or for panting, barking cough like whooping-cough, excited by a deep inspiration.

EUPHRASIA: Cough with violent catarrh attacking the eyes; cough which only exists in the day-time, with difficult expectoration, or only in the morning, with copious expectoration and tight Hyoscyamus: Dry cough, worse at night and in a recumbent posture, less when sitting up; cough with titillation in the larynx or bronchi; or spasmodic cough, with red face and mucous rattling.

IGNATIA: Dry and rough cough, with fluent coryza, headache, feeble voice; or short cough as if from feather-dust or the vapours of sulphur; the cough finally becomes spasmodic, especially suitable to patients who had suffered much grief; or when the catarrhal symptoms get worse after a meal, after going to bed, and in the morning, after rising.

IPECACUANHA: Especially suitable to children when they almost suffocate in consequence of the mucus, with rattling of mucus; or for spasmodic, suffocative cough, with bluish face and spasmodic rigidity of the body; contractive sensation and titillation in the larynx; or for dry cough, or cough with scanty expectoration of flat and unpleasant mucus, with nausea and vomiting of albuminous mucus, or with bleeding of the nose and mouth.

LACHESIS: catarrhal cough and coryza, stinging pains in the head, stiffneck and distress in the chest; constant hoarseness, with sensation as if mucus adhered to the throat; the cough comes on at night during sleep, or in the evening when in bed, or after sleep, and is excited by a titillation in the larynx, or by the least pressure on the larynx; it is worse after eating, or when rising from a recumbent posture; the cough is attended with pains in the throat, eyes, ears and head.

Phosphorus: Hoarseness with cough, fever, and apprehension of death; roughness or complete extinction of voice; painful sensitiveness of the larynx; dry cough from tickling in the throat, with stitches in the larvnx and soreness in the chest; the cough is excited by laughing, drinking, loud reading, or walking in the open air; or dry cough with expectoration of viscid or bloody mucus.

PHOSPHORI ACIDUM: Hoarseness, moist cough, from titillation in the pit of the stomach or throat-pit; the cough is dry in the evening, and in the morning it is attended with a whitish, or yellowish, or even purulent expectoration; with aching pains in the chest.

Sepia: Cough with copious expectoration of putrid, or salt mueus, of a yellow, greenish colour, or purulent, or even bloody, frequently only in the morning, or evening, with mucous rattling, weakness and soreness in the chest; or for dry, spasmodic cough, like whooping-cough, especially at night or in the evening in bed, with dyspnæa, nausea and vomiting of bile; especially suitable to scrofulous persons, or persons affected with herpes, or herpes in the joints.

SILICEA: Obstinate cough, with copious, transparent or purulent expectoration; or racking cough, with sore throat and colic, or suffocative cough at night.

Squilla: Chronic catarrh, with profuse expectoration of a whitish and viscid mucus; the expectoration is at times easy, at others very hard.

STANNUM: Copious expectoration of a yellowish or greenish mucus of a sweetish or salt taste; or dry, racking cough, especially in bed from evening till midnight, worse in the morning, and sometimes attended with nausea and vomiting of the ingesta.

STAPHYSAGRIA: Cough with expectoration of a yellowish, viscid, purulent mucus, especially at night, ulcerative pain in the chest, or even bloody expectoration.

VERATRUM: Hollow and deep cough, as if proceeding deep from the chest or abdomen; with colic, ptyalism, bluish face, involuntary emission of urine, violent pain in the side, difficult breathing and great debility; or stitches towards the abdominal ring, as if hernia would protrude.

VERBASCUM: Especially suitable to children, for dry and rough cough, especially in the evening and at night, during sleep, without waking the child.

Compare: Catarrh, laryngitis, angina pectoris, pleuritis, pulmonary phthisis, asthma, croup, whooping-cough, influenza, cough, hoarseness, &c.

BREASTS AND NIPPLES OF WOMEN.—The best remedies for sore nipples are: Arn. sulph.; or, Calc. cham. ign. puls.

Chamomilla: Inflamed or even ulcerated nipples; if the patient should have drank much chamomile-tea, give Ign. or Puls., or perhaps, Merc. or Sil.

For simple soreness, use: Arnica, and if Arn. should not be sufficient, give Sulph. and Calc.

Beside these remedies, the following may be used: Caust. graph. lyc. merc. n-vom. sep. sil.

§ 2. For inflammation of the breasts, the best remedies are: Bell. bry. carb-a. hep. merc. phos. sil. sulph.

Belladonna: The breasts are swollen and hard, with stitching or tearing pains and erysipelatous redness, radiating from a central point. (Is frequently suitable in alternation with Bryon.)

BRYONIA: The breasts are hard, rigid and turgid with milk, with tensive or stitching pain in the swelling and burning heat on the outside; especially when febrile motions supervene, with heat, vascular orgasm, &c. (If Bryon. be insufficient, use Bellad.)

HEPAR: If suppuration should set in in spite of Bell. bry. and Merc.

MERCURIUS: If the inflammation yield neither to Bell. nor Bryon., and the breasts remain hard and painful.

Phosphorus: When Hepar. does not stop the suppurative process. The breasts are ulcerated, fistulous, the ulcers having hard and callous edges; or colliquative sweats and diarrhea set in, with cough, feverish heat in the evening, circumscribed redness of the cheeks, and other symptoms of hectic fever.

SILICEA: Phosphorus being insufficient for suppuration of the nipples, fistulous ulcers, and symptoms of hectic fever.

§ 3. For induration of the mamma, and nodosities in the breasts, give: 1) Carb-a. con. sil.; or, 2) Clem. coloc. graph. lyc. merc. nitr-ac. ol-jec. phosph. puls. sep. sulph.—If the disease should have been caused by a blow, Arn. carbo-a. and con. deserve a preference.

For cancer of the mamma, the principal remedies are: 1) Ars.

clem. sil.; and also, 2) Bell. con. hep.? kreos.?

CALCULI RENALES.—Principal remedies: 1) Lyc. sassap. 2) Ant. calc. natr-m. phosph. puls. ruta. sep. sil. 3) Alum. amm. amb. canth. chin. petr. thuja.

CAMPHOR, ILL EFFECTS OF.—For poisoning with large doses: black coffce until vomiting sets in; afterwards Opium 30 in water, a teaspoonful every hour.

CANCER AND SCIRRHUS.—Best remedies: 1) Ars. bell. con. n-vom. sep. sil. sulph.; and perhaps, 2) Aur. calc. carb-an. chin. clem. coloc. graph. lyc. merc. nitr-ac. phosph. puls. staph. thuj.

For open cancer: 1) Ars. con. sil. and sulph. 2) Aur. bell.

calc. hep. lach. merc. nitr-ac. sep. staph. and thuj.

For Scirrhous indurations: 1) Bell. con. sep. and sil.; and perhaps, 2) Carb-an. carb-veg. cham. n-vom. phosph. staph. and sulph.

Scirrhous or cancerous affections in consequence of contusion or shock, require Con. or Staphys., or perhaps, Arnica.

See: Cancer of the womb, face, and cancer of the other organs.

CANCER OF THE EYES.—Laurocer. is the only remedy known for this affection. It is probable, however, that—1) Bell. calc. con. sil. 2) Ars. hep. lyc. sep. &c., are more specific.

CANCER OF THE NOSE.—Principal remedies: 1) Ars. sil. sulph. 2) Aur. calc. carb-an. sep.

See: CANCER AND ERUPTIONS IN THE FACE.

CANCER AND SCIRRHUS OF THE STOMACH.—The best remedies are: 1) Ars. baryt. lyc. n-vom. phos. veratr.; or, 2) Con.? sil.? staph.? sulph.

See: CANCER.

CANCER AND INDURATIONS OF THE UTERUS: Carcinoma et Scirrhus uteri.

§ 1. The best remedies are: 1) Carb-an. graph. kreos. 2) Ars. aur. bell. chin. cic. clem. coccul. con. dulc. jod. magn-m. merc. nitr-ac. sep. sil. staph. thuj.

§ 2. For induration (scirrhus) of the uterus, give: 1) Carban. 2) Aur. bell. chin. magn-m. sep. staph. 3) Clem. coccul.

con.; also, Rhus. phos.

For real cancer, Graph. and Kreasot. have been used. The following remedies deserve consideration: 2) Carb-an. 3) Ars. bell. chin. clem. merc. sep. sil.; also, 4) Lach. staph. sabin. phos. calc. and thuj.

For the phagedenic (not cancerous) ulcers of the uterus and neck of the uterus, I have seen good effects from: 1) Nitr-ac.

thuj. 2) Ars. bell. chin. coccul. merc. sep.

δ 3. Particular indications:

Belladonna: Frequent hæmorrhages of the uterus, with pressing towards the genital organs, violent pains in the small of the back, and excessive nervousness.

CONIUM: Stitching pains, especially when attended with nausea, vomiting, desire for various kinds of food, &c.

Graphites: Hot and painful vagina: swelling of the lymphatic vessels and mucous follicles; the neck of the uterus is hard and swollen, with tuberculous nodes and cauliflower-excrescences great weight in the abdomen on rising, with fainting sort of weakness and aggravation of the pains; delaying menses, with aggravation of the pains shortly before and at the appearance of the menses; discharge of black, lumpy, fetid blood; stitches shooting through the abdomen as far as the thighs; burning and stitching pains; constipation; livid complexion; sad and anxious mood.

KREASOTUM: Stitches from the abdomen to the vagina; swelling of the labia and itching in the vagina; discharge of dark, lumpy menstrual blood, succeeded by discharge of an acrid, bloody ichor; pressing from above downwards, during and between the menses, &c.

§ 4. Compare: Menstrual Difficulties, Cancerous Ulcers, and Indurations.

CANTHARIDES, POISONING BY.--The best remedy for large doses is spirits of camphor in drop-doses, on sugar, one drop every ten or fifteen minutes. Use mucilaginous drinks and frictions with camphor.

For the ailments which frequently arise from abuse of Cantha-

CARDIALGIA, GASTRALGIA.

- § 1. The best remedies are: 1) Bell. bry. calc. carb-veg. cham. chin. cocc. ign. n-vom. puls. sulph. 2) Bism. carb-an. caust. graph. grat. lach. lyc. magn-c. nitr-sp. sil. stann. staph. stront. 3) Amm. ant. coff. coloc. cupr. daph. euphorb. gran.? kal. kreos. natr. natr-m. n-mosch. sep.
- § 2. For Cardialgia from abuse of coffee: Cham. cocc. ign. n-vom.

From abuse of chamomile: 1) N-vom. puls.; or, 2) Bell. gn.

From emotions, such as: anger, chagrin, &c.: Cham. coloc.;

or, n-vom. staph.

From debility, loss of animal fluids, from nursing, sweating, abuse of cathartics, from the effects of a confinement, &c.: Carberg. chin. cocc., or nux-v.

For Cardialgia of drunkards, or debauchees: Carbo-veg. nux-v., or calc. lach. sulph.

 δ 3. Cardialgia with sanguineous obstructions in the portal system: Carb-veg. or nux-v.

In the case of hysteric or hypochondriac individuals: Calc.

cocc. grat. ign. n-vom. magn-c. stann. &c.

During the menses: Cham. cocc. n-vom. puls.—When the menses are too feeble: Cocc. puls.—When to profuse: Calc. or lyc. For Cardialgia from abuse of kitchen-salt: Nitr-sp. or carbveg.

§ 4. Particular indications:

Belladonna: When Chamomilla seems to be indicated, but is ineffectual; most generally suitable to females or delicate individuals, especially when the following symptoms are present: gnawing pressure, or spasmodic tension, obliging the patient to bend backwards, or to stop the breath, which alleviates the pain; the pains are brought on by eating; the pain is so violent, that the patient loses his consciousness and faints away; great thirst, with aggravation of the pains by drinking; slow and scanty stool; sleepless nights, sometimes a little sleep in the day-time.

Bryonia: Pressure in the pit of the stomach as from a stone, especially during or immediately after a meal, with sensation of swelling in the region of the stomach; or contractive, pinching and cutting pains, abating by pressing upon the region of the stomach, or after several eructations; aggravation of the pains by motion, or when walking, with stitches in the region of the stomach on making a false step; constipation, pressure and compressive sensation in the temples, forehead and occiput, as if the skull would burst; relief is obtained by making pressure on the head or temples.

CALCAREA: Suitable to plethoric persons that are apt to bleed from the nose, or to females who menstruate profusely, or after Belladonna had been given with but partial effect; it is indicated by: Pressure in the stomach, compressive, crampy pains, or clutching sensation in the region of the stomach, with anxiety; aggravation of the pains at night, or after a meal, frequently with vomiting of the ingesta, acidity and nausea; painful sensitiveness of the region of the stomach when pressing upon it; constipation and hamorrhoidal distress, or chronic looseness of the bowels; palpitation of the heart, &c.

CARBO VEG.: After Nux-v. had been given with partial effect, or when the following symptoms occur: Painful, burning pressure, with anguish, trembling and aggravation by contact, also at night and after a meal, especially after taking flatulent food; or spasmodic contractive pain, compelling the patient to bend double, with asthma and aggravation in a recumbent posture; heartburn; nausea; loathing of food, even when merely thinking of it; frequent flatulence, with oppression of the chest and constipation.

CHAMOMILLA: Distention of the epigastrium and hypochondria, with pressure as from a stone; oppression, short and difficult breathing; aggravation of the pains after a meal, or at night, with great anguish and restlessness; decrease of the pains by bending double, instantaneous relief by coffee; and when the following symptoms are present: Beating pain in the vertex, at night, obliging one to get out of bed; irritable, peevish mood. Cham. is frequently most suitable in alternation with Coff.; if it should be ineffectual, give Bell. instead.)

CHINA: Dyspeptic weakness, with distention of and painful pressure in the region of the stomach, after eating or drinking ever so little; acidity, heartburn, slimy or bilious passages; the pains get worse during rest, abate during motion; loss of appetite, aversion to food and drink; idleness; sleepiness; hypochondriac mood and inability to work, especially after a meal; slow stool; yellow, livid complexion; yellow appearance of the whites.

Cocculus: After partial relief by Nux-v. or Chamom. Symptoms: Aching, contractive pains in the abdomen, passing off after discharge of flatulence; the colic returns after eating, with nausea, water in the mouth and oppression of the chest; hard, delaying stool; ill, intractable mood, taciturn.

IGNATIA: After partial relief by Pulsatilla. Symptoms: Painful pressure as from a stone, especially after eating or at night, in the region of the pylorus; or sensation of weakness or emptiness in the pit of the stomach, with sensitiveness to contact, and burning in the stomach; hiccough; regurgitation of the ingesta; aversion to food and drink, or to tobacco; accumulation of mucus in the mouth, &c.; suitable to persons who had been starving either from want or other causes.

Nux vom.: Contractive, aching or crampy pains, with clutching or clawing sensation in the stomach; the pressure of the clothes on the epigastrium feels unpleasant; the pains are worse after a meal, after taking coffee, at night, or towards morning, or after rising; sensation as if a band were tied round the chest, with pains extending to the back and kidneys; the attack is attended with nausea, water in the mouth, heartburn, or even vomiting of the ingesta; sour or foul taste in the mouth; flatulent distention of the abdomen; constipation, hamorrhoidal ailments, hypochondriac, pecvish, quarrelsome mood, with vehement disposition; hemicrania, or aching pains in the forehead, with inability to work; palpitation of the heart, with anguish. Nux-v. is generally suitable at the commencement of every case of cardialgia; sometimes, however, an exacerbation of the symptoms takes place after every dose of Nux; in such cases Puls. ign., or Cham. deserve a preference. If Nux-v. should be without effect, though apparently indicated, Cham. or Cocc. should be Pulsatilla: Stitching pains, worse when walking or when making a wrong step; or crampy pains, either before breakfast or after a meal, generally attended with nausea, or vaniting of the ingesta; absence of thirst, except at the acme of the pains; beating in the epigastrium, with anguish, or tension and compression in the region of the stomach; soft, or liquid stools; aggravation of the pains in the evening, with chills which increase correspondingly with the pains; sour or bitter taste of the mouth or food; sad and whining mood; bland temper.

SULPHUR: Pressure as from a stone, particularly after eating, with nausea, water in the mouth, or vomiting; also when the following symptoms are present: acidity, heartburn, frequent regurgitation of the ingesta; aversion to fat food, rye-bread, sour things or sugar; dulness of the head, with inability to think; the pressure of the clothes on the hypochondria is unpleasant, with distention of these parts; disposition to piles or accumulation of mucus in the intestines; hypochondriac, whining mood, disposition to be vehement.

§ 5. The following remedies are sometimes useful:

BISMUTHUM: Aching pain, with feeling of heaviness and indescribable malaise in the stomach.

Carbo animalis: After partial relief by Carbo veg., burning aching pain, acidity, heartburn, mucus in the stomach, and constipation.

CAUSTICUM: Pressure, spasmodic contraction, and griping in the stomach, as if clawed; the hair stands on end as the pains increase, acidity and mucus in the stomach.

Graphites: Crampy, spasmodic or clawing pains, or pressure with vomiting of the ingesta.

Gratiola: Pressure in the stomach, especially after a meal, with nausea, ineffectual attempts at eructations, constipation and hypochondriac mood.

LACHESIS: Aching pains which diminish immediately after a meal, but recommence again in a few hours, and are particularly violent after the siesta; dyspeptic weakness, flatulence and constination.

Lycorodium: Compressive pains as if the stomach were pressed together from both sides, less in the evening, but coming on again in the morning, especially in the open air, or after a meal

Magnesia: Aching and contractive pains, with sour eructations.

NITRI SPIRITUS: Aching, contractive pains from eating too much salt, fulness in the stomach, after a meal, with sour or slimy vomiting; loss of appetite, heartburn and acidity.

SILICEA: Aching pain in the stomach, especially after eating or drinking rapidly, with mucus in the stomach and vomiting.

STANNUM: Obstinate cardialgia, with bitter eructations, canine hunger, diarrhea, nausea, pale and sickly complexion.

STAPHYSAGRIA: Aching and tensive pain in the stomach, at times worse, at others better after eating, especially bread, with frequent nausea and constipation.

STRONTIANA: Aching in the stomach, especially after a meal, with fulness in the abdomen.

For cataract from injury by a blow, &c., (traumatic cataract), the best remedy is said to be Conium, though we may likewise use: Amm. euphr. puls. and ruta.

Glaucoma, or blue or green cataract, seems to require principally Phosphorus.

For reticulated cataract, give: Caust. and Plumb.

CATARRH, CORYZA.

- §. 1. Principal remedies: 1) Amm. ars. cham. dulc. hep. lach. merc. n-vom. puls. sulph. 2) Bell. euphr. ign. ipec. lyc. natr. samb. 3) Alum. anac. bry. calc. carb-veg. caust. con. graph. natrm. nitr-ac. sep. sil. zinc., &c.
- § 2. For the precursory symptoms, when the development of the catarrh seems to be delayed, with catarrhal affection of the frontal cavities, eyes, &c., use: 1) Amm. calc. lach. n-vom. sulph.; or, 2) Caust. hep. and natr-m.

For dry coryza, or catarrhal obstruction of the nose, use, together with the above-mentioned remedies: Bry. ign. lyc. natr.

natr-m. nitr-ac. phosph. plat. sil.

Obstruction of the nose in the case of new-born infants, is generally relieved by Nux-v. or Sambucus.

For fluent coryza, discharge of mucus from the nose, give: 1) Merc. puls. sulph.; or, 2) Ars. bell. cham. dulc. hep. ipec. lyc. merc. nitr-ac. sil.

§ 3. The best remedies for ordinary catarrh, are: 1) Merc. kep. bell. lach.; or, 2) Ars. dulc. n-vom. ipec.; or, 3) Cham. puls. sulph.; or, 4) Amm. bry. euphr. ign.

For catarrh with fever: 1) Merc. n-vom.; or, 2) Acon. ars.

For chronic catarrh, give: Alum. anac. calc. carb-veg. caust. con. graph. lyc. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. sep. sil. zinc.—and the remedies indicated for "Suppuration of the nose."

For the disposition to catarrh, the best remedies are: Calc. graph. natr. puls. sil. sulph. and the remedies indicated for ars. bell. bry. chin. cin. n-vom. puls. sulph.

" Cold."

§ 4. For the consequences to suppressed catarrh, give: Acon.

If the head be greatly affected, the best remedies are: 1) Acon. bell. cham. chin. cin. n-vom. sulph.; or, 2) Ars. bell. carb-veg. lach. lyc. puls.

If the eyes should be principally involved, use: 1) Bell. cham.

• uphr.ign. lach. n-vom. puls.; or, 2) Hep. merc. sulph.

For asthmatic complaints, use: 1) Ars. ipec.; or, 2) Bry. n-vom. or sulph.

And for bronchitis: Acon. bry. merc. n-vom. puls. rhus. or sulph.

§ 5. Particular indications:

Ammonium: Stoppage of the nose, especially at night; swelling and painful sensitiveness of the nostrils; discharge of blood from the nose on blowing it; dryness of the nose; painful eyes, lachrymation; bleeding at the nose; dry mouth, especially at night, &c.

Arsenicum: Stoppage of the nose, with copious discharge of a watery mucus, and burning in the nose, with soreness of the adjacent parts; sleepless nights; bleeding at the nose; hoarseness; buzzing in the ears; headache with beating in the forehead, and nausea; relief by warmth, absence of thirst, or desire to drink all the time, but little at a time.

DULCAMARA: Stoppage of the nose, with discharge which is suppressed by the least contact with cold air; the symptoms are worse during rest, and abate during motion; bleeding at the nose; dryness of the mouth without thirst; rough and hoarse voice.

Chamomilla: Principally suitable to children, or after suppression of sweat, especially when the following symptoms occur: Ulcerated nostrils; chapped lips; great drowsiness, heaviness of the head with dulness; chills with thirst, one cheek is red and the other pale; acrid mucus from the nostrils (frequently suitable before or after Puls.)

HEPAR: After partial relief by Merc., in all cases of ordinary catarrh, or when the patient had been drugged with Mercury; generally, when every breath of cold air causes a new attack of catarrh or headache; or when the catarrh is confined to one nostril, and the headache gets worse by motion.

Lachesis: After partial effect of Merc. and Hep. Symptoms: Copious discharge of watery mucus; swelling and soreness of the nostrils and lips; scurf in the nostrils, lachrymation, frequent sneezing; or when the catarrh remains undeveloped, with stoppage of the nose, buzzing in the ears, lachrymation, headache, ill-humour, inability to think; especially after Nux-v., if given without effect.

MERCURIUS: Ordinary catarrh, whether epidemic or not. Symptoms: Frequent sneezing, copious discharge of watery saliva, swelling, redness and soreness of the nose, with itching and pain in the nasal bones on pressing upon them; fetid smell of the nasal mucus; painful heaviness in the forehead; night-sweats; chills or feverish heat; great thirst; pains in the limbs; desire to be alone; the symptoms are aggravated by warmth or cold. (Compare: Bell. hep. and lach.)

Nux vom: Suppression of the catarrhal discharge, with stoppage of the nose; headache with heaviness in the forehead, or with stitching or tearing pains; hot face, especially in the evening, with burning redness of the cheeks; rigidity of the whole body; vexed mood, vehement; the catarrh is fluent in the morning, dry in the evening or at night, with dry mouth, without much thirst; feeling of dryness in the chest; constipation or hard stools; or simultaneous stoppage of the nose, and discharge of a burning and corrosive mucus, for which Ars. did no good.

(Compare: Ars. ipec. and lach.)

Pulsatilla: Loss of appetite; loss of taste and smell; discharge of a yellowish, green, thick and fetid mucus; swelling of the nose; discharge of blood from the nose on blowing it; ulceration of the nostrils; frequent sneezing; photophobia; rough voice; dulness and heaviness of the head, especially in the evening and in a warm room, with obstruction of the nose; the symptoms are less in the open air; chills, especially in the evening, absence of thirst, whining mood. (Frequently suitable after or before Cham.)

SULPHUR: Stoppage and great dryness of the nose, or copious secretion of a thick, yellowish and purulent mucus; frequent sneezing; discharge of blood from the nose on blowing it; loss of smell; soreness and ulceration of the nostrils, &c. (Frequently suitable after Puls.)

§ 6. Of the other remedies, the following deserve consideration: Belladonna: After partial effect of Merc. or Hepar., the sense of smell is at times more, at others less keen than usual.

EUPHRASIA: Copious discharge of whitish mucus, with red eyes and lachrymation.

IGNATIA: Catarrh of nervous persons, with frontal headache and hysteric nervousness.

IPECACUANHA: After partial effect of Ars. and Nux vom.: for great debility, loss of appetite, nausea and vomiting.

LYCOPODIUM: Stoppage of the nose, at night, dull head, burning pain in the forehead.

NATRUM: The catarrh returns every other day; it is excited by the least draught of air, and does not yield to sweating.

Sambucus: Suitable to new-born infants; the nose is obstructed by a tenacious, thick mucus, with sudden starting from sleep, as if suffocating.

§ 7. Compare Cough, Suppuration of the nose, &c., and especially: Mucous membranes, diseases of the.

CATARRH, SUFFOCATIVE, ORTHOPNEA PARALYTICA.— The best remedies are: 1) Arsen. carb-veg. chin. ipec. lach. op.; or, 2) Baryt-c. camph. graph. puls. samb. tart.

For suffocative catarrh with accumulation of mucus in the bronchi, give: 1) Ars. camph. chin. ipec. tart.; or, 2) Carb-veg.

For paralytic orthopnæa (catarrh with paralytic state of the pulmonary nerves), give: 1) Baryt-c. graph. lach. op.; or, 2) Ars. aur. carb-veg. chin.

The best remedies for children are: Acon. ipec. samb. tart.

The best remedies for old people: 1) Baryt. lach. op.; or, 2)

Ars. aur. baryt-c. carb-veg. chin. con.

For the more particular symptoms, see ASTHMA.

CATARRH OF THE BLADDER.—The best remedies are: 1) Dulc. puls. sulph.; or, 2) Ant. calc. con. kal. n-vom. phos. See Cystitis and Ischuria.

CATALEPSY, NYCTOBASIS, SOMNAMBULISM.

- § 1. These diseases are essentially related to each other. We include them in the same paragraph, in order to give the reader a chance, in case he should not discover suitable remedies for one form, to study the remedies of the other.
- For catalepsy we use principally: 1) Cham. ipec. plat. stram. 2) Acon. agar. bell. cic. hyos. mosch. veratr. 3) Asa. camph. coloc. dros. ign. merc. op. petr.

For somnambulism: 1) Bry. natr-m. sil. sulph. 2) Petr. phos.

nitr-ac. rhus. sep. spig.—(See: Cold.)

z d) From suppression of fever and ague.—(See: Fevers, intermittent.)

CHAMOMILE, ILL EFFECTS OF.—The best remedies are: 1) Acon. cocc. coff. ign. n-vom. puls. 2) Alum. borax. camph. coloc.

Aconitum: Fever with heat, and tearing or drawing pains, less during motion.

Cocculus: Hysteric abdominal spasms, either recent or old ones aggravated.

Coffee Violent pains or feverish heat with great nervousness and excessive sensitiveness.

Ignatia: Violent cramps and convulsions, or soreness in the folds, Puls. having proved ineffectual for the latter symptom.

Nux vom: Old ailments are made worse, or cardialgia set in;

Coffea being ineffectual.

Pulsatilla: Nausea with vomiting or diarrhæa, or soreness in the folds of infants.

CHEST, PAINS IN, DISTRESS IN THE.

This refers merely to the rheumatic pains in the chest, as the other pains are specially treated of under Asthma, Angina pectoris, Congestions of the chest, Pleuritis, Pneumonia, &c.

Principal remedies: 1) Acon. arn. bry. chin. n-vom. puls.; or, 2) Ars. bell. caust. carb-v. cham. colch. lach. merc. phos. sulph.

False Pleurisy (Pneumonia notha) requires Arn. or sometimes Bry., or even Acon., if the patient should be very restless and feverish.

If a metastasis of the rheumatism to the heart threaten to take place, Hering advises to give Lach., after which Caust. and Carb-v. may be exhibited.

See: Rheumatism and Pain, paroxysms of; also: Causes, Periods of the day, Conditions.

CHILBLAINS.—The best remedies are: 1) Agar. bell. nitrac. petr. phos. puls. sulph.; or, 2) Arn. carb-an. carb-veg. cham. chin. hyos. lyc. magn-aust. phos-ac. rhus. sulph-ac.

For inflamed chilblains, give: Ars. cham. lyc. nitr-ac. puls.

For blue-red and swollen chilblains: Arn. bell. kal. puls.

For very painful ones: 1) Hep. 2) Arn. nitr-ac. petr. phosac. puls. sep.

CHILDREN, DISEASES OF, MORBI NEONATORUM.

§ 1. Many diseases of children having been mentioned in other articles, we here content ourselves with mentioning the acute or otherwise most important diseases under one head.

§ 2. Asthmatic attacks of infants, with spasms, danger of suffocation and bluish face, yield to Ipec., and, if occurring during sleep, with screams, dry and husky cough, and anxiety, to: Sambucus. See: ASTHMA THYMICUM, and ASTHMA MILLARI.

Hardness and distention of the hypochondria and pit of the stomach, with shortness of breath, loss of breath, anguish and restlessness, tossing about, screams, drawing-up of the legs (livergrown), yields to Chamom.

§ 3. For ophthalmia neonatorum, the best remedies are: (1 Acon. cham. dulc. merc.; or, 2) Bell. bry. calc. n-vom. puls. sulph., &c.

(See: OPHTHALMIA.)

- § 4. For hernia of infants: Aur. cham. n-vom. sulph. veratr.—for umbilical hernia: Nux-v. or sulph.—for inguinal hernia: Aur. cham. n-vom. sulph. veratr.—These remedies should be given one at a time, and at long intervals.
- δ 5. Diarthæa of infants, from acidity in the primæ viæ, with colic and screams, tenesmus, and sour smell of the whole body, in spite of the greatest cleanliness, yields to Rhubarb.

If insufficient, if the colic be very violent, Cham. deserves a preference if the face should be very red, and Bell. if the face be pale.

If the pains be slight, with great debility and distention of the abdomen, and Bell. cham. rhub. have proved inefficient, give Sulphur.

Diarrhea from heat, yields to a few doses of Ipec. or Nux-vom. If the diarrhea should set in whenever the weather grows hot, give Bryon., to be followed, if insufficient, by Carbo veg.

If the diarrhoa should set in every time the weather cools off, give: Dulcam. or Antim., if the tongue should be coated white.

(If the remedies which are here mentioned for diarrhæa, should prove insufficient, give Aconite.)

Arsen. is frequently useful, especially when the child becomes thin, feeble and pale.

Beside the above-mentioned remedies, the following have been mentioned: Ferr. hep. jalap. magn. merc. n-vom. sulph-ac.

§ 6. Fevers generally require: Acon. cham. coff., or: Bell.

borax. ign. merc. n-vom.

Aconitum: Great heat with thirst, especially when sleeplessness is present, or the sleep is restless, and the patients frequently start up from sleep, with anguish, cries, despondency; they cannot be quieted.

Chanomilla: Burning heat and redness of the skin, with frequent desire to drink; great restlessness, especially at night, with tossing about, anxiety, moaning; red face and cheeks, especially only one cheek; hot sweat about the head, even in the hairs; short, anxious breathing, mucous rattling; short, dry and panting cough, or convulsive twitching of the limbs.

COFFEA: The fever is not very violent, but the nerves are irritated, with sleeplessness, restless sleep, and frequent, sudden starting and waking from sleep; fitful mood, alternately merry and whining.

§ 7. For the spentaneous limping of children, give first

Merc., then Bell., or alternately.

If these remedies should be insufficient, give Rhus tox., and then, according to the symptoms, Calc. or Colocynth, or one of the remedies mentioned under COXAGRA and COXAGRAHROCACE.

§ 8. For the rash of infants, a few doses of Acon, are generally sufficient; if Acon, should not suffice, give Cham, and then Sulphur, if necessary.

§ 9. For the gastric difficulties of infants give: 1) Bell. cham. ipec. merc. n-vom. puls.; or, 2) Bar-c. calc. hyos. lyc. magn. rhab. sulph.

For acidity of the stomach, with sour vomiting or sour diarrhoa, the best remedies are: 1) Bell. cham. rhab.; or, 2) Calc.

magn. n-vom. puls.

If the gastric symptoms denote a derangement of the stomach, Ipec is the best remedy for the vomiting, especially when attended with diarrhæa; or Puls, if Ipec should be insufficient. For diarrhæa without vomiting, or mixed with undigested food, or if the child should have been weakened by cathartics, China is the best remedy. For vomiting with constipation, give Nux-v.

For chronic dyspepsia of children, or for weakness of the stomach with great tendency to be disturbed by the least indiscretion, we use: Bar-c. calc. ipec. merc. n-vom. puls. sulph.

- § 10. Jaundice of new-born infants generally yields to Merc., or, if this be insufficient, to China.
- § 11. Retention of urine yields to Camph., or to a few doses of Acon. or Puls.
- § 12. For colic the best remedies are: 1) Borax. cham. cin. ipec. jalap. n-mosch. rhab. senn., or 2) Acon. bell. calc. caust. cic. coff. sil. staph. &c See Colic.
- § 13. Convulsions of children and infants require: 1) Bell. cham. cin. coff. ign. ipec. merc. op., or 2) Acon. caust. cupr. lach. n-vom. stann. sulph.

Particular indications:

Belladonna: The paroxysms terminate in or alternate with coma; or the children suddenly wake as if in affright, with wild anxious and staring looks, as if they were afraid; dilated pupils; tetanic rigidity and icy coldness of the whole body, with burning heat of the hands and forehead; or, the children wet their beds frequently.

Chamomilla: For convulsions of the extremities, with involuntary motions of the head, afterwards coma, with half-opened eyes and loss of consciousness; redness of one cheek and paleness of the other; sighing and frequent desire to drink (If Cham.

should prove insufficient, give Belladonna.)

Cina: The children are affected with worms, or wet their beds frequently, with spasms in the chest, convulsions of the extremities, hard and distended abdomen, frequent itching of the nose, dry cough resembling whooping-cough, &c.

COFFEA: Suitable to feeble children, if they are frequently attacked with convulsions without any secondary symptoms.

IGNATIA: For convulsions from teething, or worms, or when the paroxysms recur every day at the same hour, with twitching of single muscles or extremities; the spasms are frequently succeeded or accompanied by heat or sweat; light sleep, with sudden starting; piercing cries and trembling of the whole body. (After Ignat., chamom. is frequently suitable.)

IPECACUANHA: Between the paroxysms the children suffer with shortness of breath, nausea, vomiting and diarrhœa, with frequent spasmodic stretching of the limbs.

MERCURIUS: Hardness and distention of the abdomen, frequent eructations and ptyalism, or heat, sweat and great debility after the spasms.

Opium: The paroxysms are caused by fright, or are attended with trembling of the whole body, stretching of the extremities, piercing cries, coma and loss of consciousness, distention of the abdomen, constipation and retention of urine.

- § 14. Muscular debility of infants, in consequence of which they have great difficulty in learning to walk, yields to: 1) Bell. calc. caust. sil. sulph., or 2) Pinus-silvestris.
- § 15. The best remedies for acidity or diarrhæa are: 1) Cham. rhab., or 2) Bell. calc. sulph.
- § 16. For asphyxia or apparent death of new-born infants, the best remedy, together with the necessary external manipulations, is one grain of Tartar emetic in 8 ounces of water, either as an injection, or in drop-doses, afew drops every 15 minutes.

If no change should take place in half an hour, give Opium, if the face of the infant should be blue, or China if pale.

- · If the infant should show signs of life, give Aconite in case the face was blue or red, and China if pale.
- § 17. Sleeplessness of infants yields to Coffea, provided the nurse does not drink coffee; in this case give Opium, also when Coffea proves ineffectual, or the infant's face is red.

Sleeplessness with colic or screams yields to Cham., or Jalap., or Rhub.

For sleeplessness with restlessness and feverish heat, give Aconite.

For sleeplessness after weaning, with constant cries for hours and even days, the best remedy is Belladonna.

- § 18. For $dry\ coryza$ or $stoppage\ of\ the\ nose$, which prevents infants from breathing while nursing, the best remedy is $Nux\ v.$, or Sambucus; or to Chamom., if the stoppage be attended with discharge of water from the nose; or to Carb-veg., if the distress be worse in the evening; or to Dulc., if worse in the open air.
- § 19. For the cries of new-born infants, when without any perceptible cause, give Bell. or Cham.—If the child cries on account of headache or earache, give first Cham., and then Bell., provided Cham. is insufficient.

For colic, with the legs drawn up, and red face, Cham. is the best remedy; Bell. if the face be pale. If attended with sour diarrhœic stools and tenesmus, give Rhubarb. If these remedies should be without effect, try Borax, Jalap, Ipec. or Senna.

If Chamomilla should have been abused by the nurse or infant, give Borax, Ignat. or Puls.

- § 20. For aphthæ or thrush, give Mercury and Sulphur in alternation. Borax and Sulphuric acid are likewise useful, the former particularly, if the urine smells like cat's urine, and is very acrid.
 - § 21. For stuttering, the best remedies are: Bell. euphras.

merc. and sulph., suitable mechanical exercises being instituted at the same time.

- § 22. For constipution of new-born infants, the remedies are: Bry. nux-vom. opium. If these remedies should be insufficient, give: Alum. lyc. sulph. veratr.
- § 23. For soreness, the best remedy is Chamom., provided the nurse does not use chamomile-tea. In this case give Borax, ign. or puls.

If Cham. should prove insufficient, give Borax, or Carb. veg., or Mercury if the skin of the infant be yellowish, and the parts be raw, or if the soreness extend behind the ears.

If all these remedies should prove ineffectual, Sulph. will be found useful, or Silic., if Sulph. be not sufficient.

Caust. graph. lyc. sep. have likewise been recommended.

§ 24. The best remedies for the ailments incidental to dentition, are: 1) Acon. bell. borax. calc. cham. coff. ign. merc. sulph. or 2) Ars. cin. ferr. magn. magn-m. n-vom. stann.

For sleeplessness, give: Coff., or Acon. borax. cham.

For fever: 1) Acon. cham. coff. n-vom., or: 2) Bell. borax. sil. For restlessness and nervousness: Coff., or: Acon. bell. borax. cham.

For constipation: Bry. magn-m. n-vom.

For diarrhea: 1) Merc. sulph., or: 2) Ars. calc. cham. coff. ferr. ipec. magn.

For dry and spasmodic cough: Cham. cin. n-vom.

For spasms and convulsions: 1) Bell. cham. cin. ign., or: 2) Calc. stann. sulph.

For slow dentition, give: Sulph. and Calc., to aid the work of nature.

§ 25. For further particulars, we refer the reader to the special articles treating of these various diseases, and to Atrophy, ANGINA, ECLAMPSIA, RHACHITIS, CRUSTA LACTEA, SCROFULA, WORM-AFFECTIONS, &c.

CHIRAGRA.—The best remedies are: 1) Agn. ant. bry. caust. cocc. graph. led. lyc. n-vom. rhod. sulph., or: 2) Aur. calc. carb-veg. dig. lach. phosph. ruta. sabin. sep. sil. zinc.

For further particulars, see: ARTHRITIS.

CHLOROSIS.—The best remedies are: 1) Bell. calc. cocculferr. lyc. nitr-ac. plat. puls. sulph. 2) Chin. con. dig. graph. hell. ign. kal. natr-m. n-vom. phos. plumb. sep. spig. staph. val., or: 3) Ars. carb-v. caust. graph. phos-ac. sabin. sulph-ac. zinc.

For further particulars, see: MENSTRUAL DIFFICULTIES and AMENIA.

CHOLERA and CHOLERINE.—The best remedies are: 1) Ars. camph. cupr. ipec. sec. veratr. 2) Bell. canth. carb-v. cham. chin. cic. coloc. dulc. hyos. lach. laur. n-vom. op. phos-ac. sulph.

δ 2. For sporadic cholera, during the summer heat, give: Ars.

cham. chin. coloc. dulc. ipec. merc. veratr.

For Asiatic or epidemic cholera: 1) Ars. camph. carb-v. cupr. ipec. sec. veratr., also: 2) Bell. canth. cham. cic. laur. merc. n-vom. phos. phos-ac.

For cholerine, or for diarrhea during the cholera: Phos. phos-

ac. and sec.

A species of cholera arising from chagrin or anger, requires: 1) Cham., or 2) Colocyn., if anger and chagrin were combined.

§ 3. For the consequences of cholera, the following remedies have been recommended: Acon. bell. bry. canth. carb-v. chin. hyos. op. phos-ac. rhus. stram. sulph.

If the cerebral system be involved: Bell. lach. op., or: Acon.

hyos. stram.

For inflammatory affections: Acon.

For gastric and abdominal affections: Bell. bry. carb-v. merc. rhus. sulph.

For pulmonary affections: Acon. bell. bry. carb-v. rhus. sulph.

For general debility: China.

For debility of the intestinal canal: Phosph. and Sulph.

For typhoid affections: Bell. bry. carb-v. cocc. hyos. op phos-ac. rhys. stram.

§ 4. Particular indications:

Arsenicum: Violent pains in the stomach, with great anguish and burning in the epigastrium as if from hot coal; burning, unquenchable thirst, obliging one to drink frequently, but little at a time; constant nausea, diarrhæa and violent vomiting of watery, bilious or slimy, greenish, brownish or blackish substances; vomiting and diarrhæa come on again after drinking ever so little; lips and tongue are dry, blackish and cracked; the patient is unable to sleep, tosses about, moans, is apprehensive of approaching death; sudden prostration; hippocratic countenance, hollow cheeks, pointed nose, hollow and dim eyes; small, feeble, intermittent or tremulous pulse; tonic spasms in the fingers and toes; icy coldness of the skin, and clammy sweat.

Camphor: At the commencement of the disease, when there is neither thirst, nor vomiting or diarrhea; sudden prostration with wandering looks and hollow eyes; bluish appearance and icy coldness of the face and hands, also coldness of the body; disconsolate anguish, with fear of suffication; the half stupified and insensible patient utters hoarse cries and moans, without complaining of any thing in particular; but, if asked, he complains of burning pains in the stomach and throat, with cramps in the calves and other muscles, and utters loud cries when one touches the pit of the stomach.—Camphor is seldom suitable when vomiting, diarrhæa and thirst have already set in, but it should never be given, except when the following symptoms are present: Icy coldness and blueness of the limbs, face and even tongue, with tonic and painful cramps in the extremities and calves, dulness of sense, moaning, tetanus, and trismus.

Currum: Vomiting and diarrhea, convulsions of the extremities, especially of the fingers and toes, sometimes with rolling of the eyeballs, great restlessness and coldness of the prominent parts of the face; aching pains in the pit of the stomach, getting worse by contact; spasmodic colicky pains without vomiting, or vomiting preceded by spasmodic constriction of the chest, arresting the breathing, or vomiting attended with violent pressure in the epigastrium; audible rolling, along the esophagus, of the liquid which one swallows.

IPECACUANHA: Qualmishness in the stomach, chills proceeding from the stomach or bowels, or cold face and extremities; when the vomiting is a prominent symptom, or alternates with watery diarrhea accompanied by colic; or yellowish diarrhea without vomiting, but with cramps in the calves, fingers and toes; Ipec. is generally indicated by vomiting or diarrhea at the commencement of the disease, or when the patient is otherwise improving.

For a violent attack, Ipec. is of no use. (Nor for a moderate attack: Aconite is the sole and real specific for every variety or form of cholera. Hempel.)

Secale cornutum: The vomiting is over, but the stools are not yet bilious, or there are still pains in the extremities; or for diarrhœic, brownish or flocculent and colourless stools with sudden prostration, icy coldness of the extremities, clean tongue or thinly coated with white mucus; the evacuations are preceded by vertigo, anguish, cramps in the calves, rumbling in the abdomen, and nausea.

Veratrum: Principal remedy, when there are violent evacuations upwards and downwards; icy coldness of the body, great debility and cramps in the calves, vomiting, copious, watery, inodorous stools mixed with white flocks, pale face without any colour, blue margins around the eyes, deathly anguish in the features, cold tongue and breath; great oppressive anguish in the chest, giving the patient a desire to escape from his bed; violent colic, especially around the umbilicus, as if the abdomen would be torn open, the abdomen is sensitive to contact, with drawing and cramps in the fingers, wrinkled skin in the palms of the hand, retention of urine

§ 5. Belladonna: For typhoid symptoms, coma with halfopened or distorted eyes, grating of the teeth and distortion of the mouth, or great restlessness, desire to escape, stitches in the side or burning pains in the abdomen; burning heat and redness of the face, and desire for cold drinks; accelerated pulse which is more or less full, but not hard.

Cantharis: The urinary passages are principally involved, with violent burning in the hypogastrium, rumbling in the abdomen, bloody stools with tenesmus, heat in the abdomen, great restlessness, cerebral symptoms.

Carro veg.: Incipient paralysis, with complete collapse of pulse, or with congestion of blood to the chest and head after cessation of the spasms, diarrhæa and vomiting, with oppression of the chest and coma; the cheeks are red and covered with clammy sweat.

CHAMOMILLA: At the commencement of the disease, or in the precursory stage, especially when the following symptoms occur: The tongue is coated with yellow mucus, color in the umbilical region, pressure from the region of the stomach to the heart, great anguish, cramp in the calves, watery diarrhea and sour vomiting.

China: Lienteria, vomiting of the ingesta, painful oppression in the abdomen, after eating ever so little, with oppression of the chest and eructations affording relief; loss of appetite with sensation of repletion; hippocratic countenance; prostration unto fainting.

CICUTA: Little diarrhea, but the vomiting alternates with violent, tonic spasms of the muscles of the chest and distortion of the eyes; or coma, with the eyes half open; heavy breathing, congestion of blood to the head and chest, vomiting or diarrhea.

COLOGYNTHIS: Vomiting, first of the ingesta, afterwards of green substances, with violent colic, retention of urine, cramps in the calves, frequent, diarrheeic stools, which, with every new evacuation, become more colourless and watery.

DULCAMARA: A species of cholera from taking cold drinks, with vomiting of the liquid, and of bilious, green or slimy and yellowish substances, frequent greenish stools, painful abdomen, with burning and retraction of the region of the stomach, great debility, collapsed pulse, cold extremities, burning thirst, great dulness of sense.

HYOSCYAMUS: Typhoid symptoms, after the vomiting, diarrhœa and coldness had ceased, with dulness of sense, wandering looks, red and hot face; Bell. having proved useless.

LACHESIS: For typhoid symptoms, if Bell., hyoscyam. or opium rove inefficient.

LAUROCERASUS: Rheumatic pains in the extremities, hardness of hearing, cloudiness of the brain, distortion of features, and sensation of constriction in the throat when swallowing.

Nux vomica: Scanty diarrheeic stools, but frequent urging and little or no discharge; cardialgia, great debility, anguish in the pit of the stomach, aching pain in the occiput, and internal rather than external chilliness.

OPIUM: For stupor and coma which yield neither to Hyoscyam. nor Bellad.; these symptoms sometimes occur when the real cholera-symptoms have already ceased.

PHOSPHORUS: Diarrhœa attended by violent thirst, rumbling in the abdomen and debility; the diarrhœa occurs during or after the cholera.

PHOSPHORIC ACID: Diarrhea with pale face, dulness of the head, viscid tongue so that the finger adheres to it, rumbling in the abdomen, and green-whitish, watery and slimy stools, with diminished secretion of urine.

CINCHONA, ILL EFFECTS OF.

§ 1. The best remedies for these ailments are: 1) Arn. ars. bell. calc. ferr. ipec. lach. merc. puls. veratr.; or 2) Caps. carb-v.

cin. natr. natr-m. sep. sulph.

Arnica: For rheumatic pains, heaviness, languor and bruised pain in all the extremities, drawing in the bones, sensitiveness of all the organs of sense, aggravation of the pains by motion, talking and noise.

Arsenicum: Ulcers on the extremities, dropsy or ædema of the feet, short cough and dyspnæa.

Belladonna: Congestion of blood to the head, with heat in the face, pains in the head, face and teeth; or for jaundice, when Merc. is insufficient.

CALCAREA: Headache, otalgia, toothache, pain in the limbs, especially when these symptoms were occasioned in consequence of the suppression of fever and ague by large doses of Quinine, and Puls. proved insufficient.

FERRUM: For ædema of the feet.

IPECACUANHA: 6 pills in water, a tablespoonful 3 times a day, generally removes most of the symptoms.

LACHESIS: For fever and ague which had been suppressed by large doses of Quinine; Puls. is inefficient.

Mercurius: For jaundice or other affections of the liver.

Pulsatilla: Otalgia, toothache, headache, pain in the limbs, after suppression of fever and ague.

VERATRUM: Coldness of the body or limbs, with cold sweat, constipation or diarrhœa.

§ 2. For the consequences of suppressed fever and ague, give:

1) When the fever is actually suppressed: Arn. ars. bell. cale.

carb-v. cin. ferr. ipec. lach. merc. puls. sulph.

2) When the fever still continues: 1) Ipec., and then: 2) Ars. carb-v. lach. puls.; or, but less frequently: 3) Arn. cin. veratr.; or finally: 4) Calc. bell. merc. sulph.

For further details, see: Intermittent fever, Hepatitis, Lienitis, and the other diseases arising from abuse of China.

COFFEE, ILL EFFECTS OF.—The best remedies are: 1) Cham. cocc. ign. and n-vom. 2) Bell. canth. carb-veg. caust. hep. ipec. lyc. merc. puls. rhus. sulph.

Particular indications:

Chamomilla: Headache and toothache; extreme sensitiveness to pain, with crying; pains in the stomach, abating a little after taking coffee; violent colic, great oppression in the pit of the stomach, with hard pain.

Cocculus: Debility and sweat after every exercise, trembling of the limbs, sudden starting up during sleep as if in affright; flushes of heat; toothache when eating; sensation of emptiness in the head; colic; great sadness and anguish; aggravation of the symptoms in the open air, during motion, when eating or drinking, during sleep, or by tobacco-smoke.

IGNATIA: Headache, as if from a nail in the brain, or as if the forehead were pressed asunder, or for beating in the head which is relieved by stooping; debility; sensation of emptiness in the pit of the stomach; spasmodic colic; painfulness or going to sleep of the limbs; fitful mood; at times gay, at others sad.

Nux vomica: Sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, extreme nervousness, hemicrania, or sensation as if a nail were driven into the brain, with aggravation of the pains on stooping or when walking, also in the open air; toothache, colic aggravated by coffee; extreme sensitiveness to the open air; lively and choleric temper.

For other affections, we refer the reader to the diseases of the special organs.

The chronic ailments arising from the abuse of coffee, are frequently relieved by Merc. or Sulph., provided Cham., Nux vom. or Ign. are not sufficient.

COLCHICUM, ILL EFFECTS OF .- Give: Cocc. nux-v. puls.

Colic of hypochondriacs: Calc. chin. grat. natr. natr.m. stann, &c.

δ 5. Particular indications:

Belladonna: Pinching and drawing as if every thing would fall out below, with aggravation during motion; pod-shaped protrusion of the colon, with abatement of the pains on bending double or making pressure; or clutching pains in the abdomen, or spasmodic constriction in the abdomen with burning and pressure in the small of the back, and over the pubis; especially when the following symptoms are present: Thin, purulent stools, or congestion of blood to the head, with redness of the face, swelling of the veins of the head, and such violent pains that the patient becomes delirious. (After Bell., Merc. is sometimes suitable.)

Colocynthis: In most cases, especially for: Violent, cutting constrictive or spasmodic pains, with pinching, and griping; or cutting as if with knives; great sensitiveness and bruised feeling of the abdomen; distention of, or sensation of emptiness in the abdomen; the pains are attended with cramps in the calves, or chills and tearing in the lower limbs; also for great anguish, tossing about on account of the pain; no stool, or else diarrhoea and vomiting of bile, which recommences after the patient takes ever so little food; the pains are relieved by coffee. (It is supposed by some, but doubted by many and by myself, Hempel, that coffee should be given alternately with colocynth, to control the aggravation produced by the colocynth; this aggravation is a natural development of the disease, not an aggravation; after Colocynth, give Causticum for the remaining symptoms.)

of internal heat; pinching, drawing, contractive or compressive pains; pressure in the pit of the stomach, with distention of the abdomen and sensitiveness to contact; distention and fulness, especially in the hypochondria, with unpleasant sensation produced by the pressure of the clothes; cold hands and feet during the paroxysms, or even stupefaction unto loss of consciousness; cutting and flatulence deep in the abdomen; sharp and hard pressure over the bladder and rectum, as if the flatulence would press out by force, obliging the patient to bend double; aggravation by walking; relief by rest, sitting or lying; violent pains in the small of the back and loins, and violent headache.

Pulsatilla: Stinging pains; beating in the pit of the stomach; restlessness, heaviness and fulness in the abdomen, with unpleasant distention; contusive pain when touching it; rumbling, heat in the abdomen, causing anxiety; pinching, cutting, and tearing, especially in the epigastrium, with aggravation by contact; general heat with swelling of the veins of the hands and forehead; the clothes press upon the hypochondria; the pains are worse by sitting or lying, or in the evening, with chills, increasing with the pains; relief by walking; bruised pain in the loins when rising; nausea; diarrhæa; pale face with blue margins around the eyes; aching and tensive pain in the head.

§ 6. Aconitum: Colic, involving the bladder, with violent cramp-pains, contraction of the hypogastrium in the region of the bladder; constant but ineffectual urging to urinate; great sensitiveness of the abdomen; pains in the loins as if bruised; great anguish, restlessness, tossing about.

ARSENICUM: Great pain with anxiety in the abdomen; violent cutting, or spasmodic, drawing, tearing or gnawing pains, frequently attended with intolerable burning, or with feeling of coldness in the abdomen; the pains set in especially at night, or after eating and drinking; nausea, or watery and bilious vomiting; constipation or diarrhea; thirst, chill and great debility.

Carbo-veg.: Fulness and distention of the abdomen as if it would split, with rumbling, incarcerated flatulence, pinching, difficult breathing, rising of air; congestion of blood to the head, with aching pain; slow action of the bowels; heat in the abdomen, especially about the head; the pains set in even after the slightest meal.

Chamomilla: Tearing, drawing pains, with great uneasiness, obliging one to run to and fro; sensation as if the bowels were drawn up in a ball, or as if the whole abdomen were empty; loathing, bitter vomiting or bilious diarrhæa; pain in the loins as if bruised; incarcerated flatulence, with anguish, tension, pressure and fulness in the pit of the stomach and hypochondria, or with pressure towards the abdominal ring; blue margins around the eyes; alternate redness and paleness of the face; the pains appear at night, or in the morning at sunrise, or after a meal. (Puls. is frequently suitable after Cham.)

China: Tympanitic distention of the abdomen, with fulness, pressure as from a hard body, or spasmodic, constrictive pains, with incarceration of flatulence and pressure towards the hypochondria; the pains appear at night, or affect persons debilitated by sweating, depletions or other causes.

Cocculus: Spasmodic constriction of the hypogastrium, with nausea, difficult breathing, copious flatulence, fulness and distention of the stomach and epigastrium, feeling of emptiness in the abdomen; tearing and burning in the bowels, with compressive sensation in the stomach; nausea, constipation; great anguish, nervousness, tendency to start.

Coffee: Excessive pains, anguish and pressure in the epigastrium, great nervousness, restlessness, cries, grating of the teeth, convulsions, coldnesss of the limbs, moaning, suffocative fits.

HYOSCYAMUS: Spasmodic and cutting pains, vomiting, cries, headache, hard and sensitive abdomen.

IGNATIA: Nightly colic; splenetic stitches; incarcerated flatulence, with difficulty of passing them; relief by passing the flatulence; fulness and distention of the hypochondria; especially suitable to delicate females.

Lycopodium: Excessive accumulation of flatulence, especially after a meal, with pressure in the stomach and epigastrium; fulness and distention of the abdomen and pit of the stomach; constipation, or scanty, hard stools.

Mercurius: Violent contractive pains, with hardness and distention of the abdomen, especially around the umbilicus; or tensive, burning or stinging pains; hiccough, canine hunger, aversion to sweet things; nausea and ptyalism; frequent urging to stool; or slimy diarrhea; aggravation of the pains at night, especially after midnight; chill, with warm and red cheeks; great sensitiveness of the abdomen to contact; great prostration.

Phosphorus: Flatulent colic, deep in the abdomen, worse when lying.

Secale: In men: Colic with pain in the small of the back; tearing in the thighs; eructations and vomiting; or, in women, at the time of the menses: burning pain in the right side of the abdomen; constipation and cholera-pains in the abdomen; or: tearing colic, pale face, cold extremities, small and feeble pulse, cold sweat.

SULPHUR: Hæmorrhoidal colic, after ineffectual use of Carboveg. and N-vom.; also for bilious colic, if Cham. or Coloc. should prove ineffectual; or for flatulent colic, if not relieved by Cham.,

Cocc., Nux-v., or Carb-reg.; or for worm-colic, if not entirely removed by Merc. or Cina.

CONDITIONS OF AGGRAVATION, or Amelioration of the symptoms.

- § 1. There are practitioners who select a remedy principally with reference to the external conditions of the symptoms, such as: the time of day when they appear, the side of the body, head, chest, &c., where they appear, &c. This is evidently going too far, though it cannot be denied, that these external conditions have a general value in many cases, and facilitate the selection of a remedy, provided the practitioner is otherwise thoroughly acquainted with the essential points of our Materia Medica. To select a remedy with reference to these external conditions exclusively, might prove of great detriment to the patient.

For suppression of the lochia: Coloc. hyos. n-vom. plat. sec. veratr. zinc.—For too profuse and too long lasting lochia: Bry. calc. croc. hep. plat. puls. rhus. sec.

For phlegmasia alba dolens: 1) Arn. bell. rhus.; or, 2) Acon.

ars. calc. jod. lach. n-vom. puls. sil. sulph.

For puerperal fever: 1) Acon. bell. bry. cham. n-vom. rhus.; or, 2) Coff. coloc. hyos. ipec. merc. puls. veratr. (See: Puerperal Fever.)

For the emotions of lying-in females: Bell. plat. puls. sulph.

veratr. zinc.

^{*} And especially Graphites.—Hempel.

For convulsions, eclampsia, &c.: 1) Cycl. hyos. ign. plat.; or, 2) Bell. stram. (Compare: Spasms.)
For debility: 1) Calc. kal.; or, 2) Chin. sulph.; or, 3) N-

vom. phos-ac. veratr. (Compare: Debility.)

For sleeplessness: Coffea.

For colic: 1) Bry. cham.; or, 2) Arn. bell. hyos. lach. nvom. puls. sep. veratr. (See: Colic.)

For diarrhaa: 1) Ant. dulc. hyos. rhab. (Compare: Di-

For constipation; Bry. n-vom. op. or plat. (Compare: CONSTIPATION.)

For the falling off of the hair: Calc. lyc. natr-m. sulph. (Compare: Falling off of the Hair.)

CONGESTIONS, SANGUINEOUS.—Principal remedies: 1) Acon. arn. bell. bry. chin. ferr. hyos. merc. n-vom. op. phos. puls. sil. sulph. 2) Alum. amm. asa. aur. calc. carb-v. coff. graph. hep. kal. lyc. merc. mosch. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. plumb. rhus. sep. spong. stram. sulph-ac. thuj. veratr.

For particulars, see: Congestions of the Abdomen, Chest,

HEAD, &c.

CONGESTIONS OF THE ABDOMEN.-The best remedies are: 1) Nux-v. and Sulph.; or, 2) Ars. caps. carb-v.; or, 3) Bell. bry. cham. merc. puls. rhus. veratr.

Arsenicum: Frequent, scanty, slimy, or watery stools, with great debility.

Nux vom.: Suitable to persons who lead a sedentary life and are engaged in intellectual pursuits, &c.; especially for constipation, hard stools, pains in the loins as if the hips and back were broken and powerless; hard and tight abdomen.

CAPSICUM: Suitable to phlegmatic, lazy, clumsy, and sensitive people, especially when small, watery, or slimy stools are frequently present.

CARBO VEG.: Flatulence, slow action of the bowels, bad digestion and loss of appetite.

SULPHUR: Suitable to hypochondriac persons, especially after Nux vom., even in the most obstinate cases.

See: HÆMORRHOIDS.

CONGESTIONS OF THE CHEST.—The best remedies are: Acon. aur. bell. chin. merc. n-vom. phos. spong. sulph.

ACONITUM: Violent pressure with palpitation of the heart. short breath, anguish, short and dry cough, disturbing the sleep, great heat and thirst.

AURUM: Great anguish with palpitation of the heart, oppression or real paroxysms of suffocation with sensation as if the chest were constricted, falling down without consciousness, and bluish complexion.

Belladonna: Great restlessness with beating in the chest, beating of the heart which is even felt in the head, oppression, heavy breathing short cough disturbing sleep, internal heat and thirst.

CHINA: When the congestion is caused by debilitating losses, with palpitation of the heart; heavy breathing, oppression, anguish; or when the breathing is impossible with the head low.

MERCURIUS: Anxious oppression and heavy breathing, with desire to take deep breath; heat and burning in the chest, palpitation of the heart, and cough with bloody expectoration.

Nux vom: Heat and burning in the chest, especially at night, with tossing about, anxiety, sleeplessness; or tensive pressure as from a weight, especially in the open air, with heavy breathing, and unpleasant pressure of the clothes upon the chest.

Phosphorus: Oppression and heaviness, tension and feeling of fulness in the chest; palpitation of the heart, anguish, and sensation of heat rising to the throat.

Spongia: Orgasm of the blood in the chest, after the least exertion, with dyspnœa, anguish, nausea, and fainting weakness.

SULPHUR: Orgasm of the blood in the chest, with malaise, fainting, trembling of the arms, palpitation of the heart, heaviness, fulness and pressure in the chest, as from a weight, particularly when coughing; oppressed breathing, especially at night when lying.

Compare: ASTHMA.

CONGESTIONS OF THE HEAD.

§ 1. The best remedies are: 1) Acon. arn. bell. bry. coff. merc. n-vom. op. puls. rhus. veratr.; or, 2) Cham. chin. dulc. ign. sil. sulph.; or, 3) Aur. cann. graph.

§ 2. Persons who are fond of spirits, should take: Nux vom. or puls., or Opium, calc. and sulphur. Persons leading a sedentary life, require: Acon., or Nux vom. Girls at the age of pubescence: Acon. bell. or puls. Children during dentition: Acon.

coff. or cham.

For congestion from great joy, give: coff. or opium,—from fright or fear, opium,—from violent anger: Chamom., or perhaps Bryon. or Nux-v.,—and from suppressed anger, Ignat. For congestion from a fall, blow, or violent concussion, give: Arn. cic. merc.,—from debilitating losses: Chin. or Calc. sulph. nux-v. or veratr.—from the least cold: Dulc.,—from lifting heavy weights, or from injuries: Rhus. or Calc. Congestion from constipation, requires: Bry. nux-v. opium., or Merc. or Puls.

The disposition to congestions of the head requires: Calc. hep. sil. or sulph.

§ 3. Particular indications.

Aconitum: Beating and fulness in the head; frequent vertigo, especially when stooping; sensation as if the head would split, especially over the eyes, worse when stooping and coughing; scintillations and darkness before the eyes; buzzing in the ears; frequent fainting turns, palpitation, &c., or violent burning pains in the head, especially in the forehead, with red and bloated face, red eyes, paroxysms of rage or of being beside one's-self. (After Acon., Bell. is frequently suitable.)

Arnica: Heat in the head with chilliness of the remainder of the body; dull pressure in the brain, or burning beating, buzzing in the ears and vertigo, obscuration of sight, especially when rising from a recumbent posture.

Belladonna: Violent pressure in the forehead, or beating, burning and stitching pains in one side of the head; aggravation of the pains when walking, or during motion, when stooping, or by the least noise or light, with red and bloated face, red eyes, scintillations, darkness before the eyes, buzzing in the ears, diplopia, disposition to sleep; or for dull aching pains, deep in the brain, with pale, sickly complexion, loss of consciousness, delirium and muttering; or the pain appears after a meal, with languor, somuolence, painful stiffness of the nape of the neck, heavy tongue, and other apoplectic symptoms. (Is frequently suitable after Aconite.)

BRYONIA: Painful compressive sensation in both sides of the head, or as if everything would fall out at the forehead when stooping; nose bleeds without relief, burning eyes, lachrymation, constipation.

COFFEA: Lively temper, cerebral excitement, sleeplessness, heaviness of the head, increased congestion when talking; shining and red eyes.

MERCURIUS: Fulness in the head as if the forehead would split, or as if the head were bandaged, or when the symptoms are worse at night, with burning, tearing and stitching pains; the patient sweats readily and profusely. (Is frequently suitable after Bell. and Opium.)

Nux vom.: Nervousness, with painful sensitiveness of the brain when walking or moving the head; pressure in the temples, remaining unchanged when lying or raising one's-self; dim eyes, with desire to close them without being able to sleep; great heaviness in the head, especially when moving the eyes, with sensation, when thinking, as if the head would split; aggravation of the symptoms in the morning, in the open air, or after a meal, and especially after taking coffee.

OFIUM: Violent congestion, with tearing pain, pressure in the forehead from within outward; throbbing in the temples; wandering look; thirst; dry mouth, sour eructations, nausea or vomiting

Pulsatilla: Exhausting pain on one side of the head; or the pain commences in the occiput, thence to the root of the nose, or vice versa; relief by tying a cloth round the head, or by pressure, or walking; aggravation by sitting; heaviness of the head; pale face with vertigo; whining mood; shivering, anguish, phlegmatic temperament, &c.

Rhus Tox.: The congestion is accompanied by burning, throbbing pains, with fulness in the head, aching, or creeping, vacillating sensation in the brain; the pains appear after eating.

VERATRUM: Shocks with pressure, or pains on one side, or sensation as if the brain were dashed to pieces; or contractive pain with astringent sensation in the throat; painful stiffness of the nape of the neck; copious secretion of watery urine, nausea, vomiting, &c.

Particular remedies for headache are:

When too scanty: I) Alum. arn. calc. graph. lyc. magn-m. natr. n-rom. sep. sil. sulph. 2) Ars. baryt. cham. chin. lach. ruta. stann. staph. zinc.

§ 5. Particular indications:

BRYONIA: Especially in summer, suitable to persons who are disposed to rheumatism, or when the constipation was caused by disordered stomach, with disposition to feel chilly, congestion of blood to the head, headache; irritable mood, disposition to be angry, taciturn; generally suitable to vehement individuals.

LACHESIS: Obstinate constipation with pressure in the stomach, and ineffectual attempts at eructation.

MERCURIUS: The constipation is accompanied with bad taste in the mouth, painful gums, but no loss of appetite. (Give Staphys., if Merc. should not suffice.)

NATRUM MURIATICUM: Obstinate constipation, when all action of the bowels seems lost.

Nux vomica: Suitable to hypochondriac and hæmorrhoidal individuals; the constipation was caused by eating too much, or by derauging the stomach, &c. Symptoms: Loss of appetite, nausea, distention of the abdomen, with pressure and heaviness; heat, especially in the face; congestion of blood to the head, headache; inability to work; disturbed sleep, oppression, cardialgia, ill humour; sensation as if the anus were closed or narrower than usual, with frequent, ineffectual urging.

OPIUM; Sensation as if the anus were closed, but without any great urging; beating and sensation of heaviness in the abdomen; cardialgia, dry mouth, loss of appetite, congestion of blood to the head, headache, red face, &c.

PLATINA: The patient is only able to pass small lumps, with tenesmus and creeping at the anus after every evacuation; chill with sensation of weakness in the abdomen; constrictive pain in the abdomen, with pressure, pain in the stomach and ineffectual attempts at eructation.

Pulsatilla: Corresponding to the symptoms of Nux-v., when the patients are of a bland, phlegmatic disposition; or suitable for constipation produced by derangement of the stomach in consequence of eating too much fat; accompanied with chilliness, peevish and taciturn disposition.

SEPIA: Suitable to females or to rheumatic individuals, or when Sulphur and Nux-v. are insufficient.

Sulphur: Habitual costiveness, especially suitable after Nuxv., to hypochondriac and hæmorrhoidal individuals; frequent but ineffectual urging to stool; with incarceration of flatulence, malaise, distention of the abdomen, inability to perform any mental labour, &c.

§ 6. If these remedies should not prove sufficient, it will be necessary to select a remedy in accordance with the general state of the patient.

CONSTITUTION, AGE, SEX, AND TEMPERAMENT.

The following classification of remedies agreeably to constitution, sex, &c., is, of course, imperfect, and many remedies which have been omitted in the various paragraphs, may have to be supplied after a little more observation. Nevertheless, an intelligent physician will find the attempted classification of service, were it only to confirm the selection of a remedy, or to decide him in favour of one remedy among several doubtful ones.

§ 2. Premising all this, we will give the preference, as respects age and sex:

zine.

a) For the male sex, to: 1) Acon. alum. aur. bry. canth. carbveg. chin. clem. coff. coloc. dig. euphorb. graph. ign. kal. magnarct. magn-m. merc. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. n-vom. op. phos. rhus. sil. staph. sulph zinc. 2) Agar. alum. anac. ant. ars. baryt. caps. carb-an. caust. coloc. con. hep. lach. lyc. mosch. mur-ac. par. petr. phos-ac. plumb. puls. seneg. stann. sulph-ac. thuj. veratr.

CROUP, ANGINA MEMBRANACEA.

§ 1. The best remedies are: Acon. spong. and hep., in water, a tablespoonful every hour or half hour.

Aconitum: During the inflammatory period, should be continued as long as the following symptoms are present: Great nervous and vascular excitement, burning heat with thirst, dry and short cough, short and hurried, but not yet wheezing or sawing respiration.

• Ŝrongia: The above symptoms are less, but the characteristic symptoms of croup remain or these symptoms exist from the commencement, with rough, crowing, and barking cough, or dry cough, with difficult expectoration of scanty mucus; slow, loud, wheezing and sawing breathing, or suffocative fits with inability to breathe, except with the head bent backwards.

HEPAR: The cough has become less after the use of Spongia, but the air-passages remain clogged with mucus; or the croup symptoms are attended with rattling of mucus from the commencement, the cough is maist, with little difficulty of breathing and slight nervous or vascular excitement.

§ 2. For the rough and barking cough which sometimes sets in a few days previous to the attack of croup, give: Cham. chin. cin. dros. hyos. n-vom. veratr.

For croup with paralytic state of the lungs, give: Tart. Croup with Asthma Millari, requires: Samb. or Moschus.

In desperate cases, when Acon. hep. and spong. remain ineffectual, give: 1) Mosch. phos.; or, 2) Cham. cupr. lach.

For laryngitis, hoarseness and catarrhal affections remaining after croup, give: 1) Hep. phos.; or, 2) Arn. bell. carb-v. dros.

For the disposition to croup: Lyc. or Phosphorus has been recommended.

CYANOSIS.—Digit. is said to have cured this disease.— Lachesis has been recommended. It is incurable when depending upon an organic affection of the heart.

For symptomatic cyanosis, not depending upon an organic affection (as in cholera, &c.,) I recommend: 1) Acon. camph. carb-v. cupr. dig. lach. op. veratr. 2) Arn. ars. aur. bell. merc. natr-m. n-vom. phos. puls. rhus. samb. sec. sil. spong.

CYSTITIS, INFLAMMATION OF THE BLADDER.

The best remedies are: 1) Acon. camph. cann. canth. dig. n-vom. puls.; or, 2) Calc. graph. hyos. kal. lyc. mez. sep.

sulph.

Aconitum: Violent fever with thirst, frequent and violent urging to urinate, with no discharge or only a few drops of dark, red and turbid or bloody urine; painfulness of the region of the bladder when touching it, with increase of the pains during micturition. (After Acon. give Cann.)

CAMPHORA: When the disease is caused by abuse of Cantharides, in whatever shape they may have been used; or for complete suppression of urine, slow and thin stream, burning in the urethra and bladder.

CANNABIS: Frequently after Aconite, for complete suppression of urine, or for urging to urinate especially at night, with burning pain; or drops of bloody urine.

Cantharides: Violent, but ineffectual urging to urinate, with drop-discharge of a saturated, dark urine, stinging and burning pains in the region of the bladder, before and after micturition, or cutting pains from the kidneys to the bladder; the abdomen is distended and painful to contact, especially in the region of the bladder.

DIGITALIS: The neck of the bladder is principally affected, with retention of urine and constrictive pain in the bladder, or frequent and painful urging to urinate, with discharge of a few drops of dark-red and turbid urine.

Dulcamara: For chronic affections of the bladder, constant urging to urinate, painful pressing-down in the region of the bladder and urethra; drop-discharge of urine with mucous sediment or mixed with bloody lumps. (After Dulc., kal. or phos. is sometimes suitable.)

Kall carb: Violent cutting and tearing in the bladder, neck of the bladder and urethra; less urine and fiery, with a good deal of ineffectual urging. (Is frequently suitable after Dulc.)

Nux vom.: Frequent urging to urinate, with violent pains during and after micturition, which is very scanty; burning pain in the urethra, bladder and kidneys; contractive pain in the urethra after urinating; is suitable to patients who use a good deal of spirits, or who suffer with hæmorrhoids.

Phosphorus: Retention of urine as if there were an obstacle in the urethra, with pain in the abdomen when the last drops are discharged; contractive pain in the bladder, or stitches from the neck of the bladder to the anus. (Is frequently suitable after Dulc.)

Pulsatilla: The urging to urinate is attended by aching, burning and cutting pains in the region of the bladder; heat and redness of this region, and sometimes complete suppression of urine; or scanty, painful discharge of slimy urine, or of bloody urine, with purulent sediment.

SULPHUR: In obstinate cases, the urine is mixed with mucous or blood, burning in the urethra during micturition. (After Sulph., Calc. is frequently suitable, especially when the disease is caused by suppression of hæmorrhoids; if the burning pains do not yield to Calc., give Ars. or Carbo-veg.)

See: Hæmaturia, Urinary difficulties, Ischuria, Nephritis, and Nephralgia.

CYSTOPLEGIA.

Principal remedies: Ars. dulc. lach.; or, Acon. bell. cic. hyos. lach. lauroc. magn-aust.

DEBILITY, ASTHENIA.

- § 1. In many cases a mere symptom, which disappears with the general disease. Sometimes, however, it arises from loss of animal fluids, sexual excesses, and violent acute diseases, and requires special treatment.
- § 2. For debility from loss of animal fluids, give: China, and if this should be insufficient: 1) Calc. carb-veg. cin. lach. n-vom. phos-ac. sulph. veratr.; or, 2) Nitr-ac. sulph-ac.
- § 3. For debility from sexual excesses without onanism, give: China; chronic debility requires: 1) Calc. n-vom. phos-ac. sil. staph. sulph.; or, 2) Anac. arn. carb-veg con. merc.natr-m. phos. and sep.

CALC. is indicated when an embrace causes languor, trembling of the extremities, weariness, pain in the head.

STAPHYSAGRIA: when the patient worries about his ailments, and is affected with asthma after an embrace, and with hypochondriac mood.

§ 4. Onanism generally requires Nux vom., then Sulph. and Calc., provided Phos-ac. or Staphys. is not sufficient. Frequently we give with success: Carb-veg. cin. cocc. con. natr-m. n-mosch. and phos. China is of very little use.

To eradicate the vice, give: Sulph. calc.; or, Chin. cocc.

merc. phos.; or, Ant. carb-veg. plat. puls.

For debility in consequence of acute diseases, give: 1) Chin. hep. sil. veratr.; or, 2) Calc. kal. natr-m. phos-ac. sulph.

For debility from blood-letting: Chin. phos-ac. sulph-ac.

Debility from growing too fast, requires: Phos-ac. That of old people: Aur. baryt. chin. con. op.

For hysteric debility, see: HYSTERIA.

DEBILITY, NERVOUS; OR, EXCESSIVE NERVOUS EXCITEMENT, requires: 1) Acon. chamomilla, chin. coff. n-vom. puls. magnarct. 2) Asar. hep. ign. nitr-ac. teucr. val. veratr.

If caused by study, watching, or a sedentary life, give: 1) N-vom. sulph.; or, 2) Calc. carb-veg. cocc. lach. puls. magnarct.

If caused by abuse of Mercury: Carb-veg. cham. hep. nitr-ac. puls.

If by narcotics: Cham. coff. merc. n-vom., &c.

If by abuse of coffee: Cham. ign. merc. n-vom. sulph.

If by abuse of wine or spirits: Acon. bell. coff. n-vom. puls. sulph.

Symptomatic indications:

Aconitum: Suitable to young people (especially young girls) when plethoric and leading a sedentary life, or for extreme sensitiveness to pain, sleeplessness, tossing about, extreme sensitiveness of sight and hearing, red cheeks, tendency of blood to the head, palpitation of the heart, &c.

CHAMOMILLA: Sensitiveness to pain, disposition to faint when suffering ever so little; disconsolate, tossing about, meaning and lamenting; irritable, quarrelsome mood, alternate paleness and redness; or one cheek pale and cold, the other warm and red,

&c

China: Great debility with trembling, aversion to physical or mental labour; excessive nervous sensitiveness; sensitiveness to draughts of air, sleeplessness from thoughts crowding upon one's mind, or remaining awake late at night; heavy dreams, causing anxiety even after waking, disposition to sweat, hypochondriac mood.

COFFEA: Sleeplessness, mental excitement, ill humour, or excessive mirthfulness and liveliness; extreme sensitiveness to pain.

Nux vom.: Irritable, nervous sensitiveness of all the organs of sense, tendency to start, anguish, disposition to lie down, aversion to open air and exercise, peevish mood, vehement, disposed to be angry.

Pulsatilla: Corresponds to the symptoms of Nux, but more suitable to females or people of bland disposition.

MAGN. ARCT.: Nervousness, trembling, distention of the abdomen, anguish, nervous debility.

DEGLUTITION, DIFFICULT, DYSPHAGIA.

Particular indications.

Arsenicum: Watery or slimy, whitish, greenish or brownish evacuations, especially at night, after midnight, or towards morning, or after eating, or drinking; with colic, burning or tearing pains in the abdomen; violent thirst; loss of appetite with nausea or vomiting; emaciation; debility; sleeplessness, anguish at night; distention of the abdomen; cold limbs; pale face with sunken cheeks; hollow eyes and blue margins around the same.

Chamomilla: Watery, bilious or slimy diarrhæa of yellowish, whitish or greenish colour, almost like stirred eggs; discharge of undigested food; rumbling in the abdomen; loss of appetite, thirst, coated tongue; tearing or cutting pain in the bowels, fulness in the pit of the stomach; distended abdomen; frequent eructations with nausea or bilious vomiting; bitter mouth; and, in children: screams, restlessness, tossing about, constant desire to be carried, &c.

China: Copious watery, brownish evacuations, mixed with undigested food; especially at night, or after a meal; with violent, aching, constrictive and spasmodic colic, or no pain at all; great weakness in the abdomen; rumbling, eructations, burning pains about the anus; loss of appetite, thirst and complete prostration.

Dulcamara: Liquid greenish or yellowish, slimy or bilious stools; nightly evacuations, with colic, especially in the umbilical region; loss of appetite, thirst; nausea or real vomiting; pale face, languor and restlessness.

FERRUM: Nightly diarrhoa, or after eating and drinking, easy painless stools, discharge of watery substances mixed with undigested food; pale face; emaciation, distended abdomen, without flatulence; thirst; canine hunger alternating with loss of appetite; cardialgia; spasmodic pains in the back and anus.

IPECACUANHA: Watery or slimy diarrhea, of a bilious, whitish or greenish colour, with nausea, vomiting of yellowish, whitish or greenish mucus; tearing or cutting colic, with screams (in children), tossing about; accumulation of mucus in the mouth; distention of the abdomen; debility with constant desire to be lying down; pale face with blue margins around the eyes; chilliness, ill and vehement humour.

Mercurius: Watery, slimy, frothy or bilious or bloody stools, especially at night, of a greenish, whitish or yellowish colour; the stools look like stirred eggs; frequent tenesmus, burning, itching and soreness of the anus; frequent colic; heartburn, nausea and eructations; chills and shivering; cold sweat, trembling and great languor.

Pulsatilla: Slimy, bilious or watery diarrhea of a whitish, yellowish or greenish colour, or changeable colour; papescent stools; or liquid, fetid stools with soreness of the anus; with bitter mouth, white-coated tongue, nausea, disagreeable eructations or slimy and bitter vomiting; colic, especially at night.

RHUBARB: The stools have a sour smell, they are liquid, slimy, as if fermented, with pale face, ptyalism, colic, frequent urging and tenesmus; or copious evacuations with vomiting and great debility; or, in children, when the diarrhœa is accompanied with screams and restlessness, the children toss about and draw up their legs. (If Rhubarb should be insufficient, Chamom. will frequently effect a cure, especially if the pains be very violent.)

Secale: Painless evacuations, with debility; watery, yellowish or greenish stools, which are discharged rapidly, with great force and even involuntarily; discharge of undigested food; colic, especially at night; slime on the tongue; pappy taste, frequent rumbling, flatulence, and fulness of the abdomen.

SULPHUR: Frequent evacuations, especially at night, with colic, tenesmus, distention of the abdomen, heavy breathing, chilliness and debility; slimy, or watery, frothy, or putrid stools, whitish or greenish; discharge of undigested, sour or bloody substances; the diarrhea sets in again after the least cold; emaciation, &c.

δ 6. We may likewise use:

Antimonium: Watery diarrhoea with deranged stomach; white-coated tongue, loss of appetite, eructations and nausea.

BRYONIA: In summer, especially when the diarrhœa was caused by cold drinks, or by anger and chagrin, and Cham. proved insufficient.

CALCAREA: Frequently after Sulphur, for chronic diarrhæa, especially suitable to scrofulous children, with debility, emaciation, pale face and great appetite.

CAPSICUM: Slimy diarrhœa, with tenesmus and burning at the anus.

Colocynthis: Bilious or watery diarrhœa, with violent, spasmodic, colicky pains, especially when caused by anger or chagrin, Cham. being insufficient.

Nux vom.: Frequent, scanty evacuations of watery, slimy, whitish or greenish substances. with colic and tenesmus.

PHOSPHORUS: Chronic diarrhea, painless, and gradual loss of strength.

Phosphori acidum: Watery or slimy diarrhœa, with discharge of undigested substances, or involuntary stools.

Rhus Tox.: Diarrhœa, especially at night, with tearing in the limbs, headache and colic, worse after eating or drinking.

VERATRUM: Painless, brownish or greenish, watery or papescent diarrhea, with much rumbling, feeling of coldness in the abdomen, and more or less disposition to debility.

Dropsy of drunkards: Ars. chin. hell. led. rhus. and sulph. Dropsy from abuse of Mercury: Chin. dulc. hell. and sulph.

§ 3. Particular indications:

Arsenicum: Anasarca, ascites and ædema of the lower extremities, more especially when the skin, and particularly the face, look livid, pale or greenish; great debility and prostration; tongue dry and red; thirst very great; asthma with symptoms of suffocation when lying on the back; cold extremities, tearing pains in the back, small of the back and limbs.

Bryonia: Anasarca and cedema of the feet, especially when the swelling increases in the day-time and decreases in the evening.

Camphora: Anasarca, with red urine and thick sediment.

Cantharis: Dropsy from atony of the urinary passages, with ischuria, tenesmus of the neck of the bladder, pains in the limbs, chronic coryza, &c.

China: Anasarca and ascites, especially in old people. Suitable for organic affections of the liver and spleen, although Ars.

and Ferr. concur in this case.

Convolvulus: Œdema, dropsy, with constipation, distress in the abdomen, and debility.

DIGITALIS: Ascites, anasarca, hydrothorax, when there are organic affections of the heart, and a hurried pulse.

Helleborus: Anasarca, ascites, hydrothorax, &c., acute dropsy, especially for: great debility, vapour, feverish symptoms, stitching pains in the limbs. diarrhea, suppression of urine, &c.

KALI: Ascites, dropsy, of old people.

Lactuca: Anasarca with great swelling of the feet, abdomen and eyelids.

LEDUM: Dropsy, with pains in the limbs, and dry skin.

MERCURIUS: Ascites, hydrothorax, acute or chronic anasarca, sometimes accompanied with affections of the liver, oppression on the chest, general heat and sweat; constant short and racking cough; anguish, &c.

Phosphorus: Dropsy, ædema of the hands, feet and face.

PRUNUS: Ascites and dropsy.

RHUS, SAMEUCUS, and SOLANUM NIGRUM: Anasarca.

§ 4. Compare: Anasarca, Ascites, Hydrothorax, Hydrocephalus, Hydrocele, &c.

For delirium tremens: Ars. bell. calc.. coff. dig. hyos. n-vom. op. stram.

For the disposition to drink: Ars. calc. lach. merc. sulph. sulph-ac.

§ 3. As regards symptoms, give:

ACONITUM: When drinking wine is followed by: feverish heat, tendency of blood to the head, red face and eyes, and even loss of reason.

Antimonium: Gastric affections in consequence of revelling, nausea, loathing, loss of appetite, &c., Carb-veg. being insufficient.

Arsenicum: Mental derangement, anguish which drives one to and fro, fear of thieves, ghosts, and solitude, with desire to hide one's-self, trembling of the limbs, &c.

Belladonna: Loss of reason, delirium, visions of mice, rats, &c., red and bloated face, tongue coated, aversion to meat, sleep-lessness, stammering speech with constant smile, dry feeling in the throat, with difficult deglutition, violent thirst, paroxysms of violent fever, &c.

CALCAREA: Delirium, visions of fire, murder, rats' and mice, neither Bell. nor Stram. being sufficient.

CARB VEG.: Aching or throbbing pain in the head, in consequence of a debauch, relief in the open air; nausea without desire to vomit; liquid, thin stools.

CHINA: Debility of drunkards, especially when dropsy is setting in.

COFFEA: Great excitement of feeling, (especially in children), with excessive mirthfulness, sleeplessness, nausea and even vomiting; or headache after intoxication, with sensation as if a nail were sticking in the brain, Nux vom. being insufficient. Coffea has likewise removed the trembling of the hands of drunkards.

Hyoscyamus: Epileptic convulsions in consequence of drinking; sleeplessness with constant tossing about; delirium with visions as if persecuted, and with desire to escape; tremor of the limbs, and Sulph. having proved fruitless.

&c.

LACHESIS: Debility and tremor of the hands, especially when the patient finds it hard to correct himself.

MERCURIUS: Debility of drunkards who abuse coffee, Nux-v.

NATRUM: Debility and dyspepsia of drunkards.

Nux vomica: Hemicrania after intoxication, with sensation as if a nail had been driven into the brain; aggravation in the open air, by walking. motion, thinking and stooping; nausea with desire to vomit and straining; constipation, or else small, slimy stools, with tenesmus; vertigo; red eyes, with gum in the canthi; photophobia; hacking cough, &c.; or, in confirmed drunkards: for tendency of blood to the head, cloudiness or loss of consciousness, delirium, frightful visions, and desire to escape; great anxiety driving the patient to and fro; sometimes with cold and damp hands, feet and face; nausea, waterbrash, vomiting of food or bitter substances; sleeplessness or half sleep, with sudden startings as if in affright; anxious dreams; constipation, or else diarrhœic, scanty stools; tremor of the limbs, debility, &c.

Suitable to drunkards who indulge in abuse of coffee.

OPIUM: Comatose sleep with stertorous breathing, or anxious delirium, with visions of mice and scorpions, &c.; fear, desire to escape, or dreams from which the patient wakes as soon as he is spoken to with a loud voice; constipation, troublesome breathing, general sweat, epileptic convulsions and spasms; trembling of the extremities, lock-jaw, twitching of the muscles of the face and mouth, staring look; dark-red face, &c.

Pulsatilla: Derangement of the stomach, cloudiness, heaviness in the forehead, relief in the open air; nausea, especially after eating or drinking; sour eructations, coated tongue, &c.; especially when the wine was sulphurated.

Stramonium: Suitable to habitual drunkards; anguish driving one to and fro; taciturn; wandering look, fear, desire to escape; epileptic convulsions, rage; red, hot, and bloated face; visions, illusions of fact, (such as, that the half of the body is cut off, &c.)

SULPHUR: Trembling, dropsical and other affections of drunkards, especially when they indulge in abuse of coffee.

DYSENTERY, BLOODY FLUX.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. ars. merc. rhus. sulph. 2) Bry. carb-v. cham. chin. coloc. ipec. n-vom. puls.; or, 3) Bell. caps. colch. dulc. gran. hep.- kreos. lach. nitr-ac. n-mosch. staph.

§ 2. Particular indications.

Aconitum: For dysentery when the days are warm and the nights cool; rheumatic pains in the head, nape of the neck and shoulders; or violent chills, heat and thirst. (If Aconite should not be enough, give: Cham. merc. nux-v., or Puls.)

ARSENICUM: Putrid stools, involuntary stools, debility, fetid urine, bad odour from the mouth, stupefied state, red or blue spots on the skin. (If Ars. should not be sufficient, give Carb-v. or

Bryonia: Frequently after Acon., especially during hot summers, and for dysentery from taking cold drinks.

CARBO VEG.: When Ars. is insufficient to remove the putrid symptoms, when the patient's breath is cold, and he complains of burning pains. (If, after Carbo veg., the stools should continue putrid, give China.)

Chamomilla: Frequently after Aconite, especially when there are great heat, thirst, rheumatic pains in the head, and great restlessness.

China: When both Ars. and Curbo veg. are insufficient to remove the putrid symptoms, or for dysentery in marshy districts, especially when the symptoms are intermittent.

COLOGYNTHIS: One of the principal remedies for dysentery, next to Merc., especially when the patient complains of: spasmodic colic obliging one to bend double, with great restlessness; evacuations of bloody mucus; fulness and pressure in the abdomen, tympanitic distention, chills proceeding from the abdomen, white-coated tongue.

IPECACUANHA: Suitable for fall-dysenteries (bilious dysenteries), especially after giving Aconite, or when the patient complains of: violent tenesmus and colic, with bilious stools, afterwards bloody mucus. (If Ipec. should be insufficient, Coloc. will frequently help.)

Mercurius: Specifically indicated by: violent tenesmus previous to, and still more after stool, as if the bowels would be pressed out, with frequent discharge of pure blood, or bloody, green mucus like stirred eggs; screams during stool (in children); violent colic; nausea, eructations, chilliness and shuddering; cold sweat on the forehead; great exhaustion and trembling of the extremities.

Nux vomica: Frequent, small stools, with tenesmus and discharge of bloody mucus; violent cutting in the umbilical region; great heat and thirst; especially after Aconite or Bryonia, for dysentery occurring during the summer-heat, or when the evacuations have still a putrid smell, and Ars. did not remove this.

Pulsatilla: Nothing but blood-streaked mucus is passed; pappy taste in the mouth, white-coated tongue; desire to vomit or else vomiting of mucus, frequent chills, especially towards evening and whiping moud ing, difficult breathing and whining mood.

Rhus Tox.: Involuntary stools at night, without stools or tenes-mus.

Sulphur: In desperate cases, for: difficult breathing, bloodstreaked mucus stools, frequent urging to stool, violent tenesmus, especially at night, suitable to persons who suffer with hæmorrhoids.

FEVER, HECTIC.

§ 1. Principal remedies: Ars. calc. chin. cocc. ipec. phos. phos-ac. sil. sulph.; also, Bell. con. cupr. dig. hell. ign. jod. kal. lach. lyc. merc. n-vom. puls. sep. stann. staph. veratr. zinc.

§ 2. For slow nervous fever, give: Ars. chin. cocc. merc.

mosch. n-vom. phos-ac. staph. veratr.

Hectic fevers attended with local chronic inflammations, suppurations, &c., require the remedies which correspond to the respective organic affections, principally: 1) Ars. calc. chin. cocc ipec. phos. sil. sulph.; or, 2) Bell. canth. hep. lach. lyc. merc. puls.

Hectic fevers caused by emotions, long grief, homesickness, &c., require: Phos-ac. staph.; or, Ign. lach. merc., and even Ars. graph.

If caused by debilitating loss of animal fluids, by depletion, sexual excesses, &c., give: 1) Chin. n-vom. phos-ac. sulph.; or, 2) Calc. cin. lach, staph., &c.

If coming after severe acute diseases, such as typhus, cholera, &c., give: 1) Cocc. hell. hyos. phos-ac.; or, 2) Ars. chin. veratr.

Hectic fevers may likewise result from dyscrasia (scrophula, syphilis, &c.), or from abuse of medicinal substances, or from slow poisoning, in which case give the antidotes indicated under these respective heads.

§ 3. Particular indications.

Arsenicum: Great emaciation with debility and palpitation of the heart; night-sweats, with hot and dry skin in the day-time; thirst, obliging one to drink frequently, but little at one time; restless sleep, unrefreshing, disturbed by sudden starting; constant desire to lie down; irritable and strange mood; loss of appetite, with weak digestion, &c.

CALCAREA: Constant heat with little thirst, or frequent paroxvsms of flushes of heat, with anguish and palpitation of the heart, or constant shuddering, especially in the evening, with red cheeks: withering, dry skin; emaciation, debility with listlessness; loss of appetite; paroxysms of anguish, in the evening; dry and short cough; great desire to be magnetised; great prostration after talking; sweat breaking out easily; great apprehensions about one's health; slow, weak digestion; night-sweats, &c.

CHINA: Pale complexion and sunken cheeks and eyes; great listlessness; dry and flaccid skin; sleeplessness, or restless sleep, unrefreshing, with anxious dreams; loss of appetite with desire for dainties; or great hunger, even voracious, with weak digestion; ill-humour, malaise, distended abdomen and other ailments after eating; frequent sweats, especially at night; frequent diarrhœic stools, even with discharge of undigested food.

Cocculus: Great debility and trembling after the least exertion; frequent flushes of heat, especially in the face; blue margins around the eyes; dry mouth; loss of appetite; oppression of the chest with orgasm of the blood, and anguish; great sadness; sudden starting from sleep, and anxious dreams; frequent nausea; sweat easily breaks out during motion; bland temper.

IPECACUANHA: Dry and extremely troublesome heat, especially in the evening, with thirst; great restlessness, burning in the palms of the hands and night-sweats; parchment-like skin; desire for dainties only; very listless; out of breath after the least motion. &c.

Phosphorus: Dry cough with short and oppressed breathing; chilliness towards evening, followed by dry heat; debilitating diarrhæa; exhausting clammy night-sweats; emaciation, debility, &c.

PHOSPHORIC ACID: Sad, oppressed mood; taciturn, listless; the hair turns gray; febrile heat in the evening, with anguish and accelerated pulse; debilitating sweats, in the morning, &c.

SILICEA: Pale, livid complexion, dry, short cough; emaciation; loss of appetite; shortness of breath; debility, especially in the joints; febrile heat in the evening or morning, &c.

Sulphur: Febrile heat, especially towards evening, with sharply circumscribed redness of the cheeks (especially the left cheek); dry skin, with thirst; thin, pale face; dry or diarrhæic and slimy stools; short, oppressed breathing; palpitation of the heart; sweat towards morning; debility, tired feeling in the limbs, with heaviness, dry cough, &c.

Compare: Plumonary phthisis, Laryngeal phthisis, Tuber-

CLES, &c.

FEVERS, INFLAMMATORY, SYNOCHA, SYNOCHUS, &c.

§ 1. The principal remedies for inflammatory fevers, or acute tevers with local inflammations, are: 1) Acon. bell. bry. hyos. merc. n-vom. phos. puls. rhus. 2) Ars. cann. cham. kal. lyc. nitr. sulph. veratr. 3) Chin. chinin. coccul. coloc. coff. hep. ipec. lach. mez. natr-m. nitr-ac. op. phos. sec. sep.

12

§ 2. For simple synochal fevers we use: 1) Acon. 2) Bell.

bry. 3) Ars. cham. hyos. merc. puls. rhus. sulph.

If they assume a typhoid character, with symptoms of cerebral irritation, the following remedies are required: 1) Bell. bry. hyos. op. rhus.; or, 2) Cham. coccul. n-vom. phos-ac. stram., and others.

See: Typhus, also: Typhus putridus.

§ 3. If these fevers should be attended by symptoms of meningitis, pleurisy, pneumonia, violent pains in the stomach, enteritis, &c., acute cutaneous eruptions, vomiting, diarrhæa, &c., give the remedies indicated under these respective heads.

In every local inflammation, no matter what organ is affected, Aconite is the principal remedy when the fever is violent, with thirst, dry, burning heat, and a hard (full or not full) pulse; Acon. should be continued until the inflammatory pulse is subdued. Very sensitive persons sometimes require the alternate use of Coffea and Acon.

§ 5. Particular indications.

Aconitum: Burning heat, sometimes preceded by chills or shuddering; burning thirst; dry and burning skin; bloated, hot and red face, or red spots on the cheeks; or redness of face which alternates with paleness especially when the patient raises himself; red, inflamed and painful eyes; sleeplessness; restlessness, agonizing tossing about, sometimes attended with anguish, dread of death, screams; full and hard or subdued pulse; violent stitching, or aching and beating pain in the head; vertigo on raising the head; nightly delirium; dry lips and mouth; clean and moist tongue; hurried, stuttering speech; dark-red urine; oppression of the chest, with short, anxious, hurried breathing; stitches in the chest or sides; short cough; palpitation of the heart; pains in the limbs. (Compare: Bell. bry. cham.)

Belladonna: Internal and external heat with dark-red face and eyes; burning thirst, with aversion to drink, or constant desire to drink without ability to do so; moist (and clammy) skin; sleepiness in the day-time, sleepless at night; or restless sleep with sudden starting, twitching of the limbs, loss of consciousness, muttering, grasping at flocks, or screams and convulsions, or furibond delirium, frightful visions, desire to escape from bed; obstinate and malicious; hot head; violent headache, especially in the forehead, as if every thing would issue through the forehead; dilated pupils; furious and wandering look; photophobia; dry mouth and lips; ulcerated corners of the mouth; hurried and indistinct speech; sore throat with difficulty of swallowing; cough with headache and redness of the face; scanty, yellow

pare: Acon. cham. merc.)

Bryonia: Great heat or chill with chattering of teeth, either one or the other symptom attended with redness and heat of the head and face; nightsweat, especially towards morning; unquenchable thirst, sometimes followed by vomiting; drowsiness, with sudden starting, screams and delirium, as soon as the patient closes his eyes; delirium day and night; irritable mood, or apprehensions on account of his illness, dread of death; taciturn; restless, tossing about, grasping at flocks; great and general debility; hard, full and hurried pulse; stupefying headache, with vertigo on raising the head; dulness of hearing and sight; dry lips; pressure in the pit of the stomach; constipation; dry cough, with pain in the pit of the stomach; stitches in the chest or side; tearing or stitching pains in the limbs. (Compare: Acon. bell. cham. nux-vom.)

Chamomilla: Internal and external heat, sometimes preceded by chill; or heat in the face and eyes, with red cheeks or only one cheek being red; burning thirst, with burning from the mouth to the stomach; sleeplessness, with restlessness and tossing about; or sleep with anxious dreams and sudden starting; great restlessness and anguish; hemicrania; vertigo on raising the head, with darkness or scintillations before the eyes and fainting turns; red and cracked tongue; bitter taste in the mouth and of the food; sour or bitter eructations and vomiting; anguish, tension and pressure in the region of the stomach and hypochondria; colic and diarrhea; hot, burning urine; tearing in the limbs, face and head; fetid breath; distress of breathing, and orthopnea. (Compare: Acon. bell. nux-vom.)

MERCURIUS: Chills alternating with heat, red skin, burning thirst, sometimes with aversion to drink; frequent full pulse; stitching and aching pains in the head; red, bloated face; vertigo on raising one's-self; dry and burning lips; moist tongue or coated white or yellowish; painful sensitiveness in the region of the hypochondria, epigastrium and umbilicus; great anguish, tossing about, sleeplessness; sleepy in the day-time; peevish and disposed to be vehement. (Compare: Bell.)

Nux vom.: Heat, especially in the face, sometimes mixed with shuddering; dry and burning skin; hard, frequent pulse; great debility and fainting turns; anguish with palpitation of the heart and dread of death; extreme nervousness; sleeplessness or comatose sleep; headache worse on stooping; vertigo on stooping; hot, red face. sometimes accompanied with chilliness of the body; dull, dim, red eyes; dry and white tongue; thirst with burning in the throat; aching pain in the stomach and region of the stomach; constipation; bruised feeling in the limbs; vehement, irritable mood. (Compare: Bry. and Cham.)

§ 6. Of other remedies, use:

ARSENICUM: For burning heat at night, with burning in the veins; sleeplessness with great restlessness and tossing about; anguish, with despair and dread of death; great debility and necessity to lie down.

China: Heat, dry mouth, parched and burning lips, red face, delirium, chill as soon as the patient uncovers himself ever so little; debility and pains in the limbs.

COFFEA: Suitable to children: for great restlessness, tossing about, nervousness, screams, weeping.

Hyoscyamus: Violent delirium, sleeplessness from nervous excitement, subsultus tendinum, grasping at flocks; red and hot face; red, staring and sparkling eyes.

Lycorodium: Circumscribed redness of the cheeks, cerebral irritation, debility, dry and red tongue; constipation, ill humour after sleeping, screams, headstrongness and grumbling.

Pulsatilla: Dry heat at night, especially in the face, with heat and redness of one cheek; delirium; whining mood; no thirst, or else unquenchable thirst; tongue covered with white mucus; painfulness of the pit of the stomach; bitter taste, diarrhæic, slimy stools.

Rhus-T.: Great heat, anguish, dry skin, stupefying headache, delirium with desire to escape; red, burning face; red, dry and rough tongue; debility; grasping at flocks.

SULPHUR: Frequently useful for the ailments remaining after the use of Acon. bell. or bry.

Compare: Gastric fever, Bilious lever, Hectic fever, Typhus, and all the local inflammations.

FEVER PUERPERAL.

The best remedies are: 1) Acon. bell. bry. cham. coff. coloc. n-vom. rhus.; or, 2) Arn. ars. hyos. ipec. lam. merc. plat. puls. sec. stram. veratr.

Aconitum: Violent fever, with dry and burning heat, violent, burning thirst and desire for cold drinks; red and hot face, short breath, difficult and sighing breathing; distended abdomen and sensitive to contact; periodical cutting pains through the whole abdomen; scanty, bleeding and fetid lochia. (After Acon. use Bell. or bry.)

Belladonna: Distended abdomen, with stitching and digging pains; violent spasmodic colic, as if part of the intestines were grasped with claws, or painful pressing downwards towards the sexual organs; the abdomen is sensitive to contact; chills in some parts, heat in others, or else burning heat, especially about the face and head, with red face and eyes; aching in the forehead, with throbbing of the carotids; dry mouth with red tongue and thirst; difficult deglutition with spasms of the fauces; sleeplessness with tossing about; or sopor, with furibond delirium or other cerebral symptoms; the lochia are scanty, watery and slimy; or metrorrhagia, with coagulated, fetid blood; the breasts are swollen and inflamed or else flaccid and without milk; constipation, or diarrhæic, slimy stools. (If Bell. be insufficient, try Hyoscyam.)

Bryonia: Distended abdomen, sensitive to contact and motion; constipation; stitching pains in the abdomen, worse by pressure; violent fever, with burning heat of the whole abdomen; burning thirst with desire for cold drinks; irritable temper, vehement, or apprehensive dread of the future, fears about one's recovery.

§ 10. Symptomatic indications.

Arsenicum: Chill and heat set in simultaneously, or alternate with each other, or internal chilliness and external heat, or vice versa; also: burning heat, as if boiling water were flowing through the veins; no sweat, or sweat long after the heat and especially at the commencement of sleep; or little heat and chilliness, and when the chill is accompanied with: pains in the limbs, anguish, uneasiness, flushes of heat when talking or stirring ever so little; oppression of the chest, pulmonary spasms, headache, &c.; during the heat: Restlessuess, pressure in the forehead, vertigo or even delirium; during the sweat: buzzing in the ears; after or during the fever, generally: great debility, vertigo, painfulness of the liver or spleen; nausea; disposition to vomit, violent pains in the stomach; ulcerated corners of the mouth, bitter mouth, trembling, great anguish in the præcordial region, lameness of the extremities, or violent pains; tendency to dropsy. (Compare: Chin. ferr. ipec. veratr.)

China: Nausea, canine hunger, headache, anguish, palpitation of the heart or other ailment previous to the paroxysm: Thirst, generally before or after the chill and heat, or during the sweat, or during the whole of the paroxysm, or during the apyrexia; chill alternating with heat, or the heat sets in long after the chill; no thirst, tendency of blood to the head, headache, pale face during the chill, dry and burning mouth and lips, red face and canine hunger during the heat; great debility during or after the paroxysm; uneasy sleep, yellow complexion; drowsy after a meal, pains in the liver and spleen, bilious or dropsical symptoms, painfulness or swelling of the liver and spleen, &c.

IGNATIA: Thirst only during the chill; chill moderated by external heat; external heat with partial internal shuddering; nausea and vomiting; pale colour of the skin and pains in the back during the chill; no thirst, headache, vertigo, delirium, pale face, or else alternately pale and red, or only one cheek red, during the heat; headache, pain in the pit of the stomach; great languor, deep sleep with stertorous breathing, after or during the fever; eruption on the lips and in the corners of the mouth, nettle-rash, &c.

IPECACUANHA: Much chilliness with little heat, or much heat and little chilliness; the chill is increased by external heat; no thirst or but little during the chill, violent thirst during the heat; previous to or between the paroxysms: nausea, vomiting and other gastric symptoms, with clean or coated tongue and oppression of the chest.—Even if Ipec. should not be exactly indicated, yet it is very apt to effect a favourable change, so that Arn. chin. ign. nux v., or Ars. carb-veg. or cin. will complete the cure.

LACHESIS: Chills after a meal or in the afternoon, with violent pains in the limbs and pleuritic stitches, oppression of the chest and convulsive motions; violent headache during the heat; delirium, burning thirst, red face, restlessness, internal shudderings during the heat, livid complexion, debility, prostration between the paroxysms, heat, especially at night; sweat after the heat, the fever is easily excited by eating sour things.

NATRUM MURIATICUM: Constant chilliness; heat with stupe-faction, obscuration of sight, vertigo, red face; violent headache during the heat, bone-pains, yellowish complexion, debility, ulcerated corners of the mouth, thirst during the chill and especially during the heat; dry tongue; painful sensitiveness of the pit of the stomach to contact; bitter taste and no appetite.

Nux vomica; Great debility from the commencement, then chill and heat; or heat first, then chill; or external heat and internal chill, or vice versa; constant desire to be covered, even during the heat and sweat; during the chill, the skin, hands, feet and face are blue; cold, or pleuritic stitches, stitches in the abdomen, pains in the back and small of the back, or drawing in the limbs; during the heat: headache, buzzing in the ears, distress in the chest, heat about the head and face, red cheeks and thirst during the chill and heat; gastric or bilious symptoms, vertigo, anguish and constipation. Is frequently suitable after

Pulsatilla: No thirst during the fever, or thirst only during the heat; or chill and heat simultaneously, with thirst; aggravation in the afternoon and evening; headache, anguish and oppression during the chill; during the heat: red and bloated face, sweat in the face, shuddering as soon as the patient uncovers himself, or only red cheeks; or, between the paroxysms: gastric or bilious symptoms, bitter mouth, slimy, bilious or sour vomiting, diarrhæa or constipation, oppression of the chest, moist cough or headache. Is frequently suitable after Lachesis, or when the fever comes on again after overloading the stomach ever so little. (Compare Cin. ign nux-v., or Ant. and cham.)

Rhus Tox.: Chill and heat together, the paroxysms generally in the evening or at night, sweat after midnight or towards morning; during the chill: pains in the limbs, headache, vertigo, toothache; during or between the paroxysms: convulsive twitching of the limbs, nettle-rash, colic, diarrhæa and gastric affections; jaundice, sleeplessness with tossing about, thirst at night, palpitation of the heart with anguish and pressure in the pit of the stomach. (Compare Ars. ign. nux-v. puls.)

§ 11. Moreover, we require to use:

IODIUM: Scrofulous or arthritic induration of the inguinal, cervical or axillary glands.

MERCURIUS: Cold swellings, inflammation, swelling or suppuration of the submaxillary, axillary, inguinal or parotid glands, especially in scrofulous or syphilitic individuals.—After Merc. are frequently suitable: Dulc. bell. hep., or rhus-t.

NITRI AC.: Inflammatory swelling or suppuration of the inguinal or axillary glands, especially after abuse of mercury, or in syphilitic subjects.

Nux vom.: Inflammation of the lymphatic vessels, with heat and shining redness, hardness and painfulness.—Nux-v. is frequently suitable after Bell.

SILICEA: Scrofulous induration and swelling of the cervical, parotid, axillary and inguinal glands, with or without inflammation.

Spongia: Scrofulous swelling and induration of the cervical glands.

SULPHUR: Swelling, induration and suppuration of the inguinal, axiltary and submaxillary glands, also of the cervical and even cutaneous glands, either from scrofula or in consequence of some cutaneous disease, such as scarlatina, &c., or from abuse of mercury.*

GONORRHŒA.

§ 1. For inflammatory gonorrhea the best remedy is Cannabis 30, 3 pellets, only one dose, allowing it to act about a week. This is better than the tincture, and will produce a favourable change, provided the patient keeps perfectly quiet. After the inflammatory symptoms have been subdued, give Merc. or sulph., either alone or alternately; Merc. for a greenish and purulent, Sulph. for a whitish, serous, and painless discharge.

Cantharides are indicated by violent inflammation, suppression of urine, priapism, painful erections, &c.; or Petrosel., when the ischuria does neither yield to Merc. nor sulph.

Acon., in water, is sometimes excellent for violent pains.

- § 3. The best remedies for secondary gonorrhea, especially when it had been mismanaged with large doses of Copaira or Cubebs, are Sulph. and Merc.; or: Caps. ferr. natr-m. nitr-ac. n-vom. sep. thuj.—Caps. is indicated by a whitish, thick discharge like cream, with burning during micturition; if Caps. should be insufficient, give Ferr. or nux-vom.—For strictures, give: 1) Clem. petr. sulph. 2) Dig. dulc. puls. rhus.
- § 4. Figwarts require: Nitr-ac. thuj. or cinnab.; Merc. and sulph. sometimes effect a cure.

For gonorrhæa and chancre combined, give Merc.

§ 5. The following remedies have likewise been recommended: Agn. con. cop. cub. dulc. hep. led. lyc. merc-c. mez. petr. sabin. selen.—Agnus is suitable when the sexual instinct has become extinct or greatly diminished, and when there is a whitish serous gleet, without pain.

§ 3. Particular indications:

ACONITUM: Bleeding piles, with stitches and pressure in the anus, feeling of repletion in the abdomen, with tension, pressure and colicky pains; pains in the small of the back, as if the back or the os-sacrum were broken.

Antimonium: Copious secretion of a light-yellow mucus, with burning, creeping, itching or even smarting at the anus. (Is frequently suitable in alternation with Puls.)

ARSENICUM: Burning discharge of blood, with burning and stitching pains in the tumors; heat and restlessness, burning in all the veins, or great debility. (Is frequently suitable in alternation with Carb-v.)

Belladonna: Bleeding piles, with violent pains in the small of the back, as if the back would break. (If Bell. should not be sufficient, give Hep.)

CALCAREA: After Sulph., if this should be insufficient or if it should have been abused; for frequent bleeding of the piles, or for suppression of habitual bleeding.

CAPSICUM: The tumors are very large, with discharge of blood or bloody mucus from the rectum, burning pains at the anus; painful drawing in the small of the back and back; colic.

Carbo veg.: Large bluish tumors, with stitching pains in the small of the back, stiffness of the back, burning and tearing in the limbs; constipation, with burning stools and discharge of blood; frequent tendency of the blood to the head, bleeding of the nose, flatulence, slow action of the bowels, &c., also for copious and burning discharge of mucus from the rectum.

Chamomilla: Flowing piles, with compressive pains in the abdomen, frequent urging to stool, occasional burning and corrosive diarrhœic stools; tearing pains in the small of the back, especially at night; or painful and ulcerated rhagades of the anus.

IGNATIA: Violent stitches in the rectum, itching and creeping at the anus, copious discharge of blood, prolapsus recti during stool, or sore, contractive pain of the rectum, with frequent, in effectual stools and discharges of blood-streaked mucus.

MURIATIC AC.: The hæmorrhoidal tumors are inflamed, swollen, bluish, with swelling of the anus, sore pains, violent stitches and great sensitiveness to contact.

Nux vomica: Blind and flowing, or irregular piles, especially suitable to persons who lead a sedentary life or use too much coffee or spirits; also suitable to preguant females or persons affected with worms. &c.; generally for: stitching, burning or itching of the anus; stitches and shocks in the small of the back, with bruised pain so that the patient is unable to raise himself; frequent constipation with ineffectual urging to stool, and with sensation as if the anus were closed or constricted; frequent tendency of the blood to the head or abdomen, with distention of the epigastrium and hypochondria; heaviness of the head, inability to think, vertigo; ischuria, suppression of urine; discharge of blood and mucus from the anus.

Sulphur: If Nux should be insufficient, especially for alternate constipation and discharges of blood-streaked mucus; feeling of soreness at the anus, with itching and stitches; frequent tendency of the blood to the head; palpitation of the heart; the vascular system is easily excited, throbbing in the whole abdomen, with anguish and oppression, after the least emotion; weak digestion; dysuria; bleeding, burning and frequent protrusion of the hemorrhoidal tumors. (Sulph is best given in alternation with Nux-v.; these two remedies in alternation are sufficient in most cases to effect a cure.)

After-ailments require: 1) Carb-v. chin. 2) Ars. coff. ign. sulph.

Preventive remedies: Ars. n-vom. sulph., alternately, at long intervals, one dose only.

§ 3. Particular indications.

Aconitum: The paroxysm is preceded by: Orgasmus sanguinis in the chest, with feeling of fulness and burning pain; palpitation of the heart, anguish, restlessness, aggravation on lying down; pale face, expression of anguish in the countenance; copious discharge of blood from time to time, even when coughing but very little. (After Acon. are sometimes suitable: Ars. and

'ARNICA: The hæmorrhage is caused by mechanical injury, fall, blow on the breast or back; or for: slight expectoration of black and coagulated blood, with heavy breathing, stitching, burning and contraction in the chest, palpitation of the heart, great heat in the abdomen, and fainting fits; or for: discharge of bright-red, frothy blood, mixed with mucus and coagulated lumps; tickling under the sternum; stitching in the head and bruised pain in the region of the ribs when coughing. (In traumatic hæmorrhage it may sometimes be necessary to give a dose of Acon. previous to Arn.)

Arsenicum: If Aconite be insufficient, and for: Great anguish with palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, dry, burning heat, and restlessness driving one out of bed; also after Chin. arn. ferr. in violent hæmorrhages,—or after Hyoscyam., in the blood-spitting of drunkards.—After Ars. are sometimes suitable: Ipec. nux-

v. sulph., especially in chronic hæmorrhage.

Belladonna: Constant tickling in the throat, with desire to cough and aggravation of the hæmorrhage by coughing; sensation as if the chest were filled with blood, with aching or stitching pains which are made worse by motion.

Carbo veg.: Violent, burning pains in the chest, even after the hæmorrhage; in general suitable to persons who are very sensitive to changes of weather or who suffer with mercurial symptoms.

China: Bloody expectoration during violent cough which was first hollow, dry and painful, with taste of blood in the mouth; alternate shiverings and flushes of heat; great debility with constant desire to lie down; frequent sweats; trembling, obscuration of sight or dulness of the head.—Or after great loss of blood, the patient being pale and cold, with fainting fits and convulsive twitching of the hands and facial muscles. (After Chin. are frequently suitable, especially for the last-mentioned symptoms, Ferr. or Arn., also Ars.)

DULCAMARA: Constant titillation in the larynx, with desire to cough; expectoration of bright-red blood, with aggravation during rest; the hæmorrhage is caused by a cold or a loose cough which had existed for some time previous.

FERRUM: Scanty expectoration of pure bright-red blood during a slight paroxysm of cough, with pains between the scapulæ, heavy breath, especially at night; inability to sit; relief by motion, but frequent desire to lie down, and great debility after talking. (Is suitable to thin persons, of yellowish colour of the skin, and whose sleep is frequently disturbed:—also after China in severe cases.)

Hyoscyamus: The discharge of blood is preceded by a dry cough, especially at night, obliging the patient to get up; frequent sudden starting from sleep; also suitable to drunkards, particularly if Op. and Nux-v. should not be sufficient. (In such a case, Ars. is sometimes suitable after Hyoscyamus.)

IGNATIA: For debility after the arrest of the hæmorrhage, with disposition to be vehement and vexed.

IPECACUANHA: If, after Acon., there remain: Taste of blood in the mouth, frequent hacking with expectoration of blood-streaked mucus, nausea and debility; also after the incomplete action of Ars., the paroxysm recurring.

Nux vom: After Ipec. or Ars. (and, in drunkards, after Op.) for: Tickling in the chest, with cough distressing the head; aggravation towards morning, especially in persons of a lively and choleric temperament; or when the hæmorrhage is occasioned by suppression of the hæmorrhoidal flux, by a fit of anger or by a cold. (In the latter case Sulph. is frequently suitable after Nux-v.; Hyos. and Ars. are especially suitable to drunkards,)

Opium: Suitable to persons who are addicted to drinking, in severe cases; or for: discharge of a thick, frothy blood; the cough is aggravated by swallowing; oppression or heavy breathing and anguish; burning at the heart, tremor of the arms, and feeble voice: anxious sleep with sudden starting; coldness, especially of the extremities, or heat, especially in the chest or other parts of the trunk. (After Op, Nux-v, is frequently suitable.)

Pulsatilla: In obstinate cases, discharge of black and coagulated blood; anguish and shuddering, especially at night; debility, pains especially in the lower part of the chest; qualmishness or empty feeling in the pit of the stomach; suitable to timorous, phlegmatic and readily-weeping individuals: or for hæmorrhage from suppression of the menses. (In this case Cocc. is sometimes suitable.)

RHUS TOX.: Bright-red blood, aggravation of the symptoms from chagrin or the least emotions; disposition to be angry, uneasy and timid mood; tickling in the chest.

Sulphur: Frequently suitable after Nux, to persons affected with piles, or after Ars. to prevent relapses.

For menorrhagia: Acon. bell. bry. calc. cham. ign. ipec. magn-m. natr-m. n-vom. phosph. plat. sec. sep. sil. sulph. veratr.

For hamorrhage during pregnancy, or after confinement or a miscarriage: 1) Bell. cham. croc. ferr. plat. sabin.; or 2) Arn. bry. cinnam. hyos. ipec.

Hæmorrhages at the critical age, require: Puls., or Bell. lach.

§ 3. Particular indications:

Arnica: Hæmorrhage in consequence of missing a step, straining, by lifting a heavy weight, especially in pregnant females, provided cinnam. had been ineffectual.

BELLADONNA: The blood is neither bright nor dark; violent aching and tensive pains in the abdomen; constrictive or distensive sensation; painful pressure over the sexual organs as if every thing would fall through them, with pain in the loins as if the os-sacrum would break.

Bryonia: Frequently after Croc., if ineffectual, or for profuse discharge of a dark-red blood, with violent, aching pains in the loins, distensive pain in the temples, violent pressure in the abdomen, nausea, vertigo and fainting fits.

Chamomilla: Discharge of a dark-red, or black, fetid blood, with lumps, the discharge taking place by fits and starts; with labour-like pains in the abdomen; great thirst, cold limbs, pale face, debility and even fainting fits, obscuration of sight and buzzing in the ears.

China: Paroxysmal discharges of blood, with spasmodic pains in the uterus; colic; frequent urging to urinate, and painful tension in the abdomen; or suitable to persons who have lost much blood, even in severe cases, with heaviness of the head, vertigo, vanishing of the senses, sopor, fainting fits, cold extremities, pale or bluish face and hands, with convulsive jerks across the abdomen.

CINNAMONUM: Suitable to pregnant or lying-in females, after straining, missing a step, or some other exertion. (Give Arn. if Cham. be insufficient.)

CROCUS: Black, glutinous, lumpy blood, Cham. chin. ferr. being insufficient; or for: Bounding and turning in the abdomen as if of something alive; yellowish, sallow complexion; debility with vertigo, dim eyes, fainting turns; sadness, and great anxiety and restlessness.

Hyoscyamus: Labour-like pains, with drawing in the loins, kidneys and extremities; heat through the whole body, with full and quick pulse, swelling of the veins of the hands or face, great restlessness; increased liveliness, trembling through the whole body; or: the extremities go to sleep, with dulness, obscuration of sight, delirium, subsultus tendinum or convulsive twitching of the limbs alternating with tetanic rigidity of the extremities.

Ferrom: Copious discharge of partly fluid, and partly black and coagulated blood, with pains in the loins and labour-like colic; violent vascular excitement, with headache, vertigo, glowing-red face, full and hard pulse. (After Ferr., Chin. is frequently suit-

IPECACUANHA: Suitable to pregnant females, or after parturition, with copious and uninterrupted discharge of fluid and brighted blood; cutting pain in the umbilical region; violent pressure over the uterus and rectum, with shuddering and chilliness, heat about the head, debility, pale face, nausea and constant desire to lie down.

PLATINA: Thick and dark blood, not coagulated, with drawing pains in the loins extending to the inguinal region, and causing a sensation as if all the inner parts would be drawn down, or great sexual excitement.

Pulsatilla: The hæmorrhage ceases for a short time and then recommences with redoubled force, the blood being black, mixed with coagulated lumps; labour-like pains; suitable to pregnant females and females at the critical period, or after parturition, or when the placenta adheres.

Sabina: After parturition, or miscarriage, with black, dark, lumpy blood; pains in the abdomen and loins, like labour-pains; great debility or rheumatic pains in the extremities or head.

Secale: After parturition or miscarriage, suitable to debilitated and cachectic persons; with cold extremities, pale or sallow face, small and almost suppressed pulse, anxiety, dread of death.

SEPIA: Induration of the neck of the uterus, with spasmodic colic, painful pressure over the sexual organs, and transitory stitches through the parts.

§ 5. Particular indications:

Aconitum: Violent, stupefying, compressive, or contractive pains, especially over the root of the nose; great heaviness and feeling of fulness in the forehead and temples, as if the head would burst; burning pains through the brain, or drawing pains in one side of the head; headache with buzzing in the ears and coryza, or with desire to vomit; moaning, lamenting, dread of death, excessive sensitiveness to noise or motion; pale and cold, or else red and bloated face with red eyes; strong, full and quick, or small and even intermittent pulse; sensation as if the hair were pulled, or as if a ball were rising into the brain, spreading a coolness; aggravation by motion, when talking, raising one's self and drinking; relief in the open air. (After Acon. are frequently suitable: Bell. bry. or cham.)

Antimonium: When, in consequence of derangement of the stomach, indigestion, cold, or suppressed eruption, the following symptoms make their appearance: pain in the forehead, as if it would break, or boring, crampy, dull (and tearing) pains, especially in the forehead, temples or vertex; aggravation on going up-stairs; relief in the open air; falling off of the hair; nausea, loathing, loss of appetite, eructations, desire to vomit. (This medicine is frequently suitable after Puls.) Belladonna: Great fullness and violent aching pains, or pains as if the head would split, or as if every thing would issue through the forehead or one side; pains over the eyes and nose. or semi-lateral, drawing, tearing or stitching pains; wavering shocks and undulations in the head, as of water, with sensation as if the skull were too thin; violent throbbing of the temporal arteries, and swelling of the veins of the head; the headache sets in every afternoon and lasts until morning; it gets worse by motion, especially by moving the eyes, or by ascending an eminence, by contact, in the open air, or in a draught of air, or at night in the warm bed; Bell. is particularly suitable when the headache is accompanied by vertigo, stupefaction, red and bloated face, red eyes; excessive sensitiveness to noise, light, shock or contact; ill humour; moaning, desire to remain in bed, buzzing in the ears, obscuration of sight. (After Bell. are frequently suitable: Hep. merc. or plat.)

BBYONIA: Distensive pressure or compressive sensation in the head, with feeling of fulness as if everything would issue through the forehead; beating, jerking or drawing pains and stitches in the head, especially on one side, or from the orbital bones to the temple; burning pain in the forehead, or heat in the head; headache with vomiting, nausea, and desire to lie down; the headache sets in every day after dinner, or early in the morning on waking and first opening one's eyes; aggravation by walking, stooping, and by contact; vehement, quarrelsome disposition; frequent chills. After Bry. are frequently suitable Rhus-t., or Nux-vom CALCAREA: Stupefying, aching, beating or hammering pains, or hemicrania with nausea, eructations and desire to lie down; or boring in the forehead as if the head would split; heat or feeling of coldness in the head; cloudiness and dullness of the head as if in a vice; the headache sets in every morning on waking; aggravation by mental labour, spirits, bodily exertions, motion, stooping, chagrin, &c.; falling off of the hair. (Calc. is particularly suitable after Sulph. or nitr-ac. After Calc. are frequently suitable Lyc nitr-ac. or sil.

CAPSICUM: Semi-lateral, stitching and aching pains, with nausea, vomiting and weak memory, or pains as if the skull would split: the pains get worse by moving the head or eyes, by walking, in the open air and in cold; especially suitable to phlegmatic, indolent persons of suspicious disposition, or to headstrong, clumsy people, afraid of exercise or the open air, with frequent chills, especially after drinking.

Chamomilla: Suitable to children and to persons who are driven to despair by the least pain; for tearing and jerking in one side of the head (down to the jaws); stitching, heaviness or painful beating in the head; one cheek is red, the other pale; hot sweat about the head, even the hair; bloated face, painful eyes; catarrhal state of the throat or brouchi, or bitter, foul taste in the mouth, &c. (Cham. is suitable after Acon. or coff.; after Cham. are frequently suitable: Bell. and puls.)

China: Suitable to persons who are sensitive to pain, especially for: aching pains at night that prevent sleep, or piercing, jerking pains in the forehead as if the contents would issue through it; boring in the vertex, with contusive pain in the brain; or jerking, tearing, and sensation as if the skull would split; aggravation by contact, reflection, conversation, open air, motion, draughts of air and wind; the hairy scalp and the hair are very sensitive to contact; or suitable to persons of a peevish, dissatisfied disposition; or to obstinate, disobedient children that are fond of dainties, of pale complexion, with flushes of heat and redness, loquacity and restlessness at night. (Is suitable after Coff. and caps.)

COFFEA: Pain as if a nail were driven into the head, or as if the brain were torn or bruised; sensitiveness to noise, music, and to pain; which appears intolerable, with despair, screams, weeping, restlessness and great anguish, chilliness, aversion to the open air; especially suitable to persons who do not use coffee, or to persons, who take a momentary dislike to coffee, though they are otherwise fond of it; the headache is caused by thinking, chagrin, a cold, &c. (Is frequently suitable after Acon. or cham.; or before Ign. nux-v. or puls.)

Colocynthis: Violent semi-lateral, tearing, drawing pains, or crampy aching pains, with nausea and vomiting; compressive sensation in the forehead, worse when stooping or lying on the back; the headache sets in every afternoon or evening, with great anguish and restlessness, obliging one to leave the bed; violent pain, extorting cries from the patient; sweat smelling like urine; copious watery urine during the pains, or scanty, fetid urine between the paroxysms.

IGNATIA: Aching pains over the nose; worse or better when stooping, or jerking and beating, pressing as if the parts would split, or boring stitches deep in the brain; tearing in the forehead, and sensation as if a nail had been driven into the brain, with nausea, obscuration of sight, photophobia, pale face, copious and watery urine; momentary disappearance of the pains by a change of position; they come on again after eating, in the evening after lying down, or early after rising; aggravation by coffee, brandy, tobacco and strong odours; tendency to start, fitful mood, taciturn and sad. (Is frequently suitable after Cham.

puls or nux-vom..)

MERCURIUS: Feeling of fulness as if the skull would split, or as if the head were tied up with a bandage; tearing, burning or stitching and boring pains, or semilateral tearing down to the teeth and neck, with stitches in the ears; violent aggravation at night, by the warmth of the bed, also by contact, hot and cold things; constant night-sweat, but without relief.

Nux vomica: Pain as from a nail driven into the brain, or stitching pains with nausea and sour vomiting; stitches and pressure in one side of the head, worse towards morning, driving the patient out of his senses; excessive sensitiveness of the brain to motion and walking; heaviness of the head, especially when moving the eyes, thinking, with sensation as if the skull would split; whizzing in the head, with vertigo, or with shocks when walking; contusive pain in the brain; headache every morning on waking, after eating, in the open air, when stooping, or during motion, even when merely moving the eyes; the pains come on again after drinking coffee, with aversion to coffee; pale, worn out look; coustipation, with tendency of the blood to the head; irritable, vehement disposition, or lively, sanguine temper, &c. (Compare Bry. cham. coff. ign. and puls.)

Pulsatilla: Tearing pains, worse towards evening; or beating stitches, early after rising and in the evening after lying down; semilateral tearing pains, shocks and stitches, with vertigo, desire to vomit; heaviness in the head; obscuration of sight; photophobia; whizzing, tearing, darting or jerking in the ears; pale face, whining mood, loss of appetite, no thirst, chill, anguish, paroxysms of bleeding at the nose; palpitation of the heart; aggravation in the evening, also during rest, and especially when sitting; relief in the open air, decrease of the headache by pressing or bandaging the head; bland temper, or else cold and phlegmatic.

Rhus Tox.: Tearing, stitching pains, extending to the ears, root of the nose, malar bones and jaws, with painfulness of the teeth and gums; burning or beating pains; fullness and oppressive heaviness of the head; headache immediately after a meal; desire to be quiet and lie down; the pains are excited again by the least chagrin, or by walking in the open air; wavering of the brain when stepping, and creeping in the head. (Is frequently suitable after Bryonia.)

SEPIA: Stitching and boring pains, extorting cries from the patient, with nausea and vomiting; headache every morning; semilateral tearing and drawing in the head; pressure and drawing in the occiput; photophobia, with inability to open one's eyes; constipation; sexual desire; aversion to food; tendency of the blood to the head, with heaviness and confusion; pressure over the eyes, when looking at bright day-light; feeling of coldness about the head.

SILICEA: Beating pains with heat and tendency of the blood to the head; headache every morning or afternoon; aggravation by mental labour, talking or stooping; pains at night from the nape of the neck to the vertex; sensation as if the head would split, and as if the brain would issue through the forehead and eyes; semilateral stitching or tearing pains, extending to the nose and face; tumours on the head; frequent sweat about the head; great sensitiveness of the scalp; falling off of the hair. (Is frequently suitable after Hep. or Lyc.)

SULPHUR: Fullness, pressure and heaviness of the head, especially forehead; or pressure as if the head would split; tearing, stitching, drawing or jerking pains, especially on one side; or beating and painful bubbling in the head, with heat and tendency of the blood to the head; roaring in the head; aching pain over the eyes, obliging one to knit one's brow or to close one's eyes; or headache with dim sight, inability to think, nausea and desire to vomit; headache every week, or every morning or night; or in the evening in bed, or after a meal; aggravation by thinking, in the open air, by walking; great sensitiveness of the scalp to contact; falling off of the hair.

VERATRUM: Maddening pains; semilateral beating with pressure, or constriction in the brain, with constriction of the throat; sensation as if the brain were bruised; pains in the stomach; painful rigidity of the nape of the neck; copious discharge of clear urine; nausea, vomiting, &c.; great debility even unto fainting, with great malaise on raising one's-self from a recumbent posture; chilliness and cold sweat over the whole body; thirst; diarrhœic stools, or else constipation with tendency of blood to the head.

§ 6. Besides, we may use:

Arnica: For pains over one eye with greenish vomiting; crampy compression in the forehead, as if the brain were compressed and indurated; heat in the head, with coldness of the rest of the body.

ARSENICUM: Semilateral beating pains, with nausea, buzzing in the ears, &c., periodically, especially after a meal, or in the morning, or at night, or in the evening, in bed, with weeping and moaning; the pains sometimes become maddening; painfulness of the scalp; cold applications relieve the pain.

Aurum: Bruised pains, especially early in the morning, or during mental labour, so that the ideas frequently become confused; roaring in the head, in hysteric females.

CARB-VEG.: Aching or beating pains over the eyes, or in the whole head, commencing at the nape of the neck; the pains set in especially in the evening or after a meal, with tendency of the blood to the head, and heat in the head.

CHINA: Tearing, drawing or oppressive pains, as from a load on the head, worse in the open air and when reading or thinking; with coryza.

Cocculus: Headache with feeling of emptiness in the head, or with bilious vomiting.

Dulcamara: Oppressive, stupefying pain in the forehead, with stoppage of the nose; or boring and burning in the forehead, with digging in the brain; aggravation during motion, even when talking, with heaviness in the head.

HEPAR: Pain as from a nail in the brain; violent boring in the head, or nightly pains as if the forehead would be pulled out, with painful tumours on the head.

IPECACUANHA: Headache with nausea; sensation extending to the tongue as if the brain were bruised; vomiting or desire to vomit.

§ 4. Particular symptomatic indications:

Belladonna: Tendency of blood to the head, with buzzing in the ears, scintillations, pressing pain in the forehead from within outwards, especially in young, plethoric, large individuals; also in scrofulous subjects, with a fine, delicate skin, red and white cheeks; also after apoplexy, meningitis, typhus, &c

CALCAREA: Deafness as if the ears were closed; frequent buzzing, rolling or ringing, singing and musical sounds in the ears; or frequent beating and heat in the ears; constant dryness of the ears, or purulent discharge; aching pain in the forehead, &c.

CAUSTICUM: Sensation as if the ears were stopped up, with buzzing and roaring in the head; loud reverberation of sounds and of one's own words in the ears; otorrhœa, rheumatic pains in the ears and extremities; extreme sensitiveness to cold winds, &c.

Graphites: Great dryness in the ears, or purulent discharge; hard hearing, which sometimes ceases while riding in a carriage; singing, whizzing and ringing, or buzzing and thundering reports in the ears, especially at night, or sensation as if air were penetrating into the eustachian tube; herpes and crusts around the ears and on other parts of the body.

HYOSCYAMUS: Hard hearing as if stupefied, especially after apoplexy, if Bell. proves ineffectual.

LACHESIS: Dry ears, with hard and pale, or white and pappy cerumen; painful beating, cracking or whizzing, rolling and drumming in the ears, with reverberation of the sounds; soreness and crusts around the ears, &c. (Frequently suitable after Caust.

LEDUM: The ears feel as if closed, with whizzing in the ears; dullness and stupefaction of the head on the affected side, feeling of stiffness in the scalp, and after suppression of otorrhea or of coryza or catarrh of the eyes.

Lycorodium: Roaring and whizzing in the ears, or cracking as of air-vesicles; sensation as if hot blood were tending towards the ears; humid scurf in the region of the ear, or on the ears.

MERCURIUS: Stoppage of the ears discontinuing when swallowing or blowing one's nose; loud reverberation of all the sounds in the ear; ringing, buzzing and whizzing, especially in the evening, or purulent otorrhæa with ulceration of the ears; rheumatic pains in the ears or head, or in the teeth; great tendency to sweat, &c.

MANGANUM: Frequent otalgia, with tearing and stitching extending to the tympanum; ulcerative pain in the ears; whizzing and rushing in the ears, especially after stooping; report, when swallowing or blowing one's nose; hard hearing as if the ear were stopped up, the ear opening when blowing one's nose; the deafness increases or decreases according as the weather is fair or bad.

NITRI ACIDUM: Dry ears, or discharge of cerumen; stoppage of the ears, with roaring, beating and detonations; frequent toothache, with scorbutic affection of the gums; stitches in the teeth and ears.

OPIUM: Suitable after apoplexy, or to patients who are liable to epileptic fits; or in alternation with Bell. or Hyoscyam.

Petroleum: Painful dryness of the inner ear, or discharge of blood and pus; ringing, or rumbling and roaring in the ears; herpes and soreness on or near the ears; frequent toothache with swollen cheek; bleeding of the gums, pressing pains in the occiput, from within outwards, &c. (Is frequently suitable after Nitr-ac.)

Phosphorus: Hard hearing, especially deep to the human voice, with loud reverberation of the sounds. especially words, in the ears, extending to the inner head; tendency of blood to the ears, with beating and throbbing; dry feeling, or discharge of cerumen.

Pulsatilla: Hard, black or liquid cerumen, with discharge stitching pains in the ears, or discharge of pus or blood; the ears are stopped with roaring and whizzing, or beating, murmuring, ringing or chirping; especially suitable to persons of a bland disposition, or to females who are liable to leucorrhæa and other irregularities of the urinary system.

SILICEA: Discharge of cerumen; stoppage, passing off with a report, or when blowing the nose; deafness, especially to the human voice, also without noise in the ears, or also with ringing, gurgling and fluttering; the deafness is worse when the moon changes, especially at full or new moon; deafness, alternating with extreme sensitiveness of hearing; crusts behind the ears.

SULPHUR: Deafness, especially to the human voice; frequent stoppage of the ears, especially when eating or blowing one's nose; also on one side only; murmuring or undulating sensation in the ears as if caused by water, or whizzing and roaring; tendency of blood to the head; disposition to coryza or other blennorrheas, discharge of the ears, &c.

According to several practical observations communicated to me by a friend and colleague, Bromine 30 (and even higher) is an excellent remedy for many diseases of the heart, and also polypi of the heart; and Ars. and Kulic. are excellent remedies for dropsy of the pericardium and pericarditis.

§ 4. Compare: Congestion of the chest, Emotions, Plethora, &c.

HEATED, ILL EFFECTS OF GETTING, in consequence of exertions, exposure to the heat of the sun, &c.

§ 1. The best remedies are: 1) Acon. ant. bell. bry. camph. carb-veg. sil.; or: 2) Op. thuj. zinc.

δ 2. Particular indications:

Aconitum: For the consequences of a stroke of the sun, or of excessive heat of the stove, especially when the patient had been sleeping in the sun or near the hot stove.

Antimonium: One is unable to bear the heat of the sun, or is exhausted by doing the least work in the sun, with night-sweat, constant desire to sleep, gastric symptoms, &c., and in general, if Bryon. should not be sufficient to remove these symptoms.

Belladonna: Aconite being insufficient, and especially for: headache, with feeling of fullness, and sensation as if every thing would issue through the forehead; worse when stooping, moving or by the least emotion; great anguish and restlessness, rage, or great irritation of the cerebral nerves, or great fearfulness, tendency to start, and dread of the things around and near one; disposition to weep and scream.

BRYONIA: Painful feeling of fulness in the head; loss of appetite, or loathing, vomiting and diarrhea; milk is indigestible; mobility and trembling; the pressure of the clothes on the hypochondria is troublesome; vehement disposition, fits of anger; dread of the future.

CAMPHOR: Acon. or Bell. being insufficient to remove the effects of heat.

Carbo veg.: Every exposure to heat causes headache, or heaviness, pulsative pains and pressure over the eyes; pain in the eyes, whenever the patient endeavours to look at a thing.

SILICEA: The heat causes nausea or other gastric ailments, for which Ant. and Bry. are insufficient.

- § 3. For the weariness which one often experiences in heavy sultry weather, give: 1) Bry. carb-veg. n-vom. rhod. sil.; or 2) Caust. lach. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. petr. phosph.

HEMERALOPIA.—The best remedies for this kind of blindness, which commences at twilight, are: 1) Bell. veratr.; or, 2) Merc. hyos. puls. stram.

See: Amblyopia, for particular indications.

HEPAR SULPHURIS, ILL EFFECTS OF.

For poisoning with large doses: 1) Vinegar diluted with water, or citric acid; 2) Mucilaginous drinks and the like, or injections.

For secondary ailments and the consequences of medicinal abuse of Hepar, give: 1) Bell.; or, 2) Cham. sil. 3) Alum. ign.

HERNIA.

§ 1. The best remedies for the cure of hernia, are: 1) Ammmaur. cocc. lyc. magn-c. n-vom. sil. sulph-ac. veratr. 2) Cham. clem. magn-arct. nitr-ac. rhus. sil. sulph

Hernia of little children, occasioned by constant screaming, requires: Aur. cocc. n-vom. nitr-ac. or veratr.

§ 2. Incarceration of hernia is generally cured, without operation, by: 1) Acon. n-vom. op. sulph.; or, 2) Ars. bell. lach. veratr.

Aconitum: Violent inflammation of the parts, with burning pains in the abdomen as from hot coal, extreme sensitiveness to contact, nausea, bitter, bilious vomiting, anguish and cold sweat; in most cases relief is obtained by one dose, which may be followed by a second dose in one hour; but if no relief sets in after the third dose, give Sulphur. (See below)

Nux vom.: The swelling is less painful or sensitive to contact, and the vomiting is less violent, but there is great difficulty of breathing; the incarceration is caused by a cold, exposure to heat, by a fit of anger or by chagrin, or also by irregular living, &c.

(May be repeated every two hours.)

OPIUM: If no relief is obtained after the second dose of Nux, or if the following symptoms occur from the commencement: Red face; distended, hard abdomen, putrid eructations or vomiting of fæcal matter. (Repeat every fifteen minutes until relieved.)

If the vomiting should be attended by cold sweat and coldness of the extremities, Veratr. deserves a preference; and if no improvement takes place after the second dose, give Bell.

SULPHUR: If Aconite remains without effect, or if the bilious vomiting should change to sour. If, after giving the Sulphur, the patient should go to sleep, do not disturb him for some hours at least.

If gangrenous symptoms should set in, give Lach.; or Ars. if Lach. should not suffice.

HEPATITIS, inflammation of the liver, with other diseases.

- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. bell. bry. cham. chin. lach. merc. n-vom. puls. sulph. 2) Aur. calc. kal. lyc. magn-m. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. 3) Alum. amb. amm-c. cann. canth. n-mosch. 4) Cic. dig. magn-m. mang. nitr. petr. ran.
- § 2. Acute hepatitis requires: 1) Acon 2) Bell. merc. n-vom.; ve, 3) Bry. cham. chin. lach. puls. sulph.

Aconitum: Violent, inflammatory fever, with stitches in the region of the liver, intelerable pains, moaning, tossing about, anguish and dread of death.

Belladonna: Aching pains extending to the chest and shoulder; distention in the pit of the stomach; teusion in the region of the stomach; laboured and auxious breathing; congestion of blood to the head; obscuration of sight; vertigo with fainting; burning thirst; auxious tossing about and sleeplessness (Is frequently suitable after Acon., in alternation with Merc. or Lach.)

Bryonia: Aching pains, with tension in the hypochondria, yellow-coated tongue, violent oppression of the chest, with hurried, anxious breathing, constipation, aggravation of the pains by motion.

CHAMOMILLA: Dull aching pains, not aggravated either by pressure or motion, or breathing; pressure in the stomach, tension in the hypochondria, oppression of the chest; yellow colour of the skin, yellow-coated tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, and paroxysms of anguish.

China: Aggravation every other day, with stitching and aching pains, swelling and hardness of the region of the liver and stomach; headache, bitter taste in the mouth, and yellow-coated tongue.

LACHESIS: Merc. or Bell. being insufficient, or alternately with either, suitable to drunkards.

MERCURIUS: Bell. being insufficient, especially for aching pains which do not allow one to lie on the right side; bitter taste in the mouth; loss of appetite, thirst; constant chills, very yellow colour of the skin and eyes. (After Merc., Lach. is frequently suitable.)

Nux vom.: Stitching or beating pains, with excessive sensitiveness of the region of the liver to contact; bitter and sour taste, desire to vomit or vomiting; pressure in the hypochondria and region of the stomach, with short breath; thirst, red urine, headache, vertigo and paroxysms of anguish. (After Nux-v., Sulph. is frequently suitable.)

Pulsatilla: Frequent attacks of anguish, especially at night, with diarrhœic, greenish and slimy stools; desire to vomit; bitter taste in the mouth, yellow-coated tongue; oppressed chest; tension in the hypochondria and pressure in the stomach.

Sulphur: Frequently after Nux-v, especially when the stitching pains continue; or when the above-mentioned remedies are ineffectual, or produce only a partial improvement.

§ 3. The best remedies for chronic affections of the liver are:
1) N-vom. sulph.; or, 2) Aur. lach. lyc. magn-m. natr.; or, 3)

Alum. amb. calc. chin. sil.; or, 4) Chel. ign. jod

For swelling or induration of the liver: 1) Ars. calc. chin. n-vom. sulph; or, 2) Caps. graph. lyc. magn-m. merc. natr-m. n-mosch. puls.

For abscesses: Lach. or Sil.; or: Bell.? merc.? hep.?

For affections of the liver resulting from mismanaged or suppressed fever and ague: 1) N-vom. sulph. 2) Calc. caps. lach. natr-m. puls.

For bilious calculi in the liver, I recommend: Calc. hep. lach.

sil. sulph.

HERPES PUSTULOSUS, ECTHYMA.—Not to be confounded with rupia, the primitive form of ecthyma being pustulous, that of rupia vesicular; the ecthyma-pustules, at their base, are more inflamed, harder and more firmly seated, than in rupia. (See: Rupia, Rhypia.)

However, rupia and ecthyma being closely related to each other, externally at least, the same remedies will probably do for either eruption. Ecthyma seems to require more particularly: Ars.

merc. rhus. sulph.; or, Borax. cham. staph.

See: Rupia and Herpes.

HYDROCEPHALUS ACUTUS.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. bell. 2) Bry. hell. sulph. 3) Ars. cin. con. dig. lach. merc. op. stram.

Acute hydrocephalus requires: 1) Acon. bell.; or, 2) Bry. hell.

sulph.

Chronic: Hell. ars. sulph.

Particular indications:

Aconitum: Violent vascular and nervous excitement as in all inflammatory fevers; (see: Meningitis).

Belladonna: After Acon., the fever having abated, but without discontinuance of the disease (See: Meningitis.)

Bryonia: Acon. and Bell. being insufficient, or for: Face red, almost brown-red; the eyes roll about in their sockets; at times closed, at others wide open; dry lips; dry, yellow-brown coated tongue; distended abdomen; no stool; scanty urine, or burning while passing it; quick, meaning breathing; dry, hot skin over the whole body; thirst, with hasty swallowing of the liquid.

Helleborus: Bryonia being insufficient, or for: Moderate fever: feeble, not very quick, soft and irregular pulse; laboured breathing occasionally with deep sighs; complete apathy; inability to raise one's-self alone; the patient frequently moves his trembling hands to his head; constant relapsing of the head on raising the trunk; frequent rubbing at the nose; the eyes are half-opened with the pupils turned sideways or upwards, and convulsive movements of the lips; dilated pupils; wrinkled forehead and covered with cold sweat; no desire for any thing but drink, swallowing it greedily and in large quantities, and moving the mouth constantly as if chewing, both before and after drinking; easily angry, striking about, unwilling to have any body near him, and getting the more angry the more kindly he is spoken to; pale and bloated face; stupor; starting frequently, with screams and howling; the nostrils become dirty and dry; dropping of the lower jaw.

SULPHUR: Smelling of it, if Helleborus should do no good. (Digitalis is an excellent remedy for hydrocephalus, in alternation with Acon., Helleborus, &c. Hempel.)

HYDROPHOBIA.—Doctor Hering advises first to apply heat at a distance, and to continue this proceeding until chills set in, after which the application of heat is to be renewed three or four times a day, until the wound is healed without leaving a cicatrix with discoloration.

At the same time the patient is to take a dose of Bell. or Lach., as often as the wound becomes worse, or a dose of Hydrophobin, and this treatment is to be continued until the wound is perfectly healed.

If, after the lapse of seven or eight days, a little vesicle should show itself under the tongue, accompanied with febrile motions, it should be opened with a pointed knife, and the mouth should be rinsed with salt-water.

If the rage should have actually broken out without any thing having been done for it previously, give: Bell. or lach., or canth., hyoscyam. and merc., or stram. veratr. (See: Mental Derrangement, and Pharyngitis.)

HYDROPHOBIA, SPURIOUS, DREAD OF WATER, symptomatic hydrophobia.

This disease requires: Amm. calc. nitr-ac. sassap. sep. sulph. The following remedies may likewise be considered, though I have no evidence of their curative powers in this disease:

1) N-mosch. puls. 2) Amm. ant. bell. carb-veg. dulc. merc. rhus. spig., &c.

HYDROTHORAX.—Principal remedies: 1) Am-c. ars. bry.

carb-v. dig. hell. kal. lach. merc. spig; or, 2) Aur. calc. dulc. lyc. sen. squill. stann

For symptoms, see: ASTHMA; PNEUMONIA; PULMONARY

PHTHISIS: HEART, DISEASES OF: CATARRH, SUFFOCATIVE, &C.

HYPEROIT'IS, INFLAMMATION OF THE PALATE.-Principal remedies: 1) Baryt. bar-m. bell. calc. lach. merc. n-vom.; or, 2) Acon. aur. chin. coff. sil.

Inflammation of the velum, requires: Acon. hell. coff. merc.

Inflammation of the palate: 1) Calc. chin. n-vom.; or, 2) Barc. bar-m lach. merc.; or, 3) Aur. bell. sil.

Ulceration or caries of the palate: 1) Aur. lach. merc. sil.; or, 2) Baryt. calc., &c. (See: Bones, diseases of.)

If caused by abuse of mercury, give: 1) Aur. lach; or, 2) Bell. bar-m. calc. sil., &c. Compare: Sore Throat, Sto-MACACE.

HYPOCHONDRIA.

§ 1. The principal remedies for this condition of the mind are: 1) Nux-v. and then Sulph.; or, 2) Calc. and then Chin. and Natr.; or, 3) Anac. aur. con. grat. lach. mosch. natr-m. phos. phos-ac. sep. staph.

If caused by sexual abuse, loss of animal fluids or other debilitating causes, give: 1) Calc. chin. nux.v. and sulph.; or, 2)

Anac. con. natr-m. phos-ac. sep. and staph.

If caused by derangement of the abdominal functions, sedentary mode of life, &c., give: 1) Nux-v. and sulph.; or, 2) Aur. calc, lach, natr, and sil,

§ 2. Symptomatic indications, as far as possible.

CALCAREA: Lowness of spirits, with disposition to weep; paroxysms of anguish, with orgasmus sanguinis, palpitation of the heart, shocks in the region of the heart; despair about one's health; apprehensions of illness, misfortune, infectious diseases, insanity, &c.; dread of death; excessive sensitiveness of all the organs of sense; malaise, aversion to work, inability to think or to perform any mental labour, &c. (Compare: Sulphur.)

CHINA: Languor, mental dullness; or excessive sensitiveness of all the organs of sense; mental distress; discouragement; fixed idea that he is unhappy and persecuted by enemies; headache, or boring pain in the vertex; weak digestion, with distention of the abdomen, ill humour, indolence after eating; sleeplessness on account of ideas crowding upon his mind, or restless, unrefreshing sleep, with anxious dreams, tormenting the patient even after he wakes, &c.

NATRUM: Lowness of spirits. weeping and lamenting on account of the tuture; desire to be alone; aversion to life; ill-humour: disposition to vehemence; inability to perform any mental work; headache; want of appetite, feeble digestion, ill humour, and a number of bodily and mental ailments after a meal, and after the least irregularity. &c.

Nux vom.: Ill humour, despondency, aversion to life, disposition to vehemence; indisposition to work, orto perform any mental labour; fatigue of the mind after the least mental exertion: unrefreshing sleep, aggravation of the distress in the morning; dullness of the head, with aching pains, or sensation as if a pin were sticking in the brain; aversion to the open air, constant desire to lie down, with great exhaustion after walking; painfulness and distention in the region of the hypochondria, epigastrium and pit of the stomach; constipation, slow action of the bowels, hæmorrhoidal disposition, &c. (Sulph. is frequently suitable after Nux.)

Sulphur: Lowness of spirits, painful anxiety of mind; solicitude on account of one's affairs, health, salvation; fixed ideas: paroxysms of anxiety, with impatience, restlessness, vehement disposition; bodily and mental indolence; absence of mind, irresoluteness; dullness of the head, with inability to perform any mental labour; exhaustion after the least mental exertion; headache, especially on the vertex; fullness and pressure in the pit and region of the stomach; constipation, hæmorrhoidal disposition: disposition to feel very unhappy, &c. (Calc. is frequently suitable after Sulph.)

§ 3. Use moreover:

ANACARDIUM: For sadness, desire to be alone; dread of the future, despondency, fear of approaching death, &c.

AURUM: Great restlessness, dread of death, whining mood, painfully anxious state of the mind; inability to reflect, with headache after making the least mental exertion, as if the brain were dashed to pieces, &c.

CONIUM: Listlessness, dread of company and death at the same time, &c.

GRATIOLA: Peevish, capricious, constipation, oppression of the stomach after a meal, &c.

LACHESIS: Uneasy about one's health; idea that one is hated by one's own family; inability to perform any mental or physical labour, &c.

Moschus: The patient complains without knowing what ails him, with anguish, palpitation, &c.

NATRUM MUR.: When Natr. is insufficient, though it seems to be indicated.

PHOSPHORUS: Sadness, alternating with mirth and laughter:

uneasy about one's health; paroxysms of auguish, when alone, or in stormy weather, with timorous disposition, &c.

PHOSPHORI ACID.: Dread of the future, brooding over one's condition, taciturn, &c.

Sepia: Anxious about one's health, feels indifferent even to his own family; aversion to one's own affairs; desponding, webry of life.

Staphysagria: Listless, sad, dreading the future; sad distressing thoughts about one's illness; aversion to mental or physical labour; inability to think, &c.

§ 4. Compare: Mental derangement; Melancholy, Hysteria, Emotions, morbid.

HYSTERIA.—Principal remedies: 1) Agn. aur. bell. calc. caust. cic. cocc. con. grat. ign. lach. mosch. n-mosch. n-vom. phosph. plat. puls. sep. sil. siram. sulph. veratr.; or. 2) Anac. ars. asa. bry. cham. chin. jod. natr-m. nitr-ac. stann. staph. stram. val. viol-od.

Compare: Hypochondria; Emotions, morbid; Headache, hysteric; Colic; Fainting, &c.

JAUNDICE.—Merc. is the principal remedy, provided the patient had not abused it previously, in which case China should be given. China may likewise be given alternately with Merc. In obstinate cases, when Merc. and China are insufficient, Hep. sulph. or lack. should be tried, either alone, or in alternation with mercury.

For jaundice caused by a fit of chagrin or anger, give: Cham.

nux-v., or lach. sulph.

For jaundice from abuse of China, give: Merc.; or, bell. calc. nux-v.—from abuse of Merc.: Chin. hep. lach. sulph.;—from abuse of Rhubarb: Cham. or merc.

Try moreover: Acon. ars. calc. carb-veg. dig.; or, Nitr-ac.

puls. rhus-t.

ICHTHYOSIS. — Coloc. hep. and plumb have been recommended.

ILEUS, MISERER, &c.—The characteristic symptoms of this affection is: Vomiting of fæcal matter and urine. If caused by intussusception of the intestines, give: Op. plumb. thuj.: or, Cocc.? nux-v.? sulph.?

If caused by inflammation, or by some internal swelling, give: Bry. sulph.; or, if fever should be present: Acon.—Perhaps Bell. lach. merc. may be required. See: Enterits and

HERNIA.

IMBECILITY, IDIOCY.—Principal remedies: Bell. hell. hyos. lach. op. sulph.; or, Anac. croc. n-mosch.

- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. ars. bell. caust. merc. n-vom. 2) Arn. bry. camph. chin. ipec. phosph. puls. sabad. sen. sil. spig. squill, veratr.
- § 2. Aconitum: Inflammatory symptoms, pleuritic stitches and inflammation of the chest; or for dry, violent and racking cough, with or without oppression, stitches in the chest or sides; also for rheumatic symptoms, with bronchial catarrh and sore throat.

Arsenicum: Rheumatic headache with violent pains, fluent coryza and discharge of corrosive mucus; or for: Great debility with aggravation at night or after a meal; spasmodic cough with desire to vomit, or with vomiting and expectoration of watery mucus; running of the eyes; inflamed eyes with ulcers on the cornea and excessive photophobia. (For this last symptom, Bell. or Lach. is sometimes indicated.)

Belladonna: Spasmodic cough, or excessive aggravation of the headache by talking, bright light, walking and other motions; or when the meningeal membranes are involved, with burning heat, restlessness, delirium and convulsions.

CAUSTICUM: Rheumatic pains in the limbs, and chills, aggravation by motion; pains in the malar bones and jaws; dry, violent cough, worse at night, with heat of the whole body; sensation " in the chest as if raw and excoriated; constipation, loss of appetite, and nausea, or even vomiting of the ingesta.

MERCURIUS: Rheumatic pains in the head, face, ears, teeth and extremities, with sore throat; pleuritic stitches, inflammation of the chest, with dry, violent,, racking, unceasing cough, not allowing the patient to utter a single word; dry or fluent coryza; frequent bleeding at the nose; constipation or mucous or bilious diarrhæa; chill or heat with profuse sweat.

Nux vomica: Rough and hollow cough, with nucous rattling or thick expectoration; violent headache as if the brain were bruised; heaviness of the head, vertigo, pains in the loins, constipation, loss of appetite, nausea and desire to vomit; thirst; sleeplessness or restless sleep, with anxious dreams; stitches or pain in the chest as if raw.

§ 3. Use besides:

ARNICA: Inflammatory symptoms with spurious pleurisy, rheumatic pains in the limbs, crampy headache or bleeding at the nose, and hæmoptysis.

BRYONIA: Rheumatic pains in the limbs and chest, not allowing one to move.

CAMPHORA: Catarrhal asthma with excessive accumulation of mucus in the bronchi, suffocative fits, and dry and cold skin.

CHINA: Debility after the influenza, with loss of appetite and heat without thirst.

IPECACCANHA: Paroxysms of cough accompanied by violent urging to venit and vomiting of mucus.

Phosphorus: The bronchial and laryngeal affection is so intense that the voice becomes altered from the pain, and speech is almost impossible.

Pulsatilla: Cough day and night, especially when lying, with mucous distress in the bowels, and diarrhea.

Sabadilla: Fluent coryza, dulness of the head, gray-dingy colour of the skin, dull cough with vomiting or spitting of blood, especially when lying down; aggravation of the symptoms in the cold, also towards noon, and still more towards evening; red spots in the face or on the chest.

Senega: Constant tickling and burning in the larynx and throat, with danger of suffocation when lying.

Spigelia: Influenza accompanied by prosopalgia.

SQUILLA: Moist cough from the commencement, with mucous expectoration.

STANNUM: Cough dry at first, then moist, with copious expectoration, or when the influenza threatens to assume a phthisicky character.

Veratrum: Influenza accompanied with symptoms of sporadic cholera, with few catarrhal symptoms, but great debility.

Compare: Catarry, Bronchial Catarry, Cough.

INSECTS, stings of.—Acon. arn. bell. or merc. generally procure prompt relief.

If the sting should suddenly cause fever and inflammation, give Aconite, and cause the patient to smell of Camphor.

If the tongue be stung by a bee, give Aconite, and then Arn. If no relief should be obtained, give Bell. in water, and afterwards Mercury if the Bell. should cease to act.

For stings in the eye, give Acon. and Arn.

INSENSIBILITY TO EXTERNAL PHYSICAL IMPRESSIONS.—If this condition should exist during illness to such an extent that no remedy seems to affect the patient, give: 1) Carbveg. laur. oleand. op. phosph-ac. 2) Anac. bell. camph. carb-an. hyos. lach. stram. sulph.

IODIUM, ILL EFFECTS OF.—For poisoning with large doses, give: 1) Starch mixed with water; 2) Wheat-flour; 3) Muciliaginous drinks.

For secondary affections, or drug-symptoms, give: Bell., then Phosphorus; or: Ars. chin. coff. hep. spong. sulph.

IRON, ILL EFFECTS OF.—Principal remedies: 1) Chin. hep. puls.; or: 2) Arn. ars. bell. ipec. merc. veratr.

ISCHIAS, COXALGIA, COXARTHROCACE.

Coxarthrocace: Coloc. phos-ac.; or: Calc. hep. sil. sulph zinc. Luxatio or claudicatio spontanea (involuntary limping): Merc. and Bell., alternately, every few days a dose; or: Calc. coloc. lyc. puls. rhus. sulph. zinc.

§ 3. See: Coxarthrocace, Gout, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pain, Paroxysms of, &c.

ISCHURIA.—Spasmodic ischuria requires: 1) N-vom. op. puls.; or: 2) Aur. canth. con. dig. hyos. lach. rhus. veratr.

Compare: Urinary Difficulties.

For ischuria paralytica, give: Ars. dulc. hyos., &c.

See: URINARY DIFFICULTIES.

196 ITCH.

ITCH, SCABIES.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Merc. and sulph.; 2) Carb-veg. caust. clem. hep. lach. lyc. rhus. sep. veratr.; or: Dulc. natr. phosac. squill.

- § 2. For dry itch, give Merc. and Sulph. alternately every 4, 6 or 8 days, until an improvement takes place, or the symptoms change; these new symptoms generally indicate: Carb-veg. or Hep., provided it is the dry itch, or Causticum, if a few pustules should have supervened. The symptoms which remain after Carb-veg. or Hep., frequently yield to Sep. or Veratr.
- § 3. For pustulous itch give first Sulph. and Lyc. alternately as above. If the itch should become drier, give Carb-veg. or Merc. Give Caust. once a day, if Sulph. or Lyc. remain without effect. If Caust. should not produce a change in 2 or 3 days, give a dose of Mercury every 48 hours.

If ulcers should form, give Clem. or Rhus-t.; if the pustules should change to large vesicles of a yellowish or bluish colour, give Lach.

§ 4. Itch mismanaged by Sulphur-ointment, requires Merc. or Caust.; or: Calc. dulc. nîtr-ac. puls. selen. sep.—If mismanaged by the Sulphur and Mercurial-ointment, give: Chin. and Caust. alternately, and then the above-mentioned remedies.

The so-called baker's itch requires: 1) Sulph. lyc; or: 2) Calc.

dulc. rhus. and graph.

§ 5. Other eruptions are easily confounded with the itch. Impetigo, eczema, &c., exactly resembling the itch, may be gradually developed by uncleanliness, vermin; and the only difference between these eruptions and the itch is, that the acarus, this only true pathognomonic characteristic of the itch, is wanting in the former.

For acarous itch, Sulph. is undoubtedly the principal specific, though it seems by no means impossible that Caust. merc., &c., might cause such an alteration in the cutaneous exhalations as would lead to the destruction of the acarus, which I regard as the cause, not the effect, of the itch. I know of a young man who contracted, an eruption in consequence of having slept in an unclean bed on a journey, and who removed it by a wash of tobaccojuice and vinegar.

This acarous itch admits of a mere external treatment, with the Sulphur-ointment, without exposing the patient to the danger of contracting secondary diseases. Of course I do not wish to be understood as if I would sanction the treatment, by external applications, of the various itch-like eruptions where the acarus is not present. These are the eruptions to which Hahnemann's psora-doctrine should be applied, and the suppression of which, by salves and washes, will induce the various secondary affections enumerated by Hahnemann and Autenrieth.

The proper way, therefore, would be to distinguish, 1) Scabies acarosa, which can be treated externally without danger, provided the acarus is the cause, not the effect of the disease; 2) Scabies impetiginosa, eczematica, &c., dynamic diseases requiring a purely internal treatment.

As regards symptoms, I recommend for eruptions seated in the folds of joints, and especially on the hands and between the fingers, if characterized by itching:

a) Generally: 1) Sulph. 2) Carb-veg. caust. merc. selen. sep. sulph. 3) Ant. ars. lach. veratr. 4) Coloc. dulc. cupr. kreos. mang. phos-ac. squill. tart. zinc.

b) For eruptions readily bleeding: 1) Merc. 2) Calc. dulc. sulph.
c) Dry and rash-like eruptions: 1) Carb-veg. merc. sep. sil.

sulph. 2) Calc. caust. cupr. dulc. led. veratr.

d) Humid eruptions: 1) Carb-veg. graph. lyc. sulph. 2) Caust.

e) Pustulous eruptions: 1) Caust. kreos, merc. sep. sulph. 2) Ant. squill.

§ 6. See Eruptions and Herpes.*

ITCHING OF THE ANUS.—Aconite is an excellent remedy, especially if the skin be inflamed; we may likewise try: Merc. nitri-ac. sepia. sulph. thuja., and: Baryt. calc. zinc. at long intervals. See: Herpes, Itching of the skin, Hæmorrhoids, Worm-Affections.

ITCHING OF THE SKIN, PRURITUS, PRURIGO SIMPLEX.

- § 1. This itching may depend upon a variety of causes, of which the principal are: 1) a simple irritation of the skin, by sweat, &c. 2) A so-called humour characterized by a very fine vesicular eruption.
- § 2. For simple itching, in the evening while undressing, or after having got warm in bed or by exercise, give: 1) Bry. n-vom. op. puls. rhus. sil. sulph. 2) Coccul. oleand.
- * An excellent means of removing inveterate itch, is the hydropathic treatment. I know of a case that had been treated homoeopathically for a whole year, here and in Europe, without the least success, and finally yielded completely to hydropathic treatment (at Brattleborough) in the short space of five weeks. Hempel.

The acrid humour about the anus, sexual organs, &c., (prurigo) requires: 1) Calc. merc. nitr-ac. sep. sulph. 2) Carb-veg. con. natrm. sil. 3) Alum. amb. amm. baryt. caust. coccul. graph. lyc. phosph. rhus. thuj.

§ 3. For itching of the anus, give: 1) Alum. amm. calc. carbveg. caust. lyc. nitr-ac. sep. sulph. 2) Baryt. kal. phosph. sil. thuj. zinc.

Itching of the scrotum: 1) Nitr-ac. petr. sulph. 2) Amb. carbveg. caust. coccul. graph, lyc. thuj.

Itching of the pudendum: 1) Calc. carb-veg. con. natr-m. sep. sil.

sulph. 2) Alum. amb. amm. merc. nitr-ac. rhus.

 \S 4. Compare : Herpes of the sexual organs and anus, and : Eruptions, herpes.

LABOUR.—§ 1. The best remedies to facilitate labour or to remove dynamic difficulties, are: 1) Cham. coff. n-vom. n-mosch. op. puls. sec.; or: 2) Acon. bell. calc.

§ 2. Spasmodic pains require: 1) Coff. n-vom.; or: 2) Bell. cham. n-mosch. puls.

Coffea: For violent pains, driving the patient to despair: if Coffea should not help, give Acon.

Nux vom.: Pains without actual labour, with constant urging to go to stool or to urinate.

If Nux should not suffice, give: 1) Cham. or bell.; or: 2) Nuxmosch. or puls.

§ 3. Deficient pains, require: Op. puls. sec.

Opium: Sudden cessation of pains in plethoric, robust females, in consequence of fright or some other emotion, with tendency of blood to the head, red and bloated face, and sopor.

Pulsatilla: When in females of a good constitution, the pains do not set in, or spasmodic distress sets in, or the uterus remains inactive.

Secale corn.: Deficient pains in enfeebled, cachectic females, or exhausted by loss of blood, no matter whether spasmodic pains or no pains at all are present. Secale is eminently suitable for these symptoms, but dangerous in most other cases.

§ 4. If the placenta should not be expelled readily, or should adhere to the uterus, give: Puls. or sec. If puls. should not be sufficient, or if there should be: tendency of the blood to the head, red face, glistening eyes, dryness of the skin and vagina, great anguish and restlessness, Bell. is the best remedy.

§ 5. Violent and long-lasting after-pains require: 1) Arn. cham. coff.; or: 2) Calc. n-vom. puls.

§ 6. Convulsions or spasms during labour, require: 1) Hyos' ign.; or: 2) Bell. cham. cic.

§. 2. If worn out by bodily exertions, take: Acon. arn. bry. calc. chin. coccul. coff. merc. rhus. silic. and veratr.

If by frequent watching: Carb-v. coccul. n-vom. puls.

If by excessive study: Bell. calc. lach. n-vom. puls. and sulph. If by sedentary habits: N-vom. and sulph.

§. 3. Particular indications:

ACONITUM: Full and hurried pulse, in consequence of some heating kind of work, with panting breathing, shortness of breath, cough, pleuritic stitches and pains in the limbs.

Arnica: If the stitches in the side continue in spite of the Acon., or if, after a fatiguing journey on foot, a pain is experienced in all the limbs as if bruised and broken, especially the muscles, with swelling and painfulness of the feet.

Belladonna: Headache and cerebral irritation caused by excessive study.

Bryonia: Acon, being insufficient, and even Arnica not relieving the stitches in the side.

CALCAREA: Exhausted by the least exertion, even a mere conversation, or when the least mental exertion causes a headache.

Carbo veg.: For the tired feeling after nightly revelling, especially for oppressive or throbbing headache, less in the open air; nausea without any other symptoms; liquid, pale stool.

China: After a bodily exertion, with profuse sweat, especially suitable to persons that have been exhausted by frequent sweats and other debilitating causes.

Cocculus: For the consequences of fatiguing work, or long watching at night, generally for great prostration after the least work or watching: also for trembling and feeling of emptiness in the head, heat in the face, blue margins around the eyes, dry mouth, aversion to food, attack of nausea even unto fainting, feeling of repletion in the stomach, oppression of the chest, aggravation in the open air, or by conversation and coffee, great sadness, sudden starting during sleep and anxious dreams.

COFFEA: Worn out by bodily exertions, and want of proper nourishment.

IPECACUANHA: Headache from long-continued watching; loathing, disposition to vomit, and when the patient is obliged to continue his watching some time longer.

MERCURIUS: For the consequences of some heating labour, rush of blood after the least exertion, tendency of the blood to the head, chest or face.

Nux vomica: For the consequences of watching, study, or sedentary life, generally suitable to persons that have been in the habit of stimulating themselves by coffee, wine or other spirituous drinks; or for headache with tendency of the blood to the head; cloudiness, heaviness in the forehead when moving the eyes, and painful concussion of the brain by every step one makes; pale and sunken face, or livid complexion, gastric ailments, disposition to vomit, slow action of the abdominal organs; cough and nervous toothache; aggravation in the open air; aversion to motion and walking; excessive nervousness; shuddering, weariness, hypochondria and ill humour; animated and choleric disposition.

Pulsatilla: Worn out by study or watching, especially in the case of females; the head feels cloudy as when intoxicated, or the brain feels empty and the head light, or the head feels heavy, with photophobia; relief in the open air; bland disposition.

RHUS TOX.: Painfulness of the joints after carrying or lifting heavy weight, or after any other fatiguing work, especially when commencing to move or while resting one's-self.

SILICEA: Shortness of breath in consequence of running, with aggravation when walking or ascending an eminence; cough, mucous expectoration, &c.

SULPHUR: When sedentary habits, excessive study or watching cause: fatigue of the head, hypochondriac mood, gastric ailments, bad digestion and constipation, Nux v. being insufficient.

VERATRUM: Debility in consequence of bodily exertion, the least work fatigues one unto fainting.

- c) For leucorrhœa preceding the menses: Baryt. calc. carb-veg. chin. graph. kreos. lach. phosph. puls. sep. sulph. zinc.—During the menses, or in their stead: Alum. chin. cocc. lach. puls. zinc.—After the menses: Alum. graph. kreos. nitr-ac. phos-ac. puls. ruta. sil. sulph.
- d) For leucorrhea accompanied with abdominal spasms or colic: Caust. con. dros. lyc. magn-c. magn-m. puls. sep. sil. sulph. zinc.—With pains in the small of the back: Baryt. caust. con. graph. kreos.—With great debility: Natr-m.—With yellow complexion: Chin. ferr. natr-m. sep.—With pale face: Ars. graph. kreos. puls. sep.

§ 3. Comp.: Amenia and Menstrual Irregularities.

LICE-MALADY, PHTHIRIASIS.

§ 1. For lice on the head and other parts of the body, the best remedy is cleanliness and regular habits. If lice should have formed, use:

For lice on the head: Frequent washing with vinegar, mixed with part of a solution of one spoonful of tobacco-juice in a tumblerful of water, or snuff in the place of the juice. If the scalp should not be sound, or if the children are very small, it is best to use the vinegar without tobacco-juice. The same mode of washing should be adopted for lice on other parts of the body.

Tobacco-juice is likewise the best remedy for lice of the sexual organs, either in the shape of a wash of equal parts of tobacco-juice and vinegar, or of an ointment made of snuff and lard. If the use of tobacco should induce unpleasant symptoms, diarrhea, vomiting, &c., Puls. will remove them very speedily.

If the lice should have got into one's clothes, these have to be heated in an oven; nothing else will clean them.

§ 2. Spontaneous generation of lice in the skin or in boils and tumours on the skin, requires: 1) Ars. chin. staph.; or 2) Merc. sulph.; or 3) Lach.? magn-arct.? oleand.? sabad.?—These remedies deserve confirmation.

LICHEN.—Principal remedies: Acon. bry. cic. cocc. dulc. lyc. mur-ac. natr-m. sulph.

Lichen simplex: 1) Coccul. dulc. 2) Acon. bry. puls.

Lichen agris: Cic. lyc. mur-ac. sulph.

Lichen strofulus: Cic. caust. cham. merc. sulph.—Graph. rhus.

Try likewise: Agar. amm. ars. calc. carb-veg. con. phos-ac.
staph. stront.

LIENITIS, Splentis, and other affections of the spleen.—Principal remaies: 1) and arm bry. caps. chin. ign: n-vom. sulph: or 2) Acon. ferr. jod. mez.?

Acute lienitis requires principally: China; also: Acon. arn. ars. bru. n. vom. -Acon. when there is inflammatory fever.

Arrica: China being insufficient, especially for aching, stitching pains arresting the breathing, or for typhoid symptoms, with languor, listlessness, dullness of sense; the patient does not think that he is very sick.

ARSENICUM: Frequent bloody diarrheic stools, with burning, great debility; or when the disease assumes an intermittent character, and China is insufficient.

BRYONIA: The swelling continuing after giving Chin., Ars. or Nux. v., with stitching pains in the region of the spleen during motion.

China: After Acon., or even from the commencement, for aching, stitching pains, or when the disease has an intermittent character.

Nux vomica: After Chin. or Ars., the swelling and the aching pain in the stomach continuing, and the general state of the patient being the same.

For constipation, swelling and induration of the spleen, give:

Ars. caps. chin. ign. sulph.; or Jod. mez.?

LITHIASIS, GRAVEL.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Lyc. sassap. 2) Ant. calc. cann. n-vom. petr. phosph. ruta. sep. sil. zinc. 3) Alum. amb. amm. arn. canth. chin. lach. natr-m. nitr-ac. n-mosch. thuj. uv.

§. 2. For stone in the bladder: Cann. sassap. uv. For gravel: 1) Lyc. sassap. 2) Ant. calc. phosph. ruta. sil. zinc.

§ 3. See Secretion of Urine and Urinary difficulties.

LOCK-JAW, Trismus.—A mere symptom, though indicating principally: 1) Camph. hyos. ign. veratr. 2) Lach. merc. plat. sil. 3) Acon. ang. camph. hydroc. cal. laur. merc. mosch. n-vom. plumb. phosph.

LOVE, UNHAPPY, ILL EFFECTS OF:—Generally removed by: 1) Aur. hyos. ign. phos-ac. staph. 2) Lach. puls. sulph. Melancholy, weeping, religious mania: Aur. puls. sulph.

Jealousy: Hyos. lach. n-vom. Grief: Ign., or: Phos-ac. staph.

Hectic fever: Phos-ac. staph., or: Puls.

LUMBAGO.—Principal remedies: Bry. nux-v. puls. rhus-t. sulph.—See RHEUMATISM, PAINS IN THE SMALL OF THE BACK, and PAINS IN THE BACK.

LUPIÆ.

Principal remedies: 1) Calc. daph. graph. kal.; and 2) Hep.

nitr-ac. sil. sulph.

I have so far cured every case of lupia with one dose of Calcarea 30, allowing it to act 7 or 8 weeks. The swelling generally commences to diminish in the 4th to the 7th week.

For Steatoma the principal remedy seems to be Bar-c. For Ganglia: Sil., or sometimes: Amm. or phos.

MACULÆ, EPHELIDES, PURPURA, &C.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Bry. lyc. natr. phosph. sep. sulph. 2) Alum. ant. ars. calc. carb-veg. con. graph. hyos. lach. merc. n-vom. nitr-ac. oleand. sabad. staph. sulph-ac.

Comp.: Gastric derangement, Weak Stomach, &c.

MAMMÆ and NIPPLES:—§. 1. The best remedies for sore nipples are: Arn. sulph., or Calc. cham. ign. puls.

Chamomilla is suitable for inflamed or ulcerated nipples, provided the patient had not previously used it to excess; in which case, Ign. or Puls., or perhaps Merc. and Sil., are the best remedies.

For simple soreness, use Arn.; and if this should not be sufficient, Sulph. calc.

Afterwards we may require to use: Caust. graph. lyc. merc. n-vom. sep. sil.

§. 2. For mastitis, give: Bell. bry. carb-a. hep. merc. phos.

sil. sulph.

Belladonna: The breasts are swollen and hard, with stitching and tearing pains, and erysipelatous redness radiating from a central point. (Acts well in alternation with Bry.)

BRYONIA: The breasts are hard, rigid, turgescent, with tensive or stitching pains in the swelling, and burning heat on the outside, especially when there are febrile motions, heat, vascular irritation, &c. (If Bry. be insufficient, try Bell.)

HEPAR: When suppuration has set in, in spite of Bell.,

Bry., &c.

MERCURIUS: Bell. and Bry. being insufficient, hard and painful lumps continuing to form in the breasts.

Phosphorus: Ulceration of the breasts, fistulous passages with hard and callous edges, or colliquative sweat and diarrhea, with suspicious cough, feverish heat in the evening, circumscribed redness of the cheeks, and other symptoms of hectic fever.

SILICEA: Phosphorus being unable to arrest the suppuration of the nipples, with fistulous ulcers and symptoms of hectic fever.

§. 3. The principal remedies for induration and lumps of the breasts, are: 1) Carb-a. con. sil.; or 2) Clem. coloc. graph. lyc. merc. nitr-ac. ol-jec. phos. puls. sep. sulph.—If caused by a blow or shock, give: Arn. carb-a. con.

Cancer of the mammæ requires: 1) Ars. clem. sil.; or 2) Bell.

con. hep.? kreos.?

MANIA OF SUICIDE.—Principal remedies: 1) Ars. aur. n-vom. puls. 2) Alum. amb. amm. bell. lach. nitr-ac. plat. sep. 3) Ant. carb-veg. chin. dros. hep. hyos. mez. rhus. sec. spig. stram. tart.

MARASMUS SENILIS.—Principal remedies: Baryt. con. op. phosph. sec.

Purpura senilis requires: 1) Con. 2) Ars. bry. rhus. sec. sulphac. 3) Lach.? op.? baryt.?

MEASLES, MORBILLI.

- § 1. Principal remedies; 1) Acon. puls.; or: 2) Bell. bry. chin-phosph. sulph.
- \S 2. To facilitate the eruption and to abbreviate the precursory stage, give Acon. or puls., or even coffea, if the patients should be very restless, sleepless, and should be beside themselves and toss about.

Photophobia is frequently relieved by Bellad. if acon. and puls. should not be sufficient.

The cough sometimes requires a dose of Coff, or hep, after acon,; real pulmonary catarrh or inflammation of the chest sometimes requires Bry.

§ 3. If the eruption should recede, give: 1) Bry. puls. phosph; or: 2) Ars. bell. caust. hell. and sulph.

The cerebral symptoms require: 1) Bell. stram.; or: 2) Ars. hell, puls.

The pulmonary symptoms: Bry. phosph. or Sulph. Typhoid, putrid symptoms: 1) Phosph. puls. sulph.; 2) Ars. carb-veg. mur-ac. phos-ac. sulph-ac.

§ 4. For the sequelæ of measles, give: Bry. carb-vcy. cham.

chin. dros. dulc. hyos. ign. nux. rhus. sep. stram. sulph.

The catarrhal affections, such as: Cough, hoarseness, sore throat, &c. require: Bry. carb. veg. cham. con. dros. dulc. hyos. ign. n-vom. scp. sulph.—If the cough should be dry and hollow, give: Cham. ign. n-vom.—If spasmodic: 1) Bell. cin. hyos.; or: 2) Carb-veg. dros.; or: 3) Canth. cupr. dig. ipec.

The mucous diarrheic stools require: Chin. merc. puls. sulph. Otitis and otorrhea: 1) Puls. 2) Carb-veg.; or 3) Colch.

lyc. men. merc. nitr-ac. sulph.

Parotitis yields to Arn. or Rhus-t., and the white rash to Nux-v.

§ 5. Particular indications:

Aconitum: Vertigo, red and painful eyes, with photophobia; coryza; sore throat with hoarseness and dry, hollow, hacking cough; stitches in the sides and chest; sleeplessness or little sleep with vivid dreams, and sudden starting; dry heat all over, with red and hot face, or bloated face; bleeding at the nose; frequent urging to urinate; vomiting, or colic also with diarrheea.

Acon. ign. n-vom. puls.

COFFEA: The disease is caused by a sudden joy, either during the menses or during confinement.

MERCURIUS: The pains in the uterus are stitching, aching or boring, with little heat, but frequent sweats or chills.

Nux vom.: Violent aching pains in the hypogastrium, aggravated by pressure and contact; violent pains in the loins; constipation or hard stools; retention of urine, dysuria or ischuria; swelling of the os-tincæ, with contusive pain and stitches in the abdomen; aggravation towards morning.

See: Puerperal fever; and compare: Uterus, diseases of.

MEZEREUM, ILL EFFECTS OF.—Principal remedies: Bry. merc. rhus.

MERCURIUS: When the bones or the parts of the inner mouth are affected.

Bryonia: The joints are principally affected, in which case it should be given in alternation with Rhus-t.

MISCARRIAGE.—Principal remedies: 1) Bell. calc. carb-v. croc. cham. ferr. ipec. lyc. n-vom. sabin. sec. sep. sil. sulph. zinc. 2) Asar. bryon. cannab. canth. chin. croc. cic. hyosc. n-mosch. plumb. puls. ruta.

For the disposition to miscarriage, give: 1) Calc. carb-veg. ferr. lyc. sab. sep. sulph. zinc. 2) Asar. cann. cocc. kreos. n-mosch. plumb. puls. ruta. sil.

CALCAREA: Suitable to plethoric persons, with profuse and premature menses, disposition to leucorrhea, painful nipples, tendency of the blood to the head, colic, pains in the loins, varices of the sexual organs.

CARBO VEG.: Pale, or premature and profuse menses, with varices of the sexual organs; frequent headache, pains in the loins, abdominal spasms, &c.

FERROM: Suitable to chlorotic females, with leucorrhæa, when the menses are suppressed; or to plethoric females, with great vascular action, red face, full and strong pulse, premature and profuse menses.

Lycopodium: The menses are too profuse and last too long, with itching, burning, and varices of the sexual organs; dryness of the vagina, disposition to melancholy, with sadness and weeping; leucorrhæa, frequent headache and pains in the loins, fainting fits, &c.

Sabina: Suitable to plethoric persons, with profuse and too long menses; the miscarriage generally takes place in the third month of pregnancy.

Sepla: Leucorrhæa, with soreness, eruption and itching of the sexual parts: scanty or premature menses, with weeping, melancholy, headache and toothache; frequent attacks of megrim; feeble constitution; tender and sensitive skin; gray colour of the skin, with brownish or yellowish spots in the face; slender waist, nervous debility, disposition to sweat; frequent colic, disposition to catarrh.

Sulphur: Premature and profuse, or scanty and delaying menses, with leucorrhoa, itching, burning and soreness of the parts; eruption or herpes on the skin; hæmorrhoidal disposition; disposition to catarrh or other blennorrhoas; nervous debility, with loss of appetite; great languor, especially in the lower limbs; frequent headache, with tendency of the blood to the head, &c.

Compare: Amenorrhea, and Dysmenorrhea.

§ 3. The precursory or first symptoms of miscarriage, indicate: 1) Arn. bell. bry. cham. hyosc. ipec. n-vom. sabin. sec. 2) Cann. chin. cin. cocc. n-mosch. plat. puls. rhus. ruta.

Arnica: Is indicated, if labour-pains set in in consequence of a shock, motion, or some other external injury, with the discharge of blood or serous mucus.

Belladonna: For violent aching or tensive pains through the whole body, with sensation of constriction or distention, pains in the loins as if broken, bearing-down and congestion to the sexual organs, with or without discharge of blood.

Bryonia: Violent pains with obstinate constipation, tendency of the blood to the head, dry mouth and thirst, particularly if Nux vom. should have been ineffectual against this condition.

Chamomilla: Violent cutting pains from the loins to the abdomen, with frequent desire to urinate or go to stool; discharge of blood from the vagina, with discharge of coagula; heaviness in the whole abdomen, frequent yawning, chills and shuddering; great restlessness and convulsive motions of the limbs.

Hyoscyamus: Alternately clonic and tonic spasms, with loss of consciousness and discharge of a bright-red blood, especially during the spasmodic paroxysms.

IPECACUANHA: For spasms with consciousness, especially when accompanied with cutting pains around the umbilicus, with pressure towards the sexual organs, and with discharge of blood. If Ipec. should be insufficient, Plat., or even Cina, is frequently indicated.

Nux vom.: Obstinate constipation, with congestion of blood to the womb, especially suitable to patients who have indulged in stimulating drinks, such as: wine, coffee, &c.

Sabina: The precursory symptoms of miscarriage set in in the first period of pregnancy; or at any other period, when pressing and drawing pains from the loins to the pudendum are present; discharge of blood from the vagina; relaxed and soft abdomen; constant urging to stool with diarrhæa, or desire to vomit, or vomiting, even of the ingesta; fever with shivering and heat.

Secale: Suitable to enfectled and carbectic females, with disposition to passive hæmorrhage, spasmodic affections, &c., or when the uterus is in a state of atony, or affected with organic diseases.

§ 4. For the consequences of miscarriage, such as: metror-rhagia, metritis, &c., see these heads.

§ 6. Compare Cough (expectoration), Whites, Suppurations, &c.

MUSCLES, Contraction, Induration of: See Contraction, &c.

MUSHROOM, NOXIOUS, ILL EFFECTS OF.—For poisoning: 1) Powdered charcoal mixed in water; 2) Smelling of spiritus nitri dulcis.—For the secondary diseases: 1) Coff. puls. 2) Acon. n-vom.

MYELITIS.—The principal remedy for all acute cases is Dulcamara, to be preceded by Aconite, on account of the fever.

If Dulc. should fail, select: 1) Bell. bry. coccul. n-rom. rhus.; or, 2) Ars. calc. caust. dig. ign. puls. veratr.

In a case of chronic inflammation of the upper portion of the spinal marrow, with apparently incipient softening, and paralysis and atrophy of one arm, I have used Caust, and staphysagria with great benefit, also Dulc. and lach.

MYOPIA.—Principal remedies: 1) Amm. anac. carb-veg. con. nitr-ac. petr. phosph. phos-ac. puls. sulph.

For myopia in consequence of ophthalmia: Puls. and sulph. For myopia from abuse of mercury: 1) Carb-veg. nitr-ac. sulph.; or, 2) Puls.

Myopia in consequence of typhus or debilitating loss of animal fluids, requires: Phos-ac.

NAILS, DISEASES OF THE .- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Graph. sil. sulph. 2) Alum. ant. ars. calc. caust. con. hep. lach. magnaust. merc. natr-m. nitr-ac. n-vom. puls. ran. sabad. sep. squill.

§ 2. For panaritia (an inflammation of the skin, tendons, and their sheaths, or of the periosteum, use: 1) Sil. sulph. 2) Hep. lach. 3) Alum. calc. kal. merc. nitr-ac. petr. puls. sep.

. If these ulcers should have been occasioned by a splinter or the prick of a pin, use: 1) Nitr-ac. sil. 2) Hep. lach. petr.

sulph.

For onychia, a panaritium under the nail, Hep. is almost specific, after which Lach. acts well; and, if ulceration should have set in, Silicea or sulph.

In phlegmonous inflammation between the skin and the sheaths of the tendons, it is well to give first Sulph., and if this should not prevent suppuration, Hep., which sometimes opens the abscess in a few hours.

Inflammations of the tendinous sheaths and synovial membranes first require Sulph., then Silic., if no change should take place in 24 hours.

If the periosteum should have been involved, Sil. is the principal remedy; otherwise try Calc. or sulph. in alternation with Sil.

§ 3. Use more particularly:

a) For breaking, peeling-off and splitting of the nails: 1) Graph. sil. squill. sulph. 2) Alum. merc. sep .-- For thickening, curvature, roughness of the nails, use: 1) Graph. sabad. sil. sulph. 2) Alum. calc. merc. sep .- For growing into the flesh: 1) Graph. magn-aust. sulph. 2) Kal. sil. - For falling off: Ant. ars. hell. merc. squill. sec. sep. thuj .-- For hang-nails: 1) Natrin. rhus. sulph. 2) Calc. lyc. merc. sabad. stann.

b) For painfulness and sensitiveness: 1) Caust. graph. magnaust. n-vom. sep. sil. 2) Amm-m. natr-m. puls. rhus. sulph.

c) For discoloured nails: Ant. ars. graph. mur-ac. nitr-ac. sep. sulph -For blue-coloured: Aur. chel. chin. dig. lyc. natr-m. n-vom. sil.—For spotted: 1) Nitr-ac. sil. 2) Alum. ars. natr-m. sulph.—For yellow-coloured: 1) Amb. con. sep. 2) Chin. merc. nitr-ac. n-vom. sil. spig.—For white spots: Nitr-ac. sil.

NARCOTISM, ILL EFFECTS OF NARCOTIC SUBSTANCES.— Poisoning with large doses requires: 1) Large quantities of black coffee; 2) Vinegar mixed with water.

The remaining ailments yield to:1) Bell. carb-veg. cham. coff. lach. merc. n-vom. op. puls. 2) Amm. ars. caust. graph. hyos. ipec.lyc. natr-m. rhus. sep. sulph. kal.

Compare: Drunkards, diseases of: Opium, and the other narcotic substances mentioned in this work.

NEPHRITIS and NEPHRALGIA, and other Affections of the kidneys.—The best remedies, so far as known, are: 1) Bell. cann. canth. nux-v. puls., and perhaps also in some cases: Alum. berb. colch. hep. lyc. sass.

Belladonna: Is principally indicated by stitching pains in the kidneys, extending along the ureter as far as the bladder, with periodical aggravation, great anguish and colicky pains. (If Bell.

should not suffice, try Hep.)

CANNABIS: Drawing pains from the kidneys to the pubic bones, with anguish and malaise.

CANTHARIS: Stitching, tearing and cutting pains, with painful discharge of only a few drops of urine, or with complete suppression of urine, or when the urine is mixed with blood.

Nux vomica: When the disease was caused by suppression of piles, or congestion of blood to the abdomen, with tension, distention and pressure in the region of the kidneys.

Pulsatilla: When the disease is accompanied with amenor-rhoea or scanty menses, in females of a delicate constitution, and bland, phlegmatic disposition, or when the urine is bloody and deposits a purulent sediment.

Compare: Cystitis, Urinary Difficulties, Uretrorrhagia, Retention of Urine, and Secretion of Urine.

NETTLE-RASH, urticaria.—Principal remedies: 1) Calc. caust. dulc. hep. lyc. rhus. 2) Acon. ant. ars. bell. bry. carb.veg. con. clem. cop. ign. mez. natr-m. n-vom. petr. puls. sep. sulph. urt. verat.

Acute nettle-rash requires: 1) Acon. bry. dulc. rhus. urt.; and chronic nettle-rash: Calc. lyc., or, Ars. carb-veg. caust. lyc. petr. rhus. sulph. urt.

For essera we have: Cop. puls.

NIGHTMARE, INCUBUS .- Give:

Aconite to children and females, for: Feverish heat, thirst, palpitation of the heart, orgasmus sanguinis, oppression of the chest, anguish, and restlessness.

Nux vom: The paroxysms are caused by spirits, beer, copious meals, sedentary life, &c.

Opium: Severe paroxysms with suppressed breathing, halfopened eyes, open mouth, stertorous breathing, rattling, anxious features, cold sweat in the face, twitchings and convulsive motions of the extremities, &c.

Pulsatilla: Stertorous inspirations; auxious, sad dreams with weeping; lying on one's back, with the arms stretched above the head, or with the hands laid cross-wise on the abdomen, and the feet drawn up: suitable to females; or for dreams about black beasts.

SULPHUR: Light, unrefreshing sleep, with aching or beating pains in the head, dreams about fire, the arms stretched above the head, the eyes sometimes half open.

Try moreover: 1) Amm. bryon. coni. hepar. phosph. ruta. sil.

valer. 2) Alum. cinnab. coni. guaj. natr. natr-m., &c.

NITRATE OF SILVER, POISONING WITH.

First swallow large quantities of salt water, then mucilaginous drinks.

NOMA, CANCER AQUATICUS.

I know of one case that was greatly benefited by Sulph. calc. sil., given in this order. The physician was induced to this selection of remedies by the scrofulous constitution of the child and his parents. This is another proof that the remedies ought not to be selected with reference to one pathological symptom, but in accordance with the general state and constitution of the patient.

NOSE, SUPPURATION OF.—Fetid, inflammatory ulceration of the Schneiderian membrane, Ozena.

- § 1. Principal remedies: Alum. amm. asa. aur. bry. calc. carbv. caust. con. graph. kal. lach. lyc. magn-c. magn-m. merc. natr. nitr-ac. puls. sil. sulph. thuj.

For ulceration, rhagades and scurfs of the nostrils: Alum. aur

Borax. calc. cic. graph. lach. lyc. merc. nitr-ac. puls. sulph.

For purulent discharge, or ozæna in the narrower sense: 1) Aur. merc.; or, 2) Alum. asa. calc. cic. con. lach. puls. sulph.

For syphilitic ozæna, Merc. is the principal remedy; if Merc. should have been abused by the patient, give: 1) Aur. 2) Asahep. lach. nitr-ac. sulph. thuj.

§ 3. Compare: Nose, swelling of, Catarrii, &c.

NOSE, SWELLING OF, AND INFLAMMATION OF THE EXTERNAL NOSE.

- § 1. Principal remedies: Arn. ars. asa. aur. bell. bry. calc. hep. merc. natr-m. phos. puls. sep. sulph. zinc.
- § 2. If caused by a blow, contusion, fall, &c., Arn. is the best remedy.

If by abuse of Mercury, give: Asa. aur. bell. hep. lach.?

sulph.

If by hard drinking: 1) Ars. calc. puls. sulph.; or, 2) Bell.

hep. lach. merc.

To scrofulous patients give: 1) Asa. aur. calc. hep. merc. puls. sulph.; or, 2) Bry. lach. phos.

§ 3. For red and painful swelling of the nose, give: 1) Bell. hep. merc.; or, 2) Alum. bry. calc. phos. rhus. sulph.

If the tip be red, give: Carb-an. nitr-ac. rhus.

Red spots require: Phos-ac. sil.

Copper-redness: 1) Ars. carb-an. veratr. 2) Calc. cann. carb-v. kreos. mez. rhus. ruta.

§ 4. When the swelling is accompanied by black pores: 1) Graph. natr. selen. sulph. 2) Bry. calc. natr-m. sabin.

When by scurf on the tip: 1) Carb-v. natr-m. sep. sil. 2)

Carb-an. nitr-ac.

When by old warts: Caust.

§ 5. Compare: Nose, suppuration of, Cancer of the Nose, Eruptions in the Face, Catarrii, &c.

NURSING, LACTATION.

§ 2. For deficiency of milk: 1) Agn. calc. caust. dulc. puls. rhus. zinc. 2) Acon. bell. bry. cham. chin. cocc. jod. merc. n-mosch. sep. sulph.

If this deficiency be caused by want of vital action (in the breasts or the organisms generally), give: Calc. caust. puls. rhus.

If the secretion of milk should be prevented by an excess of vital action in the breasts, with tension, redness and throbbing in these parts, and if considerable milk fever should be present, give: 1) Acon. bry. cham.; or, 2) Bell. merc.

Lumps or nodes in the breasts, require: 1) Dulc.; or, 2) Agn.

bell. cham. rhus.

If the deficiency of milk depend upon some unknown cause, and no particular remedy be indicated, try: 1) Dulc. 2) Agn. calc. zinc.

§ 3. Milk-fever, if medical interference should be at all necessary, requires: Acon. or Coff., alone or alternately.

If these remedies be insufficient, try: Bell. bry.; or, rhus.

Arn. is sometimes useful, especially when, in consequence of hard labour, the sexual parts have been injured.

§ 4. For the retrocession of the milk, give: 1) Bell. bry. dulc. puls. 2) Acon. calc. cham. coff. merc. rhus. sulph.

If this retrocession should be caused by violent emotions, give:

1) Bry. cham. coff. 2) Acon. bell.

If by a cold: 1) Bell. cham. dulc. puls.; or, 2) Acon. merc. sulph.

A metastasis to the abdominal organs, requires: Bell. bry. puls.

rhus.

The chronic consequences of the retrocession of the milk, require: Rhus-t.; or, Calc. dulc. lach. merc. puls. sulph.

§ 5. Bad, thin milk, or if the infant refuse to take it, give the mother: 1) Cham. cin. merc. sil. 2) Borax. carb-an. lach. n-vom. puls. rhab. samb.

BORAX: The milk coagulates readily; if Borax be insufficient, give Lach.

SILICEA: The child throws up after nursing and refuses the breast.

§ 6. Puls. is the best remedy to arrest the secretion of milk after weaning the child, or to prevent the secondary ailments of weaning. Bell. bry. calc. are likewise useful.

Galactorrhwa requires Calc., especially when the breasts are turgid with milk. Try moreover: Bell. borax. bry. rhus.; or, cough; or violent hendache with vertigo, stupefaction, sparks or black spots before the eyes; or obscuration of sight, or specks and ulcers on the cornea, &c. (Bell, is frequently suitable after Acon.

hep. or merc.)

CALCAREA: Violent aching or stinging pains with itching; or burning and cutting pains aggravated by reading or candle light; redness of the selerotica, lachrymation, specks and ulcers on the cornea; photophobia; mistiness of sight or as if spots were hovering before the eyes, especially when using the eyes. (Calc. is frequently suitable after Sulph. or Dulc.)

Chamomella: Red eyes, with aching pains when moving them or shaking the head; or stinging, aching and burning pains, as if heat were rushing out of the eyes; red and swollen eyelids, with copious secretion of mucus and nightly agglutination; great dryness of the eyes. The pains are intolerable, &c.

Euphrasia: Aching pain in the eyes, redness of the sclerotica; inflammation of the cornea, with vesicles, or specks and ulcers on the cornea; copious secretion of mucus and tears; swelling of the eyelids; frequent desire to wink; rash around the eyes, or coryza and headache; photophobia, flickering of the light.

HEPAR s.: Redness of the eyes and eyelids, with soreness when touched; spasmodic closing of the eyelids; difficulty of moving the eyes; photophobia, especially in the evening; the sight is at times dim and obscured, at others clear; pressure in the eyeball, as if it would start out of the head; specks and ulcers on the cornea and pimples around the eyes and eyelids; copious lachrymation. nightly agglutination. (Hep. is frequently suitable after Bell. and Merc.)

IGNATIA: The eyes are not so much red as painful, with sensation as of sand in the eyes; copious lachrymation, especially from the light of the sun; nightly agglutination; photophobia; mistiness of sight; fluent coryza or headache.

Mercurius: Cutting pains or pressure as if from sand in the eyes, especially after using the eyes, or in the evening and in bed; or tearing, itching and stinging, especially in the open air; copious lachrymation, especially in the evening; excessive sensitiveness of the eyes to the glare of fire or to light; vesicles and pimples on the sclerotica; ulcers on the cornea; pustules and scurfs around the eyes and on the margins of the lids; mistiness of sight; the inflammation is brought on again by the least cold. (Merc. is frequently suitable after Bell.)

Nux vom.: The canthi are redder than the eyes; ecchymosis and softening of the sclerotica; burning pains and pressure in the eyes as if from sand; lachrymation; photophobia, especially in the morning; nightly agglutination; the inflammation is attended with nightly headache, catarrh with stoppage of the nose; aggravation in the morning on waking, or after a meal, or in the evening in bed.

PULSATILLA: Pressure as if from sand, or tearing, stitching, cutting and boring pains in the eyes; redness of the eyes and eyelids with copious secretion of mucus: copious lachrymation, especially in the cold air, wind, and when exposed to the light of day; great dryness of the eyelids, especially in the evening; burning and corrosive lachrymation; nightly agglutination; adematous swelling of the eyelids or around the eyes; photophobia, with stitches in the eyes; aggravation towards evening. is suitable at the commencement of scrofulous ophthalmia, previous to Ferr.; or after Acon. in rheumatic ophthalmia.)

SULPHUR: Pressure as if from sand, or itching and burning in the eyes and eyelids, with aggravation on moving the eyes or exposing them to the light of the sun; redness of the eyes and eyelids; inflammation of the iris, with distorted pupil; dimness of the cornea as if covered with dust, or specks, vesicles and ulcers on the cornea: pustules, ulcers and scurfs around the eyes and on the lids; lachrymation, especially in the open air; or dryness of the eyes, especially in the room; photophobia, with closing of the lids: mistiness of sight, scintillations, &c. (Sulph. is frequently suitable after Acon.. or Merc. and Puls. ; -- after Sulph., Calc. is most suitable.)

§ 6. Try moreover:

Antimonium: For red eyelids, with eye-gum in the canthi, pho-tophobia and stinging pains.

ARNICA: Difficult and painful motion of the eyelids and eyes, as if excoriated: dilated pupils, sensitiveness to light; red and swollen eyelids and eyes.

BRYONIA: Red eves with burning pains and pressure, as if from sand, with aggravation in the evening or at night; swollen eyelids with pains in the head, when opening the eyes. (Bry. is frequently suitable after Puls., in rheumatic ophthalmia.)

CAUSTICUM: Swelling and ulceration of the eyelids, with nightly agglutination; pressure or burning pains in the eyes.

CHINA: Aggravation towards evening, with pressure as if from sand in the eyes; photophobia; frontal headache; hot and red, or dim and faint eyes, as if filled with smoke in the orbits.

Colocynthis: Violent burning and cutting extending far back in the head and nose, with great anguish and restlessness.

DIGITALIS: Redness of the eyes and conjunctiva; stitches through the eyes; lachrymation, increased by light and cold; photophobia; obstruction and dryness of the nose.

DULCAMARA: Aching pain when reading; dimness of sight, scintillations, aggravation by rest.

FERRUM: The eyes become weak and moist after using them ever so little; or they become red, with burning pains and styes.

GRAPHITES: Ulcers on the cornea, photophobia, swollen lids, agglutination.

LACHESIS: Dry eyes, photophobia, lancinations, dimness of sight.

NITRI, ACIDUM: Pressure and stitches in the eyes; lachrymation especially when reading; yellow rings round the eyes; specks on the cornea; swelling of the eyelids and suppuration of the eyes.*

Petroleum: Burning, stitching or pressure over the root of the nose, and swelling of the nose, with discharge of pus.

RHUS TOX.: Bry. being insufficient, with burning and stitching and copious lachrymation, nightly agglutination and erysipelatous swelling of the eyelids, with photophobia.

SEPIA: Photophobia, catarrh, nightly agglutination, pustules on the eyeball; aching pains,

Spigelia: Aching, stitching or boring pains, penetrating into the orbits and head, with sensation as if the eyeballs were too large; excruciating pains.

Sulphuris-Ac.: Burning pains, with photophobia, lachryma-tion, especially when reading, difficulty of opening the lids.

VERATRUM: Tearing pains, with violent headache, photophobia, heat and feeling of dryness in the eyes.

Rheumatic otalgia: 1) Bell. merc. puls.; or, 2) Arn. chin.

hep. n-vom., &c.

Otalgia caused by a cold or by sudden suppression of some secretion, requires: 1) Cham. chin. dulc.; or, 2) Merc. puls. or sulph.

§ 2. Particular indications:

· Belladonna: Stitches in and behind the ears; digging and boring pains, tearing and stitches extending to the throat, with ringing, buzzing and roaring in the ears; extreme sensitiveness to noise; painful state of the head and eyes, also with photophobia; red and hot face; tendency of the blood to the head.

Chamomilla: Lancinations, or tensive and drawing pains extending to the lobe of the ear; dry ears or as if stopped up; great sensitiveness to noise, especially to music; excessive sensitiveness to pain; suspicious, ill humour, and disposition to get angry without sufficient cause.

Mercurius: Stitching, deep-seated pains, or tearing extending to the cheeks and teeth, with chilly feeling in the ears; the pains are aggravated in bed; or spasmodic pains with inflammatory redness of the ears; discharge of cerumen; profuse sweat, affording no relief.

Pulsatilla: Darting, tearing pains, as if something would penetrate through the ears; the outer ear is red, hot and swollen; or stitching and tearing pains affecting the whole side of the head, and almost depriving the patient of his reason; suitable to chilly individuals disposed to cry, and especially to females.

SULPHUR: Drawing, tearing or stitching pains extending to the head and throat; burning heat through the ears; extreme sensitiveness to noise, the patient being nauseated even by the slightest musical sounds; especially suitable to persons that are subject to catarrh or tendency of the blood to the head.

§ 3. Use likewise:

Arnica: In the case of sensitive, nervous individuals, when the pain is brought on again by the least cause, with pressure and stitches in and behind the ears, tearing, internal heat and great sensitiveness to noise.

CHINA: The tearing pains are felt more externally, are aggravated by contact, with redness of the ear, stitches in the ear and ringing of the ears. (Is frequently suitable after Arn.)

Dulcamara: The pains are aggravated at night, during rest, with nausea.

HEPAR: Frequently after Bell., when this remedy is insufficient, and the patient complains of stitches in the ears, when blowing his nose, and of beating, throbbing and roaring.

Nux vomica: Suitable to persons of a lively, choleric disposition, for: tearing, stitching pains, extorting cries, or extending to the forehead and temples, with tearing in the facial bones; aggravation in the morning, or in the evening in bed.

PLATINA: Violent crampy pains, shocks, rumbling and detonations in the ears, which feel cold, numb, and as if dead, with creeping extending to the face.

SPIGELIA: Painful aching, as if a large nail were sticking in the ear; with aching and tearing pains in the facial bones.

OVARIES, diseases of.—Principal remedies: 1) Bell. lach. merc. 2) Con. chin. dulc. plat. sabin. 3) Acon. ars. amb. ant.

In a case of acute inflammation of an old indurated ovary, which had been treated with salves, &c., by the best old school physicians, a dose of Con. 30, in water, a teaspoonful every three hours, was sufficient to remove not only the imminent danger, but the inflammation itself, so that, in eight days, the patient was able to walk several miles without inconvenience. It is now seven years since this case occurred, and the patient has remained well so far; the induration, however, never disappeared.

Dr. Hering saw good effects from Lack., and then Plat., in a case of induration and suppuration of an ovary.

For dropsy of the ovaries, Dulc. and sab. have been recommended by American physicians.

§ 3. Symptomatic indications:

ACONITUM: Intolerable pains, especially at night, stitching or throbbing; fever-heat, sighing, lamenting, inconsolable, anxious, or with dread of death; thirst, red cheeks, small and hurried pulse, great sensitiveness of the whole nervous system, especially of the organs of sight and hearing; sleeplessness, with tossing about.

Arnica: Creeping in the affected parts, with restlessness, obliging one to move them constantly; aggravation by the least exertions, and even by the least noise.

ARSENICUM: The pains are burning or tearing, setting in principally at night or during sleep, or driving the patient to despair; attended with: great anguish, debility, obliging one to lie down; intermission; feeling of coldness in the affected part; aggravation during rest, after working, or in the evening, in bed, or after eating; relief by external warmth.

Belladonna: Stitching, burning pains, aggravated by motion, light or noise, also by the least concussion, or even by the stepping of other people in the room; the paroxysms set in every day, after noon, and last until midnight; aggravation by a draught of air, warmth of the bed. &c.

BRYONIA: Aching, or drawing and tearing, or stitching pains, or as if an ulcer were under the skin; aggravation by moving the body, relief by moving the affected part; irritable, vehement disposition; disposition to rheumatism, &c.

CHAMOMILLA: Jerking, tearing, and beating pains, with sensation of rigidity in the affected parts; excessive sensitiveness to pain; extreme debility, even unto fainting, after the first paroxysm of pain; bloated face, or one cheek is pale, the other red; hot sweat about the head, even in the hairs, with restlessness, cries, weeping, and irritable, quarrelsome mood.

China: Extreme sensitiveness of the skin; aggravation by the least touch; sensation of rigidity and laming weakness in the affected parts, attended with aching pains, ill humour, dissatisfied temper, sensual disposition, pale face, with frequent flushes and warmth, very loquacious or restless at night. China is frequently very useful after Coffea.

COFFEA: Intolerable pains, whining mood, the patient is beside himself, with restless tossing about, cries and great anguish; shuddering in the open air; excessive sensitiveness of all the organs of sense, and especially sight; cannot bear the least noise. (After Coff. are frequently suitable: Nux-vom. ign. chin., or puls.)

HEPAR: Pains as if sore, or from subcutaneous ulceration, aggravated by contact; fainting turn when the least paroxysm of pain occurs, especially in the evening.

IGNATIA: Tearing pains or pressure from within outwards, or stitching boring; pale face, watery urine; momentary relief by changing one's position; the pains come on again after eating, in the evening after lying down, or early after rising; changeable mood with tendency to start; or sad, taciturn mood; bland, sensitive temper.

MERCURIUS: Suitable to persons that are disposed to rheumatism, with night-sweats, tearing and stitching pains; aggravation at night; feeling of coldness in the affected parts, debility and orgasmus sanguinis on making the least exertion; pale face, or flushes on the face, or red spots on the cheeks.

Nux vomica: Suitable to persons who are addicted to the use of spirits or coffee, of a lively, choleric temper and red face; or suitable to people who lead a sedentary life; for drawing or jerking pains setting in in the morning, in bed, after eating, or in the evening, aggravated by open and cold air, reading or meditating.

PULSATILLA: Tearing, or stitching and beating pains, only on one side, worse after retiring in the evening, or early in the morning, also during rest and when sitting; relief in the open air; suitable to females and individuals of a bland, timid and quiet temper, with pale complexion and disposition to feel chilly.

Rhus tox.: Creeping and burning pains, or drawing-stitching; or pains as if from subcutaneous ulceration; aggravation during rest and in the open air; relief by motion and warmth; quiet disposition, disposition to melancholy and sadness, or paroxysms of anguish.

VERATRUM: Violent pains inducing delirium and frenzy for a short time; or pains with debility, even unto fainting; cold sweat, general coldness of the body, with thirst; aggravation in bed, and at night, or towards morning; relief on rising and walking.

PAROTITIS.

The best remedy for acute parotitis is Merc., in most cases a specific, though Aurum is sometimes indicated.

Erysipelatous inflammation or metastasis to the brain, with disappearance of the swelling, stupor and delirium, requires Bell.,

or Hyoscyam. if Bell. should not be sufficient.

In case Mercury should have been abused previously, or in case it should not be sufficient, or the swelling should commence to harden, with hectic fever, &c. Carbo-veg. is indicated. This remedy is generally indicated when the patient is very hoarse, and there is a metastasis to the stomach.

If Carbo-veg. should not be sufficient for the hectic fever, Cocculus will be found to be of great service.

In obstinate cases, consider: 1) Kal. rhus. 2) Amm. aur. calc. cham. con.

Comp.: Sore THROAT.

PEMPHIGUS.—Both chronic and acute pemphigus require:
1) Bell. dulc. rhus. sep. 2) Canth. hep. ran.

Compare vesicular erysipelas, which is so much like pemphigus that the same remedies may perhaps be employed for either.

We have no written evidence of the treatment of this disease; nevertheless, the remedies which have been recommended by Hahnemann, for phagedenic blisters, or the so-called Fressblasen, (spreading and corrosive blisters) may be tried for pompholix, though these blisters seem to be of the class of ecthyma rather than pompholix.

PERITONITIS.— Principal remedies: 1) Acon. bell. bry. cham.; or 2) Coff. coloc. hyos. n-vom. rhus.

Comp.: Enteritis, Metritis, Puerperal Fever, Intermit-

TENT FEVER, &c.

PETECHIÆ, Morbus maculosus.

Petechiæ which occur in typhus putridus, require: Ars. brz rhus.

Morbus maculosus Werlhofii yielded in my practice to Bry. in every instance.

We may try, moreover: Arn. bell. berb. hyos. lach. led. n vom. phos. rut. sec. sil. stram. sulph-ac.

PHARYNGITIS, with inflammation of the velum and uvula.
—Principal remedies: 1) Acon. alum. bell. canth. hyos. lach. merc. n-vom. puls. stram.; or 2) Ars. calc. dulc. ign. veratr.

For simple, uncomplicated inflammation, give: Acon. bell.

canth. lach. merc.

Inflammation with spasmodic constriction of the fauces, requires: 1) Bell. hyos. lach. stram. veratr.; or 2) Alum. ars. cic. cocc. ign. laur. lyc. merc. n-vom. op.

For sensation as of a foreign body in the throat, give: 1) Are.

ign. merc. n-vom. puls.; or 2) Bell. lach. sulph.

If the inflammation should extend to the velum, give: Acon. bell. coff merc. n-vcm.

Inflammation of the uvula requires in most cases: 1) Bell.

coff. merc. n-vom.; or 2) Calc. seneg. sulph.

Compare : Sore Throat.

PHAGEDENIC BULLÆ (blisters) OF HAHNEMANN.—A kind of spreading, ulcerated blisters on the buttocks, feet, heels, toes, hands and fingers, always isolated, and distinguished from pompholix by the absence of those mucous derangements of the stomach, intestinal canal, or other functional derangements, which are generally said to accompany pompholix. Principal remedies: 1) Cham. graph. petr. sil. 2) Ars. bor. calc. caust. clemhep. kal, magn-c. merc. natr. nitr-ac. rhus-t. sep. squill. sulph.

PHIMOSIS, paraphimosis and inflammation of the prepuce. If caused by syphilis, give Mercurius, or Nitr-ac. sep. thuj. Phimosis with gonorrhaa, requires: Cann. merc. sulph.

Phimosis from friction or some other mechanical cause, requires Arn., and, if inflammation should be present, give Acon., then Arn., and, if Arn. should not be sufficient, try Rhus-t. or Euphrasia.

If caused by uncleanliness, Acon. or Merc. or Sulph. will be found sufficient.

If by chemical or poisonous substances, &c., give: Acon. bell. bru. camph.

Suppuration requires Merc. or Caps. or Hep., and subsequent indurations: Lach. or Sulph. or Sep.

For threatening gangrene, give: Ars. or Lach. or Canth. To little children, give: Acon. or Merc. or Calc. and Sulph.

PHOSPHORUS, ILL EFFECTS OF.—Complete poisoning requires: 1) according to Hering, vomiting as speedily as possible; if necessary, excite it by tobacco or mustard; 2) black coffee, in large quantities; 3) water mixed with common Magnesia.—Oil and fat things are hurtful, milk likewise.

If symptoms remain, use: 1) N-vom. 2) Alum. bell. sulph.

PHOTOPHOBIA.—Principal remedies: 1) Bell. con. euphr. ign. puls. staph. veratr. 2) Acon. ars. calc. hep. merc. n-vom. phosph. r/us. sulph. veratr.

Belladonna: Halo of various colours around the flame; red spots, mist or darkness before the eyes, diplopia and decrease of Cina: Suitable to scrofulous children, that wet their beds frequently, and to onanists.

CONIUM: Pale redness of the eyeball, with congested vessels of the conjunctiva, suitable to scrofulous subjects.

EUPHRASIA: Headache, the light of the candle seeming to be dark and to flicker.

IGNATIA: Pressure in the eyes, with lachrymation, and without any other perceptible symptoms.

Pulsatilla: Bright circles around the candle-light, with dimness of sight as if through mist, or as if through something that can be rubbed off; diplopia, or obscuration of sight.

STAPHYSAGRIA: Blackness or scintillations before one's eyes, or flames, especially at night, or halos around the candle-light; with dimness of sight.

VERATRUM: Black motes or sparks before the eyes, with diplopia.

Comp.: Ophthalmia and Amblyopia.

PLAGUE, ORIENTAL.—The best remedies seem to be: 1) Ars. bell. carb-veg. chin. rhus. 2) Bry. hep. lach. sil. sulph.

PLETHORA—Such a thing as too much blood does not exist and the symptoms which seemed to point to an excess of blood, frequently yield as by magic to: 1) Acon. bell. ferr. hyos. merc. n-vom. phos. puls. sulph. 2) Arn. aur. bry. calc. chin. croc. dig. graph. lyc. natr-m. nitr. nitr-ac. rhus. sep. stram. thuj., to be chosen in every case in accordance with the symptoms.

PLEURITIS, PLEURISY.—The principal remedy is Acon., a few pellets in water, a tablespoonful every 2 or 3 hours. After Acon., if the improvement should not continue, give Bry., as above; and if sensitiveness to the weather should still remain, give Sulphur after Bry.—Complicated cases may require: Chin. kal. lach. n-vom. squill.; and perhaps: Arn. gran.?

Comp: PNEUMONIA and the other Affections of the CHEST.

PLICA POLONICA.—The principal remedies seem to be : Vinca. borax. lyc. natr-m.

PNEUMONIA.

If weakness of the chest, oppression and cough should remain after Bry, give Phosph or Sulph; or Chin. lach. lyc. sil.

§ 3. If hepatization should already exist before the hom. physician is called, Acon and Bry may still be of great use; but the principal remedy is Sulph, a few pellets in a tumblerful of water, a tablespoonful every 3 hours.

Lach. lyc. phosph. are likewise very useful at times, even after Sulph. (Jahr proposes to give only one dose, and to allow it to act for weeks! Hempel)

§ 4. For asthenic pneumonia (pneumonia notha) as we see it in old people, with danger of paralysis of the lungs, the principal remedy is likewise Acon.; after which, if another paroxysm should set in, Mercury should be given.

Bell. should be given after Merc., if a spasmodic constriction of the chest, with dry hacking cough should remain; or Cham., if the breathing continue wheezing. (After Cham. n-vom. is frequently suitable.)

If no change should take place after Merc, give Ipec., especially if the breathing be anxious and hurried; or Veratr., if the extremities be cold, with constriction of the chest and great anxiety; or Ars., if the patient sink more and more, with suffective paroxysms.

§ 5. Typhoid pneumonia first requires Op., then sometimes

If no change should occur after these two remedies, give Veratr., or Ars., if the debility and rattling increase.

Bry. and Rhus-t.; Ipec. and Ars., or Veratr. and Ars. alternately, are likewise useful.

If the improvement should not continue, give Sulph. and then again one of the former remedies which seemed to be most beneficial.

Bed-sores, especially if gangrenous, require Chin. and Ars. For obscuration of sight give Bell; and if the strength should continue to fail, Natrum-m. is sometimes useful.

§ 6. If symptoms of incipient phthisis should set in after pneumonia, or if the inflammation should threaten to become chronic, and if the existence of tubercles should have to be suspected, give 1) Sulphur; or: 2) Anm. lach. lyc. phosph.; or, 3) Ars. aur. calchep. kal. nitr. nitr-ac. ol-jec. stann. sulph-ac.

If purulent expectoration should remain after pneumonia, give: 1) Chin. ferr. hep. lach. lyc. merc. sulph.; or, 2) Dros.

dulc. laur. led. puls.; or 3) Bell. ? hyos. ? phos-ac. ?

§ 7. Particular indications for other remedies:

Arrica: If the disease be caused by some external injury.
Arsenicum: Fetid and dingy-green expectoration, pointing to approaching gangrene, China or Lach. being insufficient.

Cannabis: Pneumonia accompanied with diseases of the heart or the larger vessels; or with greenish vomiting and delirium.

Capsicum: Pneumonia with bronchial catarrh or bronchitis, suitable to phlegmatic, indolent and suspicious persons.

China: If the patient had lost much blood either by depletion or hæmorrhage; or bilious symptoms or symptoms of incipient gangrene being present.

MERCURIUS: Pneumonia and bronchitis, especially when the patients are disposed to blennorrhoa, or when there is profuse ex-pectoration of viscid, bloody mucus.

Nux vom.: Bronchial symptoms being present, or when the patients are addicted to drinking, or suffer with piles.

Phosphorus: Pneumonia accompanied with bronchial catarrh and dry cough, or for inflammations which occur during the course of tuberculous phthisis. (In the last-mentioned case Kal. and Lyc. will prove useful.)

Pulsatilla: Pneumonia after measles, or in consequence of an obstinate bronchial catarrh, or suppressed meuses.

Squills: Pneumonia attended with gastric symptoms, or after it had been treated by bleeding, Chin. being insufficient; or when a profuse expectoration of mucus was present from the commencement.

§ 8. Compare: Congestions of the chest, Pleuritis, Asthma, Bronchitis, Cough, Pulmonary Phthisis, &c.

POISON, ADIPIC.—This dreadful poison sometimes develops itself in badly kept sausages or other pork. According to Hering, a beverage composed of equal portions of vinegar and water, to be taken in large quantities, is the best antidote. It may likewise be employed as a wash or gargle.

Instead of vinegar lemon-juice may be employed; and, if the patient should desire, these acids may be used alternately with sugar, black coffee, or fresh black tea.

If the dryness of the throat should continue after using these remedies, and if even slimy injections should not procure an evacuation from the bowels, give Bry., and continue it as long as the symptoms continue to be unfavourable.

The ailments which remain after Bry., sometimes yield to Phos-ac.; and, if paralysis or consumption should set in, give Ars. or Kreos.

POISONING, TOXICATION.

§ 1. We refer the reader to Dr. Hering's treatise on "Poisons," from which the principal items contained in this work about poisons and their antidotes have been borrowed.

§ 2. In treating a case of poisoning, two things are required:

1) Removal of the exciting cause; and, 2) Treatment of the disease occasioned by the poisoning.

This treatment is to be conducted in every case agreeably to the principles of the New School.

The removal of the poisonous substances should be effected by the simplest and most innocent method, either with the finger, or, if this should be impossible, as in the case of poisons that had been swallowed, we recommend the following means suggested by Hahnemann and Hering:

1) Excite vomiting or stool by the simplest means, copious administration of tepid water, irritating the fauces by means of a feather or something-similar; placing on the tongue a pinch of salt, snuff, or mustard; or, if neither of these means should be sufficient, resort to injections of tobacco-smoke.

2) Neutralize the poison by means of: The white of an egg, vinegar, or lemon-juice, coffee, camphor, milk, oil, soap, mucilaginous drinks, tea, wine, sugar; or, in some cases: ammoniacal gas, iron-rust, charcoal, kitchen-salt, epsom-salt, sweet-almond oil, spiritus nitr., dulc., potash, boiled starch, &c.

§ 3. Particular indications:

WHITE OF AN EGG, dissolved in a sufficient quantity of water, and used as a drink, especially for: Metallic substances, such as, quicksilver, corrosive sublimate, verdigris, tin, lead, and sulphuric acid; when the patient complains of violent pains in the stomach or abdomen, with tenesmus, or diarrhæa and pains at the anus.

VINEGAR: Antidotes poisoning with alkaline substances; but is hurtful in cases of poisoning with mineral acids, corrosive vegetable substances, Arsenic, and a large quantity of salts. In many cases it removes the ill effects of Aconite, Opium, narcotic substances, poisonous mushrooms, belladonna, carbonic-acid gas, hepar sulphuris, poisonous muscles and fish, and even of adipic acid. The vinegar may be drank or administered by the rectum, alternately with mucilaginous substances. The vinegar should be as pure as possible. Crab-vinegar is, of itself, poisonous.

COFFEE: Strong black coffee, the beans being little roasted, and drank as hot as possible. Indispensable for a large number of poisons, especially when causing drowsiness, intoxication, loss of consciousness, or mental derangement, delirium, &c., in general, antidoting narcotic substances, such as: Opium, nux-vom., belladonna, narcotic mushrooms, poisonous sumach, bitter almonds, prussic acid and all those substances containing it, Bell., colocynth, valer., cicuta and cham. In case of poisoning with Antimony, Phosphor. and Phosphoric acid, coffee is no less indispensable.

Camphon: Principal antidote of all vegetable substances, especially such as have a corrosive effect, or when vomiting and diarrhæa, pale face, cold extremities and loss of consciousness are present. Camphor is a specific remedy for the ill effects of poisoning insects, especially cantharides, whether administered internally or externally. Likewise for the effects of so-called worm-medicines, tobacco, bitter almonds, and other fruits containing prussic acid. It is likewise useful for the secondary affections remaining after poisoning with acids, salts, metals, phosphorus, poisonous mushrooms, &c., after the poisonous substance itself had been removed from the stomach by means of vomiting, &c.

Milk: Less useful than is supposed. To procure an artificial covering or envelop for the poison, mucilaginous substances are to be preferred. Fat milk (or cream) is suitable in all cases where oil is, and hurtful where oil is. Curdled or sour milk is suitable or not suitable in all cases where vinegar is or is not.

OLIVE OIL: Less useful than is believed. It is of no use in cases of metallic poisoning, and even hurtful in cases of poisoning with Arsenic. It is very bad for the ill effects of Canthar. This remark applies to poisoning with any other insect, or if the poison should have got into one's eye. Oil may be used to facilitate the extraction of insects from the ear in case they should have got into it. Oil is most suitable for poisoning with corrosive acids, such as: nitric acid, sulphuric acid, &c. It is sometimes useful in cases of poisoning with alkalies, to be administered alternately with vinegar, and in cases of poisoning with mushrooms.

MUCILAGINOUS SUBSTANCES, drinks, or injections of mucilaginous substances, should be resorted to in cases of poisoning with alkalies, especially when administered alternately with vinegar.

Soar, common castile soap, dissolved in four times its bulk of hot water and drunk, is one of the best remedies in many cases of poisoning. It may be drank by the cupful,—a cupful every two, three, or four minutes, in all cases where the white of an egg is indicated but does not produce sufficient relief. Soap is particularly useful in all cases of poisoning with metallic substances, especially Arsenic, lead, &c. Likewise for poisoning with corrosive acids, such as: Sulphuric acid, nitric acid, &c., with alum, corrosive vegetable substances, castor oil, &c. Soap is hurtful in cases of poisoning with alkalies, such as: Lye, nitrate of silver, potash, soda, oleum tartari, ammonium muriaticum, (Salmiac) ammonium carbonicum, caustic or burnt lime, barytes, &c.

Sugar, or sugar-water, one of the best remedies in many cases. In case of poisoning with mineral acids or alkalies, it is best to resort at once to the specific antidote, though sugar is not hurtful. In cases of poisoning with metallic substances, various kinds of paint, verdigris, copper, sulphate of copper, alum, &c., sugar is preferable to every other remedy, and not till the patient has been relieved by the sugar, administer the white of an egg or soapwater alternately with sugar. Sugar is likewise an excellent antidote in cases of poisoning with arsenic or corrosive vegetable substances.

§ 4. Of the other antidotes, use:

Ammoniacal gas: For alcohol, bitter almonds, prussic acid.

IRON-RUST: For Arsenic.

EPSOM-SALTS: For alkaline poisons.

Charcoal: For foul fish, foul meat, poisonous mushrooms, poisoning muscles, &c.

KITCHEN-SALT: For nitrate of silver and poisonous wounds.

MAGNESIA: For acids.

SWEET-ALMOND OIL: For acids.

POTASH: For acids. STARCH: For iodine.

Spirits of nitre: For alkaline poisons and animal substances.

Tea: For adipic acid and poisonous honey.

WINE: For noxious vapours and poisonous mushrooms.

§ 5. The first thing we have to do, in treating a case of poisoning, is to remove the poison by vomiting, and then to administer suitable autidotes.

If we should not be able to ascertain what kind of poison had been swallowed, we should first administer the white of an egg; and, if there should be stupefaction, coffee.

If we should know that the poison is:

a) A metallic substance, we have to give: first the white of an egg, sugar-water, soap-water, and afterwards, for the remaining ailments: Sulph., which is a real antidote to metals.

b) If acids and corrosive substances, give: 1) Soap-water; 2) Magnesia dissolved in water; 3) Chalk-water; 4) Alkalies or potash dissolved in water, taking a tablespoonful as long as the vomiting continues. Afterwards mucilaginous drinks, and alternately Coff. and Op. as homeopathic antidotes.

As regards the remaining ailments, give Puls. for sulphuric acid; Bry. for muriatic acid; Acon. for the other acids, and especially crab-apple vinegar. If the skin should have been corroded by poisons, apply soap-water, or a watery solution of Caust; and if corrosive substances should have got into the eyes, apply sweet almond-oil, or fresh unsalt-butter.

c) For alkaline substances: 1) Vinegar and water in large quantities; 2) Lemon-juice, or acids from other fruits, diluted with much water; 3) Sour milk; 4) Mucilaginous drinks, or injections. Vinegar is hurtful in cases of poisoning with Barytes; but epsom-salt dissolved in water, renders good service; afterwards, Camph. or Nitr. spir. The secondary effects of poisoning with potash, require: Coff. or Carb-v.; and those of poisoning with spirits of Ammonia, Hep.

d) For the inhalation of noxious vapours: Sprinkle the patient with vinegar and water, or let him inhale the vapours of a solution of chlore; afterwards, after the return of consciousness, give black coffee, or a few doses of Op. or Bell.

(See: VAFOURS.)

- e) For vegetable poisons: 1) Camphor, by olfaction, or sometimes a drop of the spirits of camphor on sugar; 2) Black coffee or vinegar, especially for narcotic vegetable juices. The best antidotes for corrosive vegetable juices, are soap-water and milk.
- f) For animal poisons: See the single poisons, such as: Cantharides, adipic poison, stings of insects, fish-poison, poisonous honey, &c.—For toad-poison, or similar poisons, if they should have got into the stomach, give powdered charcoal, stirred up with oil or milk; or let the patient smell of the sweet spirits of nitre, if bad symptoms should set in, and afterward give Ars.—If a poison of this kind should have got into the eye, give Acon.
- § 6. As regards the wounds or bites inflicted by poisonous animals, Hering proposes the following mode of treatment: For the bites of poisonous serpents, mad dogs, or other poisonous animals, apply heat at a distance, for which purpose any thing may be used which is handy at the time: a red-hot iron, incandescent piece of coal, or even a burning cigar; hold this as near as possible without burning the skin. The heat should be kept up uniformly, and should be concentrated upon the wound exclusively. The edges of the wound should be covered over with oil or fat, and this should be repeated as often as the skin gets dry. If no oil or fat can be had, use soap, or even saliva. Wipe off carefully every thing which is discharged from the wound. Continue the application of heat until the patient feels chilly and stretches himself; if this should take place too speedily, continue to apply the heat for about an hour, or until the effects of the poison commence to disappear.

§ 7. At the same time administer internal remedies. In the case of a serpent's bite, give the patient a swallow of salt-water from time to time, or a pinch of salt or powder, or a few pieces of garlic.

If, nevertheless, dangerous symptoms should set in, give a tablespoonful of wine or brandy every 2 or 3 minutes; continue this until the symptoms abate, and repeat the brandy at every return of a paroxysm.

If the stitching pains should increase in violence, and be felt nearer the heart; if the wound, at the same time, should be bluish, checkered like marble and swollen, with vomiting, vertigo and diarrhea, give Ars. 30, and another dose in half an hour, if the symptoms should continue to get worse, or only in 3 hours, if they should remain unchanged; if an improvement should set in after the first dose, do not repeat the medicine until the symptoms get worse again.

If Ars., even if repeated, should have no effect, give Bell. In some cases Senega may be tried. The chronic sequelæ of the bite of a serpent require: Phos-ac. and Merc.

§ 8. If the bite should have been inflicted by a mad dog, apply heat at a distance as above, and for the remaining treatment see: Hydrophobia.

If the bite should proceed from a man or animal which is not mad, but furious, give Hydrophobin; which is recommended by Hering.

§ 9. Wounds which have become poisonous in consequence of decayed animal matter or pus having got into them, require Ars.

To guard against unpleasant consequences in case we should have to touch decayed animal substances, poisonous wounds or ulcers, or men and animals infected with contagious diseases, we should hold our hands for ten or fifteen minutes near as strong a heat as can be borne, and afterwards wash them with soap. The use of Chlore in such cases is well known.

POLYPI.—Principal remedies: 1) Calc. 2) Phosph. puls. staph. 3) Con. merc. sil. thuj. 4) Amb. ant. ars. aur. graph. hep. lyc. mez. petr. phos-ac. sep. sulph. sulph-ac. teucr.

Mucous growths seem to require: 1) Calc. merc. puls. 2; Fibrous growths: 1) Calc. staph. 2) Ars. petr. phosph. sep. sil. sulph. thuj.

Hep. mez. sulph. teucr.

It should not be forgotten, that, if we wish to treat polypi successfully, we should allow a dose of the appropriate remedy to act 6 or 8 weeks.

POLYPUS OF THE BLADDER—In regard to this disease, we possess the record of only one case, successfully treated with Calc.—Perhaps we might try: Staphys.; or: Con. merc.

phosph. puls. sil. thuj.

I ought to remind my readers of my previous remarks about the long action of Calc. I have always found, that one dose of Calc., if allowed to act, will remove the polypus (from the nose or uterus) in from 4 to 7 weeks; whereas a repetition of the dose, even from the same solution, was attended with unpleasant consequences.

POLYPUS OF THE EAR.—Try: Calc. and Staphys. See: Polypi.

POLYPUS OF THE NOSE—Principal remedies: Puls.; f insufficient, give Calc.—Teucr. is of little use.—Try: Phosph. staph. sep. sil.

POT-BELLIED.—If the patients be children, see: Atrophy of scrofulous children.

If young girls, at the age of pubescence, give Lach.

If old females, or females who have borne many children, give 1) Sepia; or, 2) Bell. calc.? chin.? n-vom.? plat.

PREGNANCY.

§ 1. Principal remedies for the morbid states incident to pregnancy:

a) For convulsions and spasms: 1) Bell. cham. cic. hyos. ign.;

1) Acon. Bell.; or, 2) Calc. chin. lach. phosph. plat.

Of nervous persons, by: Bell. lach. lyc. plat. spig.

§ 4. Symptomatic indications:

ACONITUM: Red and hot face, with pain on one side, creeping or as from an ulcer: swelling of the cheek or jaws; fever-heat, thirst: violent pains with restlessness and anguish, &c.

Belladonna: The pain follows the course of the infra-orbital nerve, and is easily excited by friction; or for tearing, stitching pains in the bones, jaws or malar bones; in many cases rigidity of the nape of the neck; spasms of the evelids; convulsive twitching of the facial muscles and distortion of the mouth; hot and red face, &c.

CAUSTICUM: Tensive or beating pains in the facial bones, especially under the eyes, with a sort of lameness of the facial muscles; or drawing pains in the jaws, so that the patient is unable to open his jaws; rheumatic pains in the limbs, buzzing in the ears, &c.

Colocynthis: Tearing and stitching pains, affecting principally the left side of the face, and extending to the head, temples, nose, ear and teeth, with swelling of the face, aggravation by touching the parts ever so slightly, &c.

CONIUM: The pains set in at night; tearing or stitching.

HEPAR: Pains in the malar bones, worse when touching the parts, extending to the cars and temples.

Lycorodium: Pains commencing with a feeling of coldness, especially in the right side of the face, worse at night or in the evening.

MERCURIUS: Tearing or stitching pains, affecting one whole side of the head, from the temple to the teeth, worse at night in the warm bed, with ptyalism, lachrymation, sweat in the face or about the head, sleeplessness, &c.

MEZEREUM: Spasmodic, stupefying pains affecting the left malar bone, and extending to the eye, temple, ear, teeth, throat and shoulder, worse after taking any thing warm or on coming out of the open air and entering a room.

Nux vom.: Tearing and drawing pains extending to the inner ear, with swelling of the cheeks; red face or cheek, (or one only) or yellowish tinge, especially around the nose and mouth; creeping in the face with twitching of the muscles; aggravation by mental labour, wine, coffee, &c.

PHOSPHORUS: Tearing pains, especially on the left side, with itching and tension of the skin of the face; swelling and paleness of the face; aggravation by moving the facial muscles when eating, talking, &c., or by the slightest touch; pains from the jaws to the root of the nose or the inner ear; congestion of blood to the head, with vertigo; buzzing in the ears, &c.

PLATINA: Tingling pains, with feeling of coldness and numbness in the affected side; or for cramp-pain and tensive pressure in the malar bones; aggravation in the evening and during rest; whining mood; red face, thirst, &c.

Spigelia: Jerking tearing, burning and pressure in the malar bones; violent pains, not allowing either to touch or move the part, with shining swelling of the affected side, or with anguish of heart and great restlessness.

STAPHYSAGRIA: Aching, beating pains from the teeth to the eye, or stitching, burning, drawing, cutting or tearing pains, with sensation of swelling in the affected side, spasmodic weeping, cold hands and cold sweat in the face.

§ 5. Use more particularly:

a) For distensive pains: Bell. ign. phos. plat. spig.

In the first stage, the tubercles being still crude or commencing to inflame and soften, give: 1) Amm. calc. carb-v. lyc. phos. nitr-ac. snlph.; or, 2) Acon. arn. ars. bell. dulc. ferr. hyos. kal.

merc. nitr. stann. sulph-ac.

In the second stage, with puralent expectoration, give: 1) Calc. kal. lyc. phos. puls. sep. sil. sulph. 2) Carb-v. chin. con. dros. ferr. lach. merc. natr. nitr. nitr. ac. phos-ac. rhus. stann. 3) Dulc. hep. guaj. laur. samb. zinc.

Phthisis mucosa, with copious expectoration of tuberculous phthisis, requires: 1) Dulc. hep. lach. merc. seneg. sep. stann. sulph.; or, 2) Ars. calc. carb-v. chin. crot. dig. lyc. phos. puls. sil. zinc.

§ 4. Symptomatic indications:

ACONITUM: Frequent congestion of blood to the chest, with short cough, hæmoptysis and disposition to pneumonia.

Ammonium: Slimy and bloody expectoration, with violent oppression of the chest and short breathing.

Belladonna: Suitable to scrofulous children, with cough at night, shortness of breathing and mucous rattling; or suitable to young girls at the age of pubescence. (After Bell. are frequently suitable: Hep. lach. phos. or sil.)

CALCAREA: An excellent remedy in the second stage after Sulph. or Nitr-ac. refuse to act, or even in the first stage, suitable to plethoric young people that are affected with congestions of blood, bleeding of the nose, &c.; also to young girls with profuse and too frequent menstruation. (After Calc., Lyc. or Sil. or Nitr-ac. is frequently suitable.)

CARBO VEG.: Violent, spasmodic cough, at times dry and painful, at others purulent, slimy and mixed with tuberculous substances.

China: Suitable to patients that have frequently been attacked with pneumorrhagia, or have been debilitated by bleeding. (After Chin., Ferrum is frequently suitable.)

DULCAMARA: When there is great disposition to take cold, or when the disease originates in frequent colds.

FERRUM: When the disease occurred in consequence of pneumonia or a neglected catarrh, and is attended by heavy breathing and vomiting of food or lienteria. (In this latter case China is excellent.)

HEPAR: Suitable to children or scrofulous young people, in the first stage of the disease, frequently after Bell. or alternately with Merc. or Sil.

Kali carb.: Excellent for incipient or developed phthisis, especially after Nitr-ac. or Sil., or when the children look bloated over the eyes and between the eyebrows.

LACHESIS: After or alternately with: Bell. hep. sil.

LYCOPODIUM: For hectic fever with cough and purulent expectoration in consequence of violent or neglected pneumonia; or for incipient or even fully developed tuberculous phthisis, bloody or purulent expectoration. (Suitable after or alternately with: Calc. sil. phos.)

NITRI-AC.: At the commencement of the disease, before using Kali, suitable to persons with brown hair, yellowish complexion, and disposed to diarrhæa.

Phosphorus: Suitable to thin, blond, slender individuals, or to children and delicate girls, with dry, short cough, short breath, striking thinness, bloated appearance under the eyes, disposition to diarrhea or sweat, &c. (Suitable after Bell. or alternately with Lyc. sil.)

Sambucus: The disease is accompanied by profuse, colliquative sweats, or frequent paroxysms of asthma. (Is frequently suitable after, or in alternation with Ars.)

SILICEA: Almost the same symptoms as those for Phosphorus in most cases of incipient or confirmed phthisis, especially after:

Lyc. phos. hep. or calc.

STANNUM: This remedy is not indicated by a decidedly purulent expectoration; but more than any other remedy by mucous expectoration in the first stage of consumption, or when a neglected catarrh threatens to pass into phthisis.

SULPHUR: For pulmonary suppression after violent pneumonia, also for tuberculous phthisis in the second stage, even for incipient tuberculosis, provided the inflammatory symptoms had been removed by other remedies, (such as: Acon. phos.), and a dose is allowed to act for several weeks.

- § 5. It may be proper here to repeat, that the remedy must be well chosen, otherwise it might produce a dangerous irritation and even inflammation of crude tubercles. The medicine should not be repeated unless we are sure that it is the proper remedy, and that the first dose has ceased to act.
- § 6. Compare: Asthma, Congestions of the chest, Bronchitis, Cough, Pneumonia, &c.

PURPLE-RASH.

Principal remedies: 1) Acon. coff. 2) Bell. sulph.

If the disease should be complicated with scarlatina, give: Dulc.

See: Inflammatory fevers and Exanthems, and compare: Variola, Rash, Measles, Scarlatina.

RANULA.

Principal remedies: Calc. merc. thuj.—perhaps also, Ambra.

RASH, MILIARIA.

Principal remedies: Acon. ars. bell. bry. cham. ipec. puls. sulph.

If the breaking out should be accompanied with great anguish, give Ars.

Lying-in women require principally: Bry. or Ipec.; and children: Acon. bell. bry. cham. ipec.

If sudden retrocession or slow development of the eruption should be followed by asthmatic complaints, gastric symptoms and fainting turns, give Ipec.

Miliaria alba requires principally: Ars. bry., and perhaps,

Bell. val.

See: Purple and Scarlet-RASH.

RETENTION OF URINE, ISCHURIA.—Spasmodic ischuria: 1) N-vom. op. puls.; or, 2) Aur. canth. con. dig. hyos. lach. rhus. veratr.

Comp.: URINARY DIFFICULTIES.

Inflammatory ischuria: Acon. cann. canth. n-vom. puls., &c.

Comp.: Cystitis and Urinary difficulties. Paralytic ischuria: Ars. dulc. hyos., &c.

Comp.: URINARY DIFFICULTIES.

RHACHITIS, RICKETS.—Principal remedies: 1) Asa. bell. calc. lyc. mere. puls. sil. staph. sulph.; and, 2) Mez. nitr-ac. petr. phosph. phos-ac. rhus.

For curvature of the spine: Bell. calc. puls. sil. sulph.

For curvature of the long bones and swelling of the joints: Asa. calc. sil. sulph.

For too large size of the head, the fontanelles remaining open:

Calc. puls. sil.

See: Scrophula and Bones, diseases of.

RHAGADES.

- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Alum. calc. hep. lyc. merc. petr. puls. rhus. sep. sulph. 2) Arn. aur. cham. cycl. lach. mang. natrm. nitr-ac, sassap. sil. zinc.
- § 2. Rhagades of the hands, from working in water: 1) Calc. hep. sep. sulph. 2) Alum. ant. cham. merc. rhus. sassap. Chapping in cold weather: Petr. sulph.
- § 3. Hæmorrhoidal rhagades at the anus, require: 1) Agn. arn. cham. graph. 2) Hep. rhus. sassap. sulph.

Rhagades of the lips: Arn. ars. caps. cham. ign. merc. natr-m.

puls. sulph.

Of the alæ nasi: Merc. sil.

Of the prepuce: Arn. merc. sep. sil. sulph. thuj.

§ 4. Deep, bleeding rhagades, require: 1) Cham. merc. sil.

2) Calc. graph. lach. nitr-ac. petr. staph. sulph.

The principal remedy for syphilitic rhagades of the hands, or between the toes, is Merc.; if the patient should have had much Mercury, give: Aur. carb-veg. lach. nitr-ac. sassap. sep. sulph.; nevertheless, Merc. will be found indispensable, provided the rhagades are not exclusively mercurial.

Comp.: Ulcers, Suppurations, Soreness of the skin.

RHEUMATISM.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. bell. bry. cham. merc. n-vom. phosph. puls. rhus. 2) Ant. ars. carb-veg. caust. chin. colch. ferr. hep. ign. lach. lyc. n-mosch. rhod. ruta. sassap. sep. sulph. thuj. veratr. 3) Camph. cann. canth. coloc. cupr. euphr. kreos. magn-c. mez. nitr-ac. ran. spig. squill. stann. tart. val.

§ 2. For acute rheumatism: Acon. arn. ars. bell. bry. cham.

chin. colch. dulc. ign. merc. n-vom. puls. and rhus.

Chronic rheumatism: Caust. clem. hep. lach. lyc. phosph. sulph. veratr.; or: Bry. dulc. ign. merc. n-vom. puls. rhus. thuj. Rheumatism and swelling of joints: Acon. ant. arn. bell. bry.

chin. clem. hep. n-vom. rhus. sulph.

Rheumatism with curvature and stiffness of the affected part:

1) Ant. bry. caust. guaj. lach. sulph. 2) Amm-m. coloc. graphlyc. natr-m. n-vom. rhus. sep.

Rheumatism with lameness: 1) Arn. chin. ferr. ruta.; or, 2)

Cin. coccul. hell. plumb. sassap. staph.

Erratic rheumatic pains: 1) Bry. n-mosch. n-vom. puls.; or, 2) Arn. ars. asa. bell. daph. mang. plumb. rhod. sabin. sassap. sep. sulph. val.

§ 3. Rheumatism in consequence of gonorrhaa: 1) Clem.

sassap. thuj.; or, 2) Daph. lyc. and sulph.

If caused by abuse of Mercury: 1) Carb-veg. chin. guaj. lyc. sassap. sulph.; or: 2) Arg. arn. bell. calc. cham. chin. guaj. hep. lach. lyc. mez. phos-ac. puls.

Pains coming on after taking the least cold, require: Acon.

arn. bry. calc. dulc. merc. phos-ac. sulph.

If caused by bad weather, give: 1) Calc. dulc. n-mosch. rhod. rhus. veratr.; or: 2) Amm. ant. carb-an. carb-veg. lach. lyc. mang. merc. nitr-ac. puls. sep. spig. stront. sulph.

If by a change of weather: Bry. calc. carb-veg. dulc. graph. lach. mang merc. n-mosch. phosph. rhod. rhus. sil. sulph. veratr.

If by being in the water, or by exposure to wet and damp weather: 1) Calc. n-mosch. puls. rhus sassap. sep. 2) Bell-borax. bry. carb-veg. caust. colch. dulc. hep. lyc. sulph.

If by exposure to the cold in winter; 1) Ars. bry. or n-vom.

2) Carb-veg. colch. nitr-ac. phosph. puls. sulph-ac.

§ 4. Symptomatic indications:

Aconitum: Tearing or stitching pains, less when sitting, intolerable at night, with complaints and reproaches; red and shining swelling of the affected part, and excessive sensitiveness to contact and motion; aggravation or return of the pains by wine or other heating causes, also by emotions; high fever, with dry heat, thirst, redness of checks, or alternation of redness and paleness of the face.

Arrica: Pains as if sprained or contused, feeling of lameness and tingling in the affected parts, or hard, red and shining swelling; violent pains in the affected part, with sensation as if resting upon something very hard; aggravation by moving the affected part (Arn. is suitable, after or before: Chin. ars. ferr. or rhus.)

Belladonna: Stitching, burning pains, worse at night and by motion, swelling of the affected part, with shining, widely spreading redness; violent fever, with throbbing of the carotid arteries, congestion of blood to the head, red face and eyes. (Bell. is frequently suitable after: Acon. cham. merc. or puls.)

BRYONIA: Tensive and tearing pains, with stitching in the affected part as often as it is moved; or pains which have no certain locality, and affect the muscles rather than the bones; red and shining, or pale and tensive swelling, or stiffness of the affected part; aggravation at night and during the least motion; general sweat or chilliness and shuddering, or fever-heat with headache, bilious or gastric symptoms; vexed mood, or anger. (Frequently after Acon. or Rhus-t.)

CHAMOMILLA: Drawing or tearing pains, with sensation of numbness or lameness in the affected part; the pains are continuous and get worse at night; fever with burning heat in the affected part, preceded by shuddering; hot sweat about the head, even in the hair; redness, of one cheek only, generally; great restlessness, tossing about, or chill; desire to be in bed. (Suitable after or before Bell. puls. or ign.)

MERCURIUS: Stitching, burning or tearing pains, worse in coid and damp weather, in bed, at night or toward morning; adema of the affected parts; the pains are principally felt in the joints or bones; feeling of coldness in the affected parts; copious sweat, affording no relief. (Is frequently suitable after Bell.

bry. chin. dulc. or lach.)

Nux-vom.: Tensive, jerking or pulling pains, especially in the back, loins, chest or joints, with pale, tensive swelling; numbness or lameness of the affected muscles, with spasms or twitchings in the muscles; aversion to the open air and great sensitiveness to cold; gastric symptoms; constipation, shuddering with trembling and aggravation of the symptoms. (Rarely suitable at the commencement, but frequently after: Acon. cham. ign. or arn.)

Pulsatilla: Drawing, tearing and jerking pains, worse at night or in the evening in bed; also by the warmth of the room, or by attempting to change a position which the patient had been in for a long time; or pains which shift rapidly from one joint to the other; sensation of numbness or lameness in the affected parts, or stitches and feeling of coldness at every change of weather; relief by uncovering the part or in the open air; pale face and chills, increasing with the pains. (Frequently suitable after: Cham. ign. or arn.)

Rhus-tox.: Tearing and burning or tensive pains, or pain as if sprained, with sensation of lameness and creeping in the affected parts; rigidity or red and shining swelling of the joints, with stitches when touched; aggravation during rest and in bad weather.

(Suitable after Arn. or Bry.)

§ 5. Use likewise:

Arsenicum: For burning, tearing pains, worse at night, and in the cold, abating by the application of warmth.

CAUSTICUM: The pains are worse in the open air, in the room and bed; or with lameness, stiffness and curvature of the affected part.

CHINA: Pains which are made worse by motion, with lameness of the affected parts, profuse sweat, &c.

COLCHICUM: Paroxysms of tearing, stitching or drawing pain in the affected part through to the bone; lameness of the affected part; tearing in warm weather, with stitches in the limbs, when the weather is cold; the pains are worse from evening till morning, sometimes intolerable in the evening; nightly heat with thirst; nervousness; yellow spots in the face; loss of appetite with loathing of the smell rather than taste of the food; diminished, dark, brown urine.

DULCAMARA: The pains set in at night and during rest, with little fever.

FERRUM: For rheumatic lameness of the shoulder.

IGNATIA: Pains as if contused or sprained, or sensation as if the flesh were loose on the bones in consequence of blows; the pains are worse at night, diminished by a change of position.

LACHESIS: Chronic rheumatism, alternately with Hepar; or stiffness and curvature of the affected parts.

Lycopodium: Drawing and tearing pains, worse at night and during rest; painful rigidity of the muscles and joints, with sensation of numbness in the affected part. (Suitable after: Rhus. calc. puls. or nux-mosch.)

Nux-mosch.: Wandering, aching or drawing pains, worse during rest, or in the open and cold air.

Phosphorus: Tearing, drawing and tensive pains, setting in when taking the least cold, with headache, vertigo, oppression of the chest, &c.

Rhododendron: The pains are worse during rest, excited by rough, damp, windy weather.

RUTA: Rheumatic lameness of the wrist or tarsal joint.

Sepia: Rheumatic affections in persons of a slender form, especially suitable to females with a delicate skin and complexion.

Sulphur: Chronic rheumatism, and secondary ailments of acute rheumatism. (Frequently after: Acon. bell. bry. merc. or puls.)

Thuja: Tearing and beating pains, as from subcutaneous ulceration, with coldness and feeling of numbness in the affected parts, worse during rest and in bed.

VERATRUM: Pains as if bruised, worse in bed and bad weather, less when walking, with weakness and trembling of the affected part.

§ 6. Comp.: Gout, Pain, paroxysms of, Conditions, Causes, Weather, &c.

RUPIA s. RHYPIA.

- δ 1. Names have caused an immense confusion in the department of cutaneous diseases. Samuel Plumbe, Schenlein and others, confound rupia and cethyma; Hebra applies the name rupia only to syphilitic herpes with pyramidal crusts; Bateman, who distinguishes R. simplex and R. proeminens, understands by it an eruption very similar to ecthyma with which other authors have either confounded rupia, or who, in its higher forms, have classed it with the corroding and spreading ulcers. According to Bateman, the primitive form of rupia is vesicular, never pustulous, as that of ecthyma, though it is very difficult to distinguish these eruptions from each other, when more developed, except perhaps by the fact that the crusts of rupia are broader and less firmly adhering than those of ecthyma. Hebra's rupia is the syphilitic form with conical scurfs, and is the same as Bateman's rupia proeminens; whereas Bateman's rupia simplex is identical with the so-called phagedenic blister of Hahnemann and a kind of phagedenic ulcers of older writers.
- § 2. According to these distinctions, we propose for rupia, or rupia (Schænlein), one or more of the following remedies, or of those which have been indicated for ecthyma.

b) For rupia simplex (Bateman), (the ulcus phagedenicum of some authors, or the bulla phagedenica of Hahnemann: 1) Ars. cham. graph. petr. sil. 2) Borax. calc. clem. hep. natr. nitr-ac.

rhus. sep. squill. staph.

- c) For the rupia of Hebra (rupia syphilitica or rupia proëminens of Bateman) Mercurius. This is not always sufficient; in one case I had to give: $Alum.\ nitr-ac.\ clem.\ thuj.\ sassap.$, then Sulph., and lastly another dose of Merc., which effected a permanent and thorough cure.
- § 3. See: Herpes, Ulcers, Herpes, pustulosus, and Syphilis.

RUBEOLÆ.—This disease is intermediate between scarlatina and measles, the symptoms of the mucous membranes being like those of scarlatina and the eruption itself resembling measles.

The principal remedies are: Acon. bell. n-vom. puls.

See: Exanthemata, Measles and Scarlatina.

RUNNING OF THE EYES—Blennorrhæa oculorum, Ophthalmo-blennorrhæa.

Principal remedies: 1) Dig. euphr. graph. puls. sen. 2) Alumamm. calc. caust. chin. euphr. guaj. hep. lyc. nitr-ac. sil. spig. sulph. thuj.

For frequent lachrymation, give: 1) Acon. bell. calc. euphr. kreos. puls. rut. sil. spig. staph. sulph. 2) Alum. ars. bry dig graph. hep. ign. kal. lach. lyc. merc. natr-m. n-vom. phos. phos-ac. rhus. spong. staph. thuj.

Bleareyedness, lippitudo: 1) Acon. euphr. merc. puls. 2)

RUSH OF BLOOD.

Complained of by plethoric, debilitated, hypochondriac or nervous individuals; the principal remedies are: 1) Acon. aur. calc. hep. kal. kreos. lyc. phos. sep. sulph. 2) Amb. amm. arn. bell. bry. carb-v. caust. croc. chin. ferr. jod. natr-m. n-vom. op. petr. phos-ac. rhus. samb. sassap. sen. sil. stann. thuj.

Rush of blood of plethoric individuals requires: 1) Acon. aur. bell. calc. lyc. phos. sep. sulph. 2) Arn. bry. chin. ferr. natr-m n-vom. rhus. thuj.

Of nervous, very irritable individuals: 1) Acon. arn. bell. chin n-vom. 2) Amb. aur. calc. ferr. lyc. petr. samb.

SAFFRON, ILL EFFECTS OF.

The best antidote, according to Hering, is black coffee, to be drank until vomiting sets in, and for the secondary diseases Opium.

Chronic secondary affections require: Acon. bell. plat. puls.

SAL AMMONIAC, and NITRE, Poisoning with.

Tepid water with unsalt butter, to be drank until vomiting sets in; afterwards mucilaginous drinks in large quantity.

Secondary ailments require: Nitr-sp. coff. n-vom.

SALT, ILL EFFECTS OF.

Principal remedy: Nitri-sp. After this: Ars. carb-v. lyc. merc n-vom, puls.

SASSAPARILLA, ILL EFFECTS OF.

Hering recommends Bell. or Merc.; we may try moreover Amm. cham. lyc. sulph.

SCARLATINA, SCARLET-FEVER.

- § 1. The principal remedy is Bell., unless we should have to give: 2) Acon. am. ars. bar. camph. carb-v. lach. merc. phosph sulph.; or, 3) Con. coff. ipec. phos-ac. rhus.
 - § 2. For the fever in the precursory stage, give: Acon. The sore throat requires, next to Bell., Baryt. and Merc.

Gangrenous sore throat: 1) Amm. ars. carb-v.; or, 2) Lach.

The vomiting requires Acon. or Ars., if Bell. should not stop it; for the tenesmus and the ischuria give Con., and for the pulmonary spasms Ipec., provided Bell is insufficient.

The sleeplessness frequently yields to Acon. or Coff.

§ 3. For retrocession of the eruption, the best remedies are: Bry. phos. phos-ac. sulph.—If cerebral symptoms with coma should have set in, give Op.; or, Bell. if the patient should start as soon as he closes his eyes.

For the varotitis which sometimes sets in after the disease, give: Belt. carb-v. phos. rhus. sil.; or, Merc.

§ 4. The dropsical symptoms after scarlatina, require: Arn. ars. bell. dig. hell. phos-ac. seneg.

Hydrocephalus: Arn. bell. hell. phos-ac.

Hydrothorax: 1) Ars. hell. seneg.; or, 2) Arn. dig.

Ascites : Dig. hell.

Anasarca : Ars. hell. or bar-m.

- § 5. Parotitis or otorrhæa in consequence of scarlatina, requires: Bell. hep. puls.; or, Colch. lyc. men. merc. nitr-ac.; or, if caries of the ossicula aurium should have set in: Aur. calc. natr-m. or sil.
- § 6. The principal remedies for scarlet-rash, are: Acon. and Coff.; or, Sulph. and Bell., if Acon. or Coff. should not be sufficient.

For a combination of scarlatina and scarlet-rash, Dulc. has proved efficient.

§ 7. Particular indications:

Aconitum: Frequent colic, with bilious vomiting; violent fever, with dry heat; frequent, full and hurried pulse; congestion of blood to the head, with bloated face, vertigo and stupefaction, or delirium; or drowsiness with sudden starting from sleep; dry, short, painful cough; bleeding of the nose or spitting of blood;

angina faucium.

Belladonna: Violent inflammation of the throat and tonsils, with stitching pains and spasmodic contraction; inability to swallow liquids, which frequently return by the nostrils; suffocative sensation on touching the pharynx or turning the head; violent thirst, with or without dread of water; inflamed and painful eyes, with photophobia; violent pressure in the forehead, as if the eyes would be pressed out, or tearing and stitching in the head; vertigo with obscuration of sight; red and dry tongue; sleeplessness, with nervousness; frightful visions on closing the eyes; sudden starting from sleep and jumping up.

MERCURIUS: Inflammation and swelling of the tonsils, ptyalism, ulcers in the mouth, swelling of the inguinal glands, &c.

Phosphorus: Dry and hard tongue and lips, which are covered with blackish crusts; loss of speech and hearing, difficult deglutition; inability to retain the urine; falling eff of the hair.

Rhus Tox.: When the eruption becomes vesicular, with sopor, sudden starting from sleep, restlessness, ischuria and great thirst.

Sulphur: Cerebral affection not yielding to Bell., with sopor, sudden starting, distortion of the eyes; constant delirium, bloated and shining-red face; stopped nose; dry, cracked, red tongue, covered with a brownish mucus; thirst and difficulty of swallowing.

§ 8. Try moreover:

ARSENICUM: For complete prostration, sudden emaciation, nightly fever, with burning heat; burning-hot face; distorted features; cold hands and no thirst; gangrenous inflammation of the throat; restless and sleepless; fetid ulcers. Suitable for dropsy after scarlatina.

Capsicum: Very red face, and alternately pale; swollen and chapped lips; burning blisters in the mouth and on the tongue; slimy saliva; sore throat; painful deglutition, with fullness and compression in the throat; painful pressure in the palate and velum, during deglutition; sensation of contraction and spasm in the throat; tickling and roughness in the fauces, with sneezing, hoarseness and hacking cough; accumulation of thick mucus in the nose and throat.

MURIATIC ACID: Malignant scarlatina with dark redness of the cheeks; bluish colour of the throat, red and dim eyes; irregular, faint eruption becoming dark-red, mixed with petechiæ; ulceration of the tonsils and adjoining parts; fetid breath; corrosive discharge from the nose, with soreness and blisters round the nose and lips.

Sulphuris acidum: Pale face, sudden prostration; frequent chills, stitching pains in the throat, with swelling extending to the submaxillary glands; bluish-red spots covered with a pellicle and with suppuration underneath; imperfect, dark eruption with petechiæ.

See: Exanthems, Erysipelas, Purple-rash, Sore throat, &c.

SCROPHULOSIS.

§ 1. Principal remedies: 1) Ars. asa. baryt. bell. calc. cin. con.

The cutaneous affections (eruptions, herpes, ulcers, &c.,) require: 1) Aur. baryt. calc. cist. clem. con. dulc. hep. lyc. merc. mur-ac. rhus. sil. sulph. 2) Canth. kal. mez. nitr-ac. ol-jec. petr. ranunc.

Affections of the bones: 1) Aur. calc. cist. lyc. merc. phos. phos-ac. puls. sil. sulph. 2) Asa. bell. hep. mez. nitr-ac. rhus.

ruta. sep. staph.

Scrafulous enlargement of the abdomen of children: Sulph.; then Calc.; or: Ars. baryt. bell. chin. cin. lyc. n-vom. puls. rhus.

§ 3. Particular indications, which, however, must necessarily be incomplete on account of the great variety of the symptoms:

ARSENICUM: Atrophy, emaciation, swelling of the cervical glands, and hard, distended abdomen; bloated face; diarrhea; debility, with constant desire to lie down; pale and bloated; herpes, scurfy eruptions and ulcers; ophthalmia; scurfs on the hairy scalp; cancerous affections, &c.

Asa: Exostosis, caries; curvature of the bones; glandular swellings; otorrhea; ophthalmia; ulcers of the nose, or nasitis with swelling, &c.

BARYTA: Atrophy; swelling and induration of the cervical glands; bloated body and face, with distended abdomen; physical and mental debility; dry scurfs on the head; inflammation of the eyes and eyelids; herpes in the face; frequent sore throat; great disposition to take cold, &c.

Belladonna: Hard, swollen and ulcerated glands; muscular debility, with difficulty of learning to walk; photophobia; inflammation of the eyes and eyelids; cough with mucous rattling; otorrhæa; emaciation and atrophy; ulcers; inflammatory swelling of the nose; swelling of the lips; frequent bleeding of the nose; cancerous affections; pale and bloated; frequent sore throat with swelling; asthmatic affections; distended and hard abdomen; inability to retain the urine; disposition to wet one's bed; premature development of the mind; blue eyes and blond hair.

CALCAREA: Large head with open fontanelles, curvature of the back and vertebræ, or other rhachitic affections; herpes, scaldhead, crusts in the face; hard or suppurating glandular swellings; ulcers, exostoses or caries; hard and enlarged abdomen, with swelling of the mescnteric glands; emaciation and voracious appetite; thin and wrinkled face, with dim eyes; dry and flaccid skin; difficulty of learning to walk; difficult dentition; ophthalmia, photophobia and blepharophthalmitis; otorrhæa; red swelling of the nose; swelling of the upper lip; frequent bleeding of the nose; pale and bloated; constipation, or frequent diarrhæa, &c.

CINA: Worm-affections, pale face, emaciation, voracious appetite, inability to retain the urine.

CONIUM: Constipation and induration of the glands; herpes; ophthalmia; photophobia; frequent blennorrhea from the lungs; dry cough; asthma; cancerous affections, &c.

HEPAR: Pale and bloated, with induration and suppuration of the glands; atrophy; scaldhead; herpes; ophthalmia; oterrhea; swelling of the mose or upper lip; cancerous ulcers; disposition to phlegmonous sore throat, catarrh or bronchitis; disposition of the skin to ulcerate, &c. (Suitable before or after: Bell. sil. lach. merc.)

IDDIUM: Emaciation; swelling and induration of the glands, the whole of the lymphatic system being involved; rhachitic affections; inflammation of the eyes and eyelids; otitis and otorrhæa; swelling of the mesenteric glands; frequent catarrh, bronchial catarrh, &c.

Lycorodium: Swelling and suppuration of the glands; disposition to catarrh, bronchitis, &c.; inflammation, curvature and other affections of bones; atrophy; herpes and ulcers; scabs on the hairy scalp; ophthalmia; otitis and otorrhea; pale and bloated; frequent sore throat; obstinate constipation, &c. (Frequently suitable after Calc.)

§ 5. Symptomatic indications:

Belladonna: For almost every kind of angina, especially when the following symptoms are present: Sore pains, scraping, sensation of thickness, burning or stinging in the throat, especially during deglutition; pains which extend into the ears; contraction and spasmodic constriction of the fauces, with constant desire to swallow, or else difficult, almost impossible deglutition; absence of thirst or else violent thirst, with aversion to drink, or with inability to drink, because the liquid returns by the nostrils; vivid, frequently yellowish redness of the affected parts, without swelling; or swelling and inflammatory redness of the velum palati, uvula or tonsils, even with suppuration; rapidly spreading ulcers; profuse accumulation of viscid, whitish mucus in the throat, mouth, and on the tongue; ptyalism; swelling of the muscles and cervical glands; violent fever, with hot, red and bloated face; violent aching pain in the forehead; whining mood and obstinacy. (Compare Mercury, which is sometimes indicated before and after Bell.)

Chamomilla: Suitable to children, or when the disease is occasioned by suppression or interruption of the cutaneous action; or for: swelling of the parotid or submaxillary glands, or tonsils; stitching, burning pains, or sensation as if a foreign body were sticking in the throat; dark redness of the affected parts; inability to swallow solids, especially when lying; thirst, with dry mouth and throat; tickling in the larynx, with cough; roughness, hoarse voice; fever towards evening, with alternation of heat and chilliness; red cheeks, or only one cheek red; great restlessness, tossing about, crying, moaning.

Lachesis: Bell. and Merc. being insufficient, for: sore pain, burning and dry throat, at one spot or all over as far as the ears, larynx, tongue, nose, gums, with suffocative breathing, ptyalism, &c.; swelling, redness and swelling of the tonsils and velum; constant desire to swallow, with spasms in the throat, or with sensation as if a lump were sticking in the throat; aversion to drink, the liquid frequently returning by the nose; aggravation in the afternoon, merning, or after sleeping, also by contact; relief by eating.

Mercurius: Frequently in alternation with Bell., for: violent stitches in the throat and tonsils, especially when swallowing, the stitches extending to the parotid glands, ears and submaxillary glands; burning in the throat, with soreness; swelling, and intense inflammatory redness of the affected parts; elongation of the uvula; constant desire to swallow, with sensation as of a lump in the throat that ought to be swallowed down; difficult deglutition, especially as regards drinks, which frequently return by the nostrils; bad taste in the mouth; ptyalism; swelling of the gams and tongue; suppuration of the tonsils, or slowly spreading ulcers in the throat; aggravation at night, or in the evening, or in the open air and when talking; chill towards evening, or alternation of chilliness and heat; sweat, without relief; rheumatic, tearing or drawing pains in the head and nape of the neck.

Nux vom.: Frequently after Cham., or suitable to thin, bilious and choleric individuals, or persons of a sanguine temperament, especially for: scraping and sore pain in the throat, particularly when swallowing or taking an inspiration; pain during empty deglutition, as if the pharynx were contracted, or as if a plug were sticking in the throat; stitches extending to the inner ears, especially when swallowing; swelling of the uvula, palate and tonsils; or sensation of swelling, with stitches and pressure; dry cough, with headache and pains in the hypochondria when coughing; small fetid ulcers in the mouth and throat.

Pulsatilla: Suitable to females and persons of a bland and phlegmatic temper, for: bluish redness of the throat, tonsils or uvula, with sensation of swelling in these parts, or sensation of a lump in the throat; scraping, soreness and dryness in the throat, without thirst; stitches in the throat, especially between the acts of deglutition, with pressure and tension during empty deglutition chill towards evening, with increase of soreness; varicose swelling of the cervical veins; accumulation of tenacious mucus on the affected parts.

§ 6. Give moreover:

Aconitum: For violent fever, with dry heat, red cheeks, restlessness, despair; dark redness of the affected parts, with trouble-some and painful deglutition; burning, choking, creeping and contraction of the throat; painful sensitiveness of the throat when talking; burning thirst.

BEYONIA: Painful sensitiveness of the throat to contact, and when turning the head; painful and troublesome swallowing, as if a hard body were sticking in the throat; stitches, soreness and dry feeling in the throat, rendering talking difficult; fever, with or without thirst, or chilliness and feeling of coldness; irritable mood.

Carsicum: Fever, with chill and thirst, and subsequent heat; aching pains with spasmodic constriction of the throat; soreness and ulceration of the mouth and throat; painful cough; constant desire to lie down and sleep, with dread of the open air and cold.

Coffee Coryza, irritation in the throat, inducing cough; sleeplessness, heat, whining and moaning; swelling of the velum and elongation of the uvula; the affected parts are very sensitive;

short, dry cough, &c.

HEPAR: After Bell. or Merc., for: dryness, sensation of a lump, or stitches in the throat, as from splinters, especially when swallowing, coughing, breathing or turning the head; painful scraping, difficult deglutition, pressure in the throat with danger f suffocation; swelling of the tonsils.

IGNATIA: Red and inflammatory swelling of the palate or tonsils; sensation as of a lump in the throat, or stitches extending to the inner ears, especially between the acts of deglutition, with burning or sore pain when swallowing; it is more difficult to swallow liquids than solids; the tonsils are hard or covered with little ulcers. (Compare: Cham. nux-v. puls.; or, Bell. merc. sulph. hep.)

Rhus Tox.: Bryonia being insufficient; rather whining disposition; pressure and stitches during deglutition; beating pain at the base of the pharynx; sensation of contraction in the throat during deglutition; sensation of swelling in the throat, with con-tusive pain even when talking.

SULPHUR: Swelling of the throat, tonsils or uvula; scraping and dryness, sore pain; burning and stitching in the throat, during and between the acts of deglutition; pressure in the throat as from a lump, or painful sensation of contraction, with difficult deglutition; swelling of the cervical glands.

§ 7. Try moreover:

BARYTA CARE.: The sore throat sets in every time after taking cold, with swelling and hardness of the tonsils and disposition to suppurate.

CHINA: Swelling of the palate and uvula, with stitches in the throat, especially when swallowing, or with restless sleep at night; the pain increases by the least exposure.

CICUTA: Excessive swelling of the throat in consequence of a foreign body having penetrated into it, Bell. being insufficient.

Cocculus: Pains in the esophagus, with dryness extending down to the chest; gurgling noise when drinking.

Dulcamara: Catarrhal sore throat, with excessive secretion of mucus; Merc. being insufficient.

Sabadilla: Obstinate sore throat, with pressure, burning, sensation of a lump in the throat or of constriction, between and during the acts of swallowing; dryness, scraping and roughness in the throat. with constant desire to swallow.

Sepia: Soreness, stitches when swallowing, with frequent rattling and secretion of mucus.

VERATRUM: Dry throat, with burning, roughness, scraping, or constrictive pain; choking, pressure and spasm when swallowing.

§ 8. As regards symptoms, give:

SPASMS, CONVULSIONS.

- § 1. We have arranged under one head the various spasmodic affections, such as: catalepsy, epilepsy, chorea, hysteric convulsions, eclampsia, tetanus, &c., because they frequently indicate the same remedy, provided the secondary symptoms correspond to it. The reader is thus enabled to discover more easily the characteristic indications for the respective remedies.
- § 2. Principal remedies for spasmodic affections: 1) Bell. calc. caust. cham. cupr. hyos. ign. ipec. lach. n-vom. op. sil. stram. and sulph. 2) Acon. ang. arn. ars. camph. cic. citr. cocc. croc.

§ 3. Give more particularly:

Aconitum: For: violent palpitation of the heart, congestion of blood to the head, buzzing in the ears; and if the fainting takes place as soon as the patient raises himself from a recumbent posture, with chills and deadly paleness of the face, which was red previously.

CARBO VEG.: The paroxysms set in after sleeping, after rising in the morning, or while yet in bed.

Chamomilla: The paroxysm is accompanied with vertigo, darkness of sight, hard hearing, sensation of qualmishness and flatness in the pit of the stomach, &c.

COFFEA: Suitable to sensitive persons, and if the symptoms caused by fright do not yield to Acon.

HEPAR: The paroxysms set in in the evening, preceded by vertigo.

LACHESIS: Asthmatic affections, vertigo, pale face, nausea, vomiting, pains and stitches in the region of the heart, cold sweat, spasms, trismus, stiffness and swelling of the body, &c.

Moschus: The paroxysms set in at night, or in the open air, with pulmonary spasms, or succeeded by headache.

Nux vom.: The paroxysms set in principally in the morning, or after a meal; also suitable to pregnant females or persons worn out by mental labour or addicted to the use of spirits; and generally, when nausea, pale face, scintillations before the eyes, or obscuration of sight, pains in the stomach, anguish, trembling and congestion of blood to the head or chest are present.

Phosphori acid.: The paroxysms set in after a meal, Nux-v.

being insufficient.

VERATRUM: The paroxysms set in after the least motion, or are preceded by great anguish or despondency; or attended by spasms, lock-jaw, convulsive motion of the eyes and eyelids, &c.

SYPHILIS AND SYCOSIS.

The principal remedy is Mercurius 3, a dose every day or every other day. After eight or ten days, (or even after two or three days,) red tips, being healthy granulations, can be perceived at the bottom of the ulcer, which continue to increase. During this time the ulcer sometimes bleeds and the edges become depressed.

After the syphilitic character of the ulcer, that is, its lardaceous appearance, has disappeared, and the cicatrix should not form properly, or proud flesh should start up from the ulcer, Nitr-ac. can be given with excellent effect.

NITRIC-AC. is likewise excellent for chancres that had been ineffectually treated with large doses of Mercury. It should not be given when the chancres heal of themselves, without Mercury.

- § 3. Every chancre which is not treated, or improperly treated with Mercury, becomes chronic after the lapse of from six to eight weeks, losing its lardaceous appearance and raised edges, and exhibiting a red surface with a hard bottom, and secreting a thin, bad pus. Nitr-ac. should not be given for such chancres, for it favours the breaking out of general syphilis, the symptoms of which are roseola on the abdomen, and pimples on the forehead and region of the stomach. The principal remedy is Mercurius, which should be continued, giving one dose every forty-eight hours until the chancre and the spots and pimples have disappeared. Should doubtful symptoms develop themselves after the disappearance of the chancre, and should their true nature, whether mercurial or syphilitic, not be apparent, give: Aur. carbv. lach. nitr-ac. phos-ac. thuj.
- § 4. Secondary chancres in the throat require the same treatment as the primitive chancre; sometimes a few doses of Thuja may be given, if the patient should have taken much Mercury.

Buboes require Mercurius, the same as the chancre; but if the patient should have been drugged with large doses of Calomel, give Nitr-ac., or sometimes Aurum or Carb-veg.

§ 5. Constitutional syphilis requires Mercury; or, if the patient should have been drugged with it: Alum. bell. carb-veg.

clem. dulc. guaj. hep. jod. lyc. phos-ac. sassap. staph.

Syphilitic hone-pains require: Aur. merc. lach.;—spots and herpes: Merc. lach. nitr-ac. thuj.;—syphilitic ophthalmia: Merc or Nitr-ac. *

the specific remedy for syphilitic diseases is undoubtedly Mercury' the lower triturations of which are generally used. The red precipitate acts more intensely than the Merc. sol. Hahnem., and Mueller reports a case where both these preparations failed, and Cinnabaris effected a cure. Cinabaris is likewise effectual in gonorrhea, even in cases where the other mercurial preparations fail. Goullon of Weimar recommends Merc. corr. for chancres, one half of a grain, 1st trit., with eight ounces of pure water and half an ounce of spirits of wine, a tablespoonful morning and evening (diminishing the quantity when vomiting followed the first dose or two.) He recommends baths of Merc. corrosiv. for syphilitic eruptions, scrofula, &c. except when much Mercury had been used previously, in which case Acid. nitr. is recommended. In sore throat Lyc., in ostitis and exostitis Sil., and in tetters and herpetic sores Sassapar. (ptisan) proved the most serviceable. Attomyr recommends the following remedies for chancre: Merc. sol., merc. dulc. merc-corr. acid. nitr. thuj, hep. corollia rubra, acid-phosph. sulph. caust. staph. He cured a case of syphilitic orchitis with Clematis and a case of mismanaged condylomata on the anus with Staphysagria. Mezereum should not be forgotten in the treatment of nodes. A great many homeopathic physicians in this city, use strong injections of nitrate of silver for the cure of gonorrhea, Hempel.

TINEA CAPITIS.—Principal remedies: 1) Ars. calc. hep. lyc. rhus. sulph.; or, 2) Bar-c. cic. graph. cleand. phosph. sep. staph. vinc.

For dry scaldhead (tinea furfuracea, amiantacea, favosa? granulata) give: 1) Sulph. or, Calc.; or, 2) Ars. hep. phosp.

For humid scaldhead (achor tinea capitis et faciei musciflua): Lyc. sulph.; or, 2) Hep. rhus. sep.; or, 3) Bar-c. calc. cic. graph. oleand. staph. vinc.

If other scrofulous ailments should be present at the same time, such as: swelling of the cervical glands, &c., give: 1) Amm.

ars. baryt. calc. staph.; or, 2) Bry. dulc.

The best mode of classifying tinea, is as follows:

1) Tinea granulata, the real dry scaldhead, resembling favus, except that the tips are arched, not depressed in the shape of a goblet.

2) Tinea mucifiua, humid scaldhead, groups of pustules, with copious secretion of moisture, which, on drying, causes the hairs to stick together and covers the head like a layer.

3) Tinea favosa, s. favus, a sort of fungous growth, in the shape of small pustules depressed at their tips.

4) Tinea annulata, circular groups of yellowish pustules, through whose centre a hair passes; with destruction of the follicles.

5) Tinea amiantacea, or eczema of the hairy scalp, generally affecting old people.

It might perhaps be desirable that we should finally succeed in prescribing certain remedies for certain forms of tinea, though I (Jahr) think that the constitutional symptoms of the patient are better indications for the selection of a remedy than the form of the eruption.

§ 7. Symptomatic indications:

Belladonna: Anxiety driving one to and fro; or for: sadness, whining mood; pains in the gums and teeth as if ulcerated; tearing, cutting, stitching or drawing pains in the teeth, face and ears, worse in the evening, after lying down, and especially at night; boring in the carious teeth, as from congestion of blood, with bleeding on sucking at the teeth; painful swelling of the gums, with heat, itching, vesicles, and burning; swelling of the cheeks; ptyalism, or dryness of the throat and mouth, with great thirst; the pains are renewed by mental labour, or after a meal; aggravation in the open air and by the contact of food (while chewing, &c.); hot and red face; beating in the head or cheeks; burning and redness of the eyes.

are sometimes suitable: Merc. hep., or cham. puls.)

CHAMOMILLA: Irritable and whining mood during the pain; violent drawing, jerking, or beating and stitching pains; pains that seem intolerable, especially at night, in bed, driving one to despair, with hot swelling of the cheeks, and redness, shining swelling of the gums, and swelling of the submaxillary glands; pains in one whole side of the jaw without the patient being able to point out the tooth which is affected; digging and gnawing in a carious tooth, with looseness; stitching or beating semilateral pains in the whole side of the head which is affected, in the ear and face; aggravation or renewal of the pains from eating or drinking anything cold or warm, especially coffee; pains with heat and redness, especially of one cheek; warm sweat, even in the hairs; anxiety, restlessness, or weakness unto fainting, &c.

Mercurius: Tearing, stitching pains in the carious teeth, or in the roots of the teeth, affecting the whole side of the head and face, even to the ears; painful swelling of the cheek or submaxillary glands; ptyalism; aggravation in the evening or at night, in bed; the pains are excited by cool and damp air, or by eating or drinking any thing hot or cold; dullness, looseness and sensation of elongation of the teeth; swollen, whitish, ulcerated, and colourless gums, readily bleeding, with itching, burning and soreness to the touch; night-sweats, vertigo, rheumatic pains in the limbs: peevish or whining mood; chilliness, red cheeks, &c. (Is frequently suitable before or after Bell. or dulc., or before Hep. or carb-veg.)

Nux vom.: Suitable to persons of a lively, choleric temperament, with bright complexion; also to individuals who indulge in coffee, wine, brandy, or who lead a sedentary and confined life; sore pains or jerking drawing, with stitches in the teeth and jaw, or only in the carious teeth; pains extending to the head, ears and malar bones, with painful swelling of the submaxillary glands: swelling and sensitiveness of the gums, with beating as if in an ulcer; red and hot spots on the cheeks and neck; aggravation or renewal of the pains at night, or early after waking, or after dinner, during a walk in the open air, when reading, thinking, or performing any other mental labour, or in a warm room; relief in the open air; lamenting and despairing, or irritable, quarrelsome, peevish humour.

Pulsatilla: Suitable to individuals of a bland, quiet and timid disposition, and who cry easily; toothache with otalgia and hemicrania; tearing, drawing, stitching or jerking pains, as if the nerves were put upon the stretch, and then suddenly let go again; or beating, digging and gnawing pains, with creeping in the gums; pains which extend to the face, head, eye and ear of the affected side, with pale face, heat in the head, chilliness of the body, and asthma; aggravation or renewal of the pains in the evening or at night, after midnight, in bed and in a warm room, or from eating or drinking any thing warm, when sitting or picking the teeth; relief by cold water (which sometimes aggravates the pain), and by cool, fresh air.

§ 8. Bryonia: Suitable to persons of a lively and choleric disposition, or to vehement and obstinate people; pains in carious and still more in the sound teeth; jerking and drawing pains, with looseness of the teeth and sensation of elongation, especially during and after a meal; stitches in the ear; pains, with desire to lie down; worse at night or by introducing anything warm into the mouth, or by lying on the sound cheek, relief being obtained by turning to the affected side; soreness of the gums.

CALCAREA: Toothache, with congestion of blood to the head, especially at night; with beating, stitching, boring pains, or soreness; gnawing and digging, both in the carious and sound teeth; swelling, painful sensitiveness of the gums, with liability to bleed; aggravation or renewal of the pains by a draught of air, or cold air, or by drinking any thing warm or cold, or by the least noise, cold, and when the menses make their appearance.

China: After debilitating losses of animal fluids, while nursing, &c.; or if the pains should cause ill, quarrelsome humour; or for dull, distressing pains in the carious teeth; or beating, drawing and jerking pains; the pains come on or get worse after a meal, or at night, or after the least contact; they return in the open air, or in a draught, and abate by pressing the teeth firmly together; swelling of the gums; dry mouth with thirst; congestion of blood to the head, with swelling of the veins on the forehead and hands; restless sleep at night.

HYOSCYAMUS: Violent tearing and heating pains, extending rom the cheek to the forehead; swelling of the gums, with tearing pains and buzzing in the tooth, which appears to be loose; the pains come on in cold air, or early in the morning; congesion of blood to the head, with heat and redness of the face;

spasms in the throat, or convulsive twitching of the fingers, hands or arms; nervousness; red and shining eyes.

IGNATIA: In many cases where N-vom. and puls. seem to be indicated, or suitable to persons of a bland disposition, or who are now disposed to weep, then to be merry and cheerful, but especially to persons who are apt to give themselves up to grief; the teeth feel bruised, loose; the pains are particularly felt towards the end of the meal, or are even worse; or they are aggravated by coffee, smoking, after lying down in bed in the evening, or on waking in the morning.

MAGNETIS POL. ARCTICUS: Pains in the carious teeth, as if they would be pulled out, or painful jerks and shocks through the periosteum of the jaw, with drawing, aching, tearing, digging, burning or stitching pains; swelling and painfulness of the gums to contact, or the gums feel numb when the pains abate; aggravation of the pains after eating, and in warmth; relief in the open air and when walking; red and hot swelling of the cheek; chilliness of the body; nervousness, tremour of the limbs

MEZEREUM: The carious teeth are principally affected, with burning, boring or drawing stitches, extending to the facial bones and temples; sensation as if the teeth were too dull, and elongated; aggravation of the pains by contact, motion, or in the evening, with chilliness, rushes of blood, congestion of blood to the head; feeling of rigidity and drawing pains in the affected side of the head; constipation, loss of appetite, ill-humour.

Rhus tox.: Suitable to persons of a quiet, melancholy or anxious disposition; for tearing, jerking or stitching pains, or for digging and creeping, and sore pains in the teeth; the pains get worse, or come on in the open air, or at night, when they are intolerable; relief by applying something warm; the gums are painful, and burn; the teeth are loose, and the carious teeth smell badly. (Comp. Bell. and Bry.)

Spigelia: Aching, distensive pains, or jerking, beating, tearing, especially in the carious teeth; the pains set in immediately after eating, or at night, obliging the patient to get up; worse by applying cold water or going into the open air; particularly useful for: burning, jerking and tearing pains in the malar bones; bloatedness of the face, with yellowish colour around the eyes; pains in the eyes; frequent desire to urinate, palpitation of the heart, chilliness, restlessness.

STAPHYSAGRIA: The teeth are becoming black, carious, and commence crumbling, with pale, white, ulcerated, swollen and painful gums, readily bleeding, with tubercles and excrescences; swelling of the cheek and submaxillary glands; aching, tearing and drawing pains in the gums, in the carious teeth and in the roots of the sound teeth; the pains are worse or set in when chewing, or immediately after drinking any thing cold, or after eating, or by exposure to cold air, or early in the morning, or at night.

SULPHUR: For tearing, jerking and beating pains, in sound or carious teeth; pains which extend to the ears and head, with swelling of the cheeks, congestion of blood to the head, head-ache, inflammatory redness of the eyes and nose; stitches in the ears; constipation, with frequent but ineffectual urging to stool; pains in the small of the back; restlessness in the extremities; drowsiness in the daytime, chilliness; aggravation or renewal of the pains in the evening, or at night in bed, or in the open air, in a current of air; also by applying cold water, when eating or chewing; looseness, elongation or dullness of the teeth: the gums bleed readily, recede from the teeth, are swollen, with beating pains. (Suitable after Coff. or Acon.)

§ 9. Consider likewise:

Aconitum: When it is difficult to describe the pains, the patient is beside himself, Coff. being insufficient; stitching jerks or shocks, or throbbing pains, with congestion of blood to the head.

heat in the face, red checks and great restlessness.

Antimonium: Pains in carious teeth, followed by jerking and gnawing, extending up to the head, especially in the evening, in bed; the pains are worse after eating, or by applying cold water; relief in the open air; the gums bleed readily and recede from the teeth.

Arnica: Toothache after an operation; or for pain as if sprained in the teeth; or for drawing and pulling in the teeth, while eating; or when the cheek is swollen, red and hard, with beating and tingling in the gums.

ARSENICUM: Elongation and painful looseness of the teeth; drawing, jerking pains in the teeth and gums, extending to the ears, cheek and temples; the pains are so great, that they drive the patient to despair; the pains come on at night, are aggravated by lying on the affected side; relief near the warm stove.

Carbo veg.: Ars. or merc. being insufficient, for receding and bleeding gums, with ulcers; the teeth are loose and sensitive to contact, especially after eating; drawing, tearing or beating pains, especially when the teeth are touched by hot, cold or salt things.

COFFEA: Excessive pains, with weeping, trembling, anguish and tossing about; indescribable pains, or tearing and jerking, especially at night or after a meal. (If Coff. should not be sufficient, give Acon. or hyoscyam. sulph. veratr.)

HEPAR: Frequently after Merc. or bell., especially for painful or erysipelatous swelling of the cheeks; jerking and drawing pains in the teeth, worse when pressing the teeth together, when eating, in a warm room, or at night.

SEPIA: Beating and stitching pains, especially when the patients have a yellowish complexion; pains which extend to the ears, and along the arm, to the fingers, where they terminate in a creeping sensation; particularly when the pains are attended with swelling of the cheeks, cough, and swelling of the submaxillary glands.

SILICEA: Stitching pains, with swelling of the jaw-bone or only the periosteum; pains affecting the jaw rather than the teeth; or nightly pains, with sleeplessness; unhealthy skin; aggravation of the pains at night, or by the contact of any thing hot or cold.

VERATRUM: Pains with swelling of the face, cold sweat on the forehead, nausea or even vomiting of bile; rigidity of the extremities; fainting, coldness of the whole body, with internal heat and excessive desire for cold water; beating pains, or pressure and feeling of heaviness in the teeth.

§ 10. Or try, lastly:

BARYTA CARB.: The gums and cheeks are pale and swollen, with beating in the ears, especially at night; or burning stitches in the teeth, when touched by any thing warm.

CAUSTICUM: Beating or stitching pains, with painful or readily bleeding gums, and rheumatic pains in the facial muscles, eyes and ears.

CYCLAMEN: Stitching and boring pains, or dull jerking, especially at night, in arthritic patients.

Dulcamara: Toothache from cold, with diarrhea, Chambeing insufficient; or dullness of the head, with ptyalism, and receding, spongy gums, Bell. and merc. being insufficient.

Euphorbium: Aching, stitching or boring pains, with erysipelatous swelling of the cheek, or with crumbling of the teeth.

Magnesia carron: Boring pains at night, or tearing and jerking pains, or ulcerative pains; intolerable pains during rest, obliging the patient to get up and walk the room, with swelling of the cheek.

NITRI ACIDUM: Beating, or jerking, stitching and drawing pains, especially in the evening, in bed.

PHOSPHORI ACIDUM: Swollen, receding and bleeding gums, with tearing pains, worse in bed and by the contact of hot or cold things; violent pains in the incisores at night.

PLATINA: Beating and digging pains in the teeth, worse in the evening and during rest; crampy sensation and numb pain in the affected side of the face; proud, overbearing disposition.

Sabina: Beating or aching pains, setting in in the evening or at night, in bed, and after eating, with sensation as if the tooth would fly to pieces, or would be torn out; beating in the whole body; frequent eructations and loss of blood from the uterus.

TYPHUS.

§ 1. Under this head we arrange all fevers with typhoid symptoms, such as: typhus gastricus, stupidus, versatitis, putridus, &c.; and even pneumo-typhus, for this is, after all, typhus affecting most particularly the lungs. Pneumonia may assume a typhoid character in consequence of excessive bleeding, but this would not be true pneumo-typhus, and the characteristic disorganization of the blood, as well as the regularity of the stages which we observe in true typhus, are wanting in such apparently typhoid diseases.

In true typhus, whether putridus, petechialis, &c., Bry. and Rhus-t. are the principal remedies; if, however, neither of these remedies should be indicated by the symptoms, we may resort to:—

§ 2 The following remedies: 1) Bell. bry. hyos. lach. merc. n-vom. phos-ac. rhus. stram. sulph. 2) Acon. arn. ars. camph.

carb-v. cham. chin. cocc. lyc. mur-ac. natr-m. nitr-sp. n-mosch. op. puls. sulph. 3) Daph. gran. phos. sulph-ac.

§ 3. Pseudo-typhus, that is, fevers with apparently typhoid symptoms, require: Acon. arn. ars. bell. bry. chin. cocc. hyos. lach. lyc. merc. mur-ac. natr-m. phos-ac.rhus. stram. sulph.

True typhus requires, as was said above: 1) Bry. or Rhus-t.; or, if these should be insufficient: Ars. lach. merc. mur-ac. phos-

ac. sulph-ac.; or one of the remedies mentioned in δ 2.

We may furthermore select:

a) For typhus versatilis: Acon. bell. bry. cham. hyos. lyc. mur-ac. natr-m. n-vom. rhus. stram.

b) Typhus stupidus: Arn. ars. bell. bry. chin. cocc. hyos. lach.

- § 5. In the precursory stage, Bry. or Rhus-t. will sometimes cut the disease short.

The inflammatory stage requires: 1) Bry.; or, 2) Acon.

bell. cham. hyos. lyc. n-vom. stram.

The stage of debility requires: 1) Rhus.; or, 2) Ars. carbveg. chin. merc. mur-ac.; or, 3) Arn. lach. n-mosch. phos-ac. sulph.—Carbo-veg. particularly will sometimes bring about a favourable change, even if life seems almost extinct.

During the stage of convalescence, if the patient should be very weak, give: 1) Cocc. chin. veratr.; or, 2) N-vom. sulph.

§ 6. Symptomatic indications:

Belladonna: Alternate chill and heat, or internal and external heat, with redness and burning heat of the cheeks or whole face; red, sparkling eyes; dilated pupils; photophobia; buzzing in the ears and hard hearing; unsteady or furious look; bloated face; burning thirst with aversion to drink, or with desire for drink and inability to swallow; restless sleep, sleeplessness; starting during sleep, or on waking; loss of consciousness, with muttering, grasping at flocks, or furious delirium with frightful visions, fear, desire to escape; violent headache, especially in the forehead; vertigo on raising the head; dry lips; ulcerated corners of the mouth; dry and red tongue, or covered with a dirty coating; bitter taste in the mouth; loss of appetite, loathing of food and nausea; anxiety and oppression in the pit of the stomach; no stool; bright-yellow or scanty, red urine; hurried breathing; frequent pulse; hurried, or feeble, indistinct speech; cold sweat in the face, especially on the forehead, under the eyes and around the nose; great languor; painfulness of all the limbs; cough with pains in the chest, &c. (Comp. Hyosc.)

Hyoscyamus: Furious delirium, with all sorts of visions; nervousness, with sleeplessness and restlessness, or comatose state, interrupted by delirium which is at times of a bland, at others of a furious character; listlessness, dullness, great debility, especially of the hands on moving them; jactitation of the muscles; grasping at flocks; desire to escape; pale, or red and hot face, with bluish cheeks; dim, staring eyes, with blue margins around the same; or red and sparkling eyes, with alternately dilated and contracted pupils; hardness of hearing, with buzzing and ringing in the ears; dry, parched tongue, covered with a brownish coating. (Comp. Bell.)

LACHESIS: Vertigo as often as the patient raises himself; lame eyelids, bitter mouth; pain in the chest, with dry cough; coma; depression of the lower jaw; muttering delirium, stupid looks; smooth and dry, or whitish, or parched or yellowish-red tongue; or heavy tongue; thirst with aversion to liquids; red-brown and copious urine.

Lycopodium: Prostration; depression of the lower jaw; dim and half-closed eyes; slow breathing with open mouth; or alternate chills and heat; animation without heat or congestion of blood to the head or face; circumscribed redness of the checks; debilitating sweats; red tongue; constipation; quiet disposition, or screams; ill will, especially on waking.

Mercurius: Vertigo, stupefaction, fullness and confusion of the head; dullness, inability to think; headache, especially in the forehead and on the vertex; buzzing in the ears; the tongue is thickly coated, or dirty-yellow, or clean tongue with a bitter. foul taste; bleeding gums; nausea, desire to vomit, or vomiting of slimy and bitter substances; great sensitiveness and painfulness of the pit of the stomach, region of the liver, and abdomen around the umbilicus, with pains, especially at night; restlessness, anxiety, and tossing about; constipation, or green, yellow, diarrhaic stools; dark, brownish urine; burning and dry skin, or copious, debilitating and clammy sweats; debility; sleeplessness; no delirium, or scarcely perceptible.

Nux vomica: Excessive sensitiveness of all the organs, with prevailing gastric and bilious symptoms; drowsiness, as if intoxicated, with loss of consciousness; prostration; red and burning cheeks, and palms of the hands; white, or black dry tongue, with red and cracked edges, dry lips; thirst with aversion to liquids; foul or bitter taste, especially of liquids; aversion to food; tearing or aching pain in the head, with vertigo; colicky pains, palpitation of the heart, and anguish; painful pressure and tension in the region of the stomach and hypochondria; sensation in the limbs as if bruised and paralyzed; vehement, peevish disposition.

PHOSPHORI ACIDUM: Complete listlessness, stupefaction and dullness; prostration; taciturn; staring, dull looks, with glassy or hollow eyes; sleeplessness at night, with anguish and tossing about; or irresistible drowsiness and sleep, full of fancies, or muttering delirium and grasping at flocks; confusion and painful cloudiness of the head, especially on waking; violent buzzing in the ears, with hardness of hearing; dry tongue; dryness, burning and roughness of the skin; heat, especially towards evening; diarrhæic stools, or constipation, with heaviness and pressure in the abdomen; brown-red urine with reddish sediment; cold sweat in the face, pit of the stomach and on the hands, with anguish, &c. (Is sometimes suitable before or after Opium.)

Rnus-T: Prostration, the patient being scarcely able to turn about; sleeplessness, with anguish and frequent starting, or coma with muttering, stertorous breathing, and grasping at flocks; dry heat with anguish; silliness or confusion of ideas, or complete loss of consciousness; loquacious delirium with desire to escape, alternating with lucid intervals; stupefying headache; vertigo on raising one's head or turning about; burning and redness of the face or cheeks; red and burning, or staring and dim eyes; stopped ears and hardness of hearing; dry mouth and fauces; dry, chapped, brownish or blackish lips and tongue; or trembling and red tongue; great thirst; loss of appetite and aversion to food; hard and distended abdomen, with violent pains in the region of the stomach, especially when touching the part; constipation with ineffectual urging; or blood-coloured, diarrhæic stools; the urine is at first clear and becoming turbid after standing awhile, or it is hot and dark-coloured; dry heat, with anguish, or clammy sweat; petechiæ. (Comp. Bry.)

STRAMONIUM: Beating headache, especially on the vertex, with fainting turn, obscuration of sight and hardness of hearing; delirium with violent tossing about, frightful visions and illusions of sight and hearing, or with singing, whistling, talking in a foreign tongue, desire to escape from bed, &c.; loss of consciousness, the patient not knowing even his own family; dilated, insensible pupils: no stool or urine; coma with stertorous breathing, dec.

§ 7. Arnica: Coma with delirium and grasping at flocks, stertorous breathing, involuntary discharges of fæces or urine, &c.

Arsenicum: Patechiæ, coma, delirium, grasping at flocks, loss of consciousness, frequent, sudden starting and sighing; great prostration; depression of the lower jaw; open mouth; dim and glassy eyes, &c.

Camphora: Violent delirium, dullness and heat of the head, with clammy, cold skin; debility; debilitating and clanumy sweats; disposition to diarrhea. (Sometimes suitable after Rhus.)

CARBO-VEG.: Coma with rattling, hippocratic countenance, insensible pupils; small, almost extinct pulse; cold sweat in the hands, feet and in the face; involuntary stool with cadaverous smell; dark-red urine with a little flock in the centre, &c.

CHAMOMILLA: Spasmodic pains, cardialgia or spasmodic colic and diarrhea, together with the other typhoid symptoms.

CHINA: Loss of appetite and earthy taste of food; dry, parched lips and tongue; diarrhea day and night, with watery, yellow stools, or discharge of undigested food; constant sopor, or unrefreshing sleep, &c.

Cocculus: Debility, headache, vertigo, fainting turns, cardialgia, lameness of the extremities, &c. (Is frequently suitable after Rhus-t. or Camph.)

MURIATIS ACIDUM: Prostration, headache as if the brain were bruised, putrid symptoms, distress in the side.*

29

^{*} The principal indications for Muriatic acid have been omitted by Jahr; they are: settling down in the bed, while digging with the head into the pillow, turning up the whites, depression of the lower jaw, slavering, &c.—Hempel.

NATRUM MURIATICUM: Loss of consciousness, unquenchable thirst, dry tongue, debility.

NITRI SPIRITUS: Prostration, listlessness, stupidity, with starting, wild looks, deafness, dry, brownish lips, sleep, with delirium and muttering, &c.

Nux moschata: Putrid or colliquative diarrhæa, coma, delirium, stupidit y, &c.

OPIUM: Coma with stertorous breathing, open mouth, delirium, muttering. (After Opium, Phos-ac. is sometimes suitable.)

Pulsatilla: Loss of consciousness, with violent delirium, whining and lamenting, with desponding looks.

SULPHUR: Constant heat, especially in the evening, with full, hurried pulse, great thirst, dry and brownish tongue; scanty, dark-red urine which soon deposits a sediment; sleeplessness; delirium, with open eyes; grasping at flocks; constipation.

ULCERS.

- § 1. Ulcers, without an exception, depend upon a particular dyscrasia of the organism, and cannot be radically healed except by means of remedies which are capable of eradicating the dyscrasia, of which the ulcer is a mere symptom. Nevertheless, the character, configuration or other peculiarities of ulcers, should not be left out of consideration in selecting a remedy. These external characteristics of ulcers generally point to the following remedies: 1) Ars. asa. hep. lach. lyc. merc. puls. sil. sulph. 2) Aur. bell. bry. calc. canth. carb-veg. cham. chel. clem. con. cupr. graph. nitr-ac. phosph. phos-ac. rhus. sep. staph. thuj.
 - § 2. We should use more particularly:

WHOOPING-COUGH.

- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. arn. bell. carb-veg. cin. cupr. dulc. hep. ipec. merc. n-vom. puls. veratr. 2) Bry. cham. con. jod. lact. led. sep. sulph. tart.; or, perhaps: 3) Anac. ars. ferr. lach. nitr-ac. samb.
- § 2. In the first period, period of incubation, give: Aconcarb-veg. dulc. ipec. n-vom. puls.

Aconitum: Dry and wheezing cough, with fever, or burning pains in the larynx or trachea.

Carbo veg.: Convulsive cough, especially in the evening or before midnight, with red neck, pain in the throat when swallowing, lachrymation; or stitches in the head, pains in the chest and throat, or when an eruption breaks out on the head or abdomen.

Dulcamara: Moist cough from the commencement, with easy expectoration and hoarseness, and when the cough was brought on by taking cold.

IPECACUANHA: The cough is accompanied by great anguish, suffocative symptoms and bluish face; Nux v. being insufficient.

Nux vom.: $\hat{D}ry$ cough from midnight till morning, with vomiting, anguish, suffocation, bluish face, bleeding from the mouth and nose.

Pulsatilla: Moist cough from the first, with vomiting of mucus or of the ingesta, or mucous diarrhea.

§ 3. In the spasmodic period, with vomiting and bleeding from nose and mouth, the best remedies are: 1) Cin. cupr. dros. veratr.; or: 2. Bell. merc.

Cina: During the paroxysm the children suddenly become rigid, and the paroxysm is followed by a gurgling noise from the throat to the abdomen. This remedy is a specific, when the children are affected with the usual worm-symptoms, such as: Cutting in the bowels, itching of the anus, desire to rub one's nose or to bore with the finger in it.—Merc. is likewise suitable for these symptoms.

Cuprum: The body becomes rigid during the paroxysm, with arrest of breathing and loss of consciousness; vomiting after the paroxysms, and rattling of mucus in the chest between the paroxysms. (After Cupr., Veratr. is frequently suitable.)

Drosera: Excessive violence of the paroxysms, wheezing cough; no fever, or else: high fever with chills and heat, thirst only after the chills, the sweat is rather hot than cool, and sometimes sets in only at night; aggravation during rest, relief from motion. Drosera is generally the best remedy for fully developed whooping-cough, with vomiting of food or mucus, and bleeding from the mouth and nose. (After Dros., Veratr. is sometimes suitable.)

Veratrum: Dros. and Cupr. being insufficient, or sometimes before these medicines have been given, especially when the children are very feeble, with a sort of hectic fever, cold sweat, especially on the forehead; small, hurried and feeble pulse; great thirst; or the coughing causes an involuntary emission of urine, and pain in the chest and loins; between the paroxvsms the patients are in a comatose state, and care not either to move or converse; excessive weakness of the neck, so that the children are scarcely able to keep their head erect; attended with rash over the whole body, or only in the face and on the hands.

§ 4. The convulsive form of whooping-cough is not always fully developed, and it frequently happens that, at a period when the whooping-cough is epidemic, children are seized with a spasmodic cough which is without a great many of the characteristic symptoms of whooping-cough The best remedies for such a cough are: Bell. bry. jod. merc. sulph. tart.

Belladonna: Cerebral irritation, or the cough is preceded by a painful sensation in the region of the stomach, with bleeding of the nose and mouth, or ecchymoses in the eye; or when other spasmodic symptoms, such as: tetanus, convulsive asthma, &c. are present; or when the paroxysms terminate in sneezing.

Bryonia: The paroxysms set in principally in the evening or at night, or after eating or drinking, with loss of breath, want of air, and vomiting of the ingesta.

JODIUM: The cough is excited by tickling in the bronchi, with undulating inspirations during the paroxysms, which are preceded by great anguish, attended with great exhaustion, emaciation.

LACTUCA: Violent cough, with vomiting after every paroxysm, but without any other characteristic symptoms.

MERCURIUS: Cough only at night or only in the day-time, two paroxysms succeeding each other closely, and separated from the next two paroxysms by a longer interval of repose; or suitable for the real whooping-cough, when the children, during the vomiting, bleed profusely from nose and mouth, with profuse sweat at night and great nervousness; especially when the children are affected with worms and are liable to convulsions. (The last mentioned symptoms sometimes require Carb. veg. after Merc.)

SULPHUR: The paroxysms are accompanied with vomiting, and do not yield to any of the above-mentioned remedies.

TARTARUS: The vomiting is accompanied by diarrhea, with great prostration, or the children vomit up their supper in the first hours after midnight.

§ 5. If the convulsive period have run its course, and catarrhal symptoms remain, use: Arn. carb-veg. dulc. hep.

puls.

ARNICA: The children weep much after coughing, or the paroxysms are preceded by screams and crying, or they are caused by these screams.

CARBO VEG.: The catarrhal cough frequently becomes spasmodic, or the vomiting keeps up though the other symptoms of whooping-cough have disappeared.

Dulcamara: The catarrhal cough is accompanied by profuse expectoration of mucus.

HEPAR: The cough abates, but is hacking, dry and rough, with desire to vomit after the paroxysms, and frequent weeping.

Pulsatilla: Moist cough, with easy expectoration of serous mucus.

§ 6. Although we have distinguished whooping-cough into stages, yet it must not be supposed that the remedies which have been respectively indicated for the different stages, cannot be used for any other; on the contrary, many of the remedies which we have mentioned for the spasmodic stage, may, in many cases, be required in the precursory stage, and vice versa. Let it be remembered, that the selection of a remedy does not depend upon the name of the disease, but upon the symptoms, the pathological character of the disease, and the state of the patient.

Compare: Bronchitis, Croup, Laryngitis, Cough, &c.

WORM-AFFECTIONS, HELMINTHIASIS.

- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Acon. cin. merc. sulph. 2) Calc. carb-veg. chin. cic. ferr. fil. graph. ign. n-mosch. n-vom. sabad. sil. spig. 3) Ars. kal. natr-m. petr. phosph. puls. ruta. sabin. val.
- § 2. For tænia, give a dose of Sulphur, when the moon is on the decline; at the next full moon give a dose of Mercury; then again, in eight days, a dose of Sulphur; and so on for some time.

If this treatment should prove unsuccessful, give: 1) Calc. carb-veg. graph. magn-m. n-vom. puls. sabad. sil. 2) Ign: merc. petr. phosph. 3) Fil. fragar-vesc. gran.

§ 3. The best remedies for maw-worms are: 1) Acon. cin. merc. sabad. 2) Sulph.; or: 3) Bell. calc. cham. chin. cic. graph.

hyos. lyc. natr-m. n-vom. rhus. ruta. sil. spig.

Fever with colic, disposition to vomit, hard and distended abdomen, tenesmus or small slimy stools, require Acon.; after which, in a few hours, Cin. may be given; and, if necessary, in 24 hours, Merc.

If the fever and colic should be attended with great thirst, nervousness, sudden starting from sleep, and tendency to start, give Bell., or Lach. if Bell. should not suffice.

For the fever, some have successfully given: Chin. cic. sil. spig.—For the colic and convulsions: Cic.—For worm-colic with canine hunger, diarrhea and chilliness: Spig.—For the fever-paroxysms of scrofulous patients: Sil.

After these paroxysms have been subdued, a dose of Sulphur may be given, allowing it to act 4, 5, 6 weeks; and if, after the lapse of this period, worm-symptoms should still manifest themselves, such as: Loss of flesh, voracious appetite, pale face, &c. give: Baryt. calc. graph. lyc., or natr-m.

§ 4. The best remedies for the ailments caused by ascarides, are: 1) Acon. calc. chin. ferr. ign. merc. sulph.; or 2) Graph. n-vom. phosph. teucr.

For feverish restlessness at night, tossing about, give: Acon.;

and, if this should not suffice, Ign.

If Acon. and Ign. should not help, and if the distress should return at new or full moon, Sulph. should be given, either during the decline or increase of the moon; or else: Calc. ferr. chin.

WORN OUT. SEE LASSITUDE AND DEBILITY,

WOUNDS, Injuries, Sprains, &c.

- § 1. Principal remedies: 1) Arn. cic. con. kep. lach. puls. rhus. sulph-ac. 2) Acon. amm. bry. calc. caust. cham. euphr. nitr-ac. n-vom. phosph. ruta. sil. staph. sulph. zinc. 3) Alum. bell. borax. carb-veg. dulc. jod. petr. sil.
- § 2. For sprains, luxations, &c., give: Arnica, 10 drops of the tincture in a tumblerful of water, before and after the necessary manual operations, such as: reduction of the dislocation, &c. If the contusion or luxation should be very bad, Arnica 30 may likewise be given internally; and if no result should have been obtained in 24 hours, rhus-t., one dose, allowing it to act until an improvement takes place. A second dose of Rhus. may be given after the first ceases to act; or, if a pain should occasionally be experienced in the sprained joint, Amm. ruta. should be resorted to; or: Agn. bell. bry. puls.; or, Calc. carb-an. carb-veg. ign. lyc. magn-aust. natr. natr-m. nitr-ac. n-vom. petr. phosph. sep. sulph.

If the patient should have injured himself by lifting heavy weight, the principal remedy is Rhus t., especially when the dorsal and cervical muscles and the vertebral column are affected, and headache, pains in the back or gastric ailments are experienced. If Rhus should not suffice, give: Calc. cocc. natr.

n-vom. sulph.; or: Arn. bry. carb-an. carb-veg. graph. kal. lyc. sep. sil.—If hernia inguinalis should have been caused by lifting heavy weight, or by straining the body, give: 1) N-vom. sulph-ac.
2) Cocc. sulph.—If a prolapsus of the womb should have been occasioned by these causes, N-vom. is almost a specific remedy, and should be resorted to before Bell. or Sep. are given.

The ill effects of missing a step or pressing the foot to the floor with too much violence, require: 1) Bry. 2) Cic. con. puls.

rhus. 3) Arn. spig.

§ 3. Parts which have been injured by a contusion, fall or blow, should be bathed with a solution of Arnica; Arnica being likewise taken internally if the contusion be very bad, or if the head, chest, abdomen, &c., should have been violently concussed. If Arnica should be insufficient, give:

For simple contusion without concussion: 1) Euphr. jod. puls.

ruta. sulph-ac. 2) Croc. hep. mez. petr. phosph. sulph.

For concussion from blow, shock, fall, or other causes: 1) Cic.

con. puls. rhus. 2) Euphr. jod. lach. sulph. sulph-ac.

Concussion of the whole body by a fall: Bry. cic. con. puls. rhus. sulph-ac.

Ecchymosis which does not yield to Arnica: 1) Bry. rhus.

sulph-ac. 2) Con. dulc. lach. n-vom. puls. sulph.

Swelling of the injured parts: 1) Bry. puls. rhus. sulph. 2) Bell. n-vom. sulph-ac.

§ 4. If there should be a solution of continuity (as in wounds, &c.) apply first Arnica as a wash; and if this should be insufficient, apply:

For bites, not of poisonous animals: Arn. sulph-ac.—And of poisonous animals: 1) Anm. ars. bell. 2) Caust. lach. natr-m.

puls. seneg.

Contused wounds, see: Contusion in the preceding paragraph.

Excoriations, bedsores: 1) Arn. sulph-ac. 2) Carb-veg. chin.

Cut-wounds: 1) Staph. sulph. 2) Natr. plumb. sil. sulph-ac. Gun-shot-wounds: 1) Euphr. nitr-ac. plumb. sulph-ac. 2) puls. ruta. sulph.

Splinters: 1) Acon. carb-veg. sic. hep. nitr-ac. sil. 2) Lach.

Stab-wounds: 1) Carb-veg. cic. lach. nitr-ac. sil. 2) Con. hep.

plumb. sulph.

Burns: Acon. ars. carb-veg. caust. lach. stram. urtic.—Relief is sometimes obtained by washing the burn with soap-spirits.—Burns of the tongue sometimes are cured by a small dose of Ars. or Caust.

§ 5. Employ more particularly For readily bleeding wounds: 1) Acon. arn. chin. phosph.

2) Carb-veg. diadem. lach. sulph. sulph-ac.

For profuse suppuration: 1) Bell. chin. merc. puls. sulph. 2) Bell. hep. lack. plumb.

For inflamed, angry, ulcerated wounds, give: 1) Cham. sil. 2) Borax. graph. hep. lach. merc. nitr-ac. puls. rhus. sulph. sulph-ac.

Gangrenous wounds: 1) Ars. chin. lach. sil. 2) Acon.

amm. bell. carb-veg. euphorb.

§ 6. If the muscles and soft parts alone were injured, give: 1) Arn. euphr. hep. puls. sulph-ac. 2) Con. dulc. lach. n-vom. sulph.

If the tendons, ligaments or synovial membranes: 1) Amm. arn. bry. rhus. ruta. 2) Calc. natr. natr-m. phosph. 3) Agn.

carb-an. carb-veg. lyc. magn-aust. n-vom. petr. sep.

Wounds of glandular organs require: 1) Con. jod. kal. phosph.

2) Cic. hep. merc. puls. sil. sulph.

Wounds of bones or the periosteum: 1) Calend. phos-ac. puls. ruta. 2) Calc. phosph. sil. staph.

Fractures: Calc. calend. ruta. sil. symphitum officinale.

§ 7. Traumatic convulsions (tetanus) require: Ang. bell. cic. cocc.

Traumatic (wound) fever: Acon. bry. rhus-t., provided Arn.

is insufficient.

Nervous symptoms, after violent concussion of the brain or spinal marrow, require: 1) Cic. con. 2) Bell. calc. cin. hep., provided Arn. is insufficient.

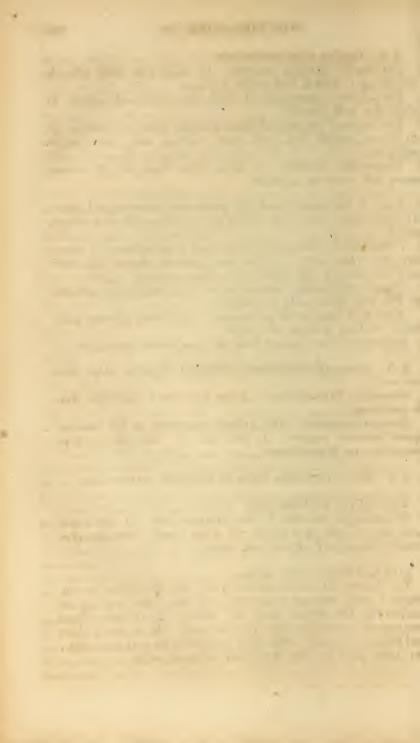

§ 8. See: Poisoning, Bites of Poisonous animals, &c.

YAWNING, SPASMODIC.

The principal remedies for this symptom are: 1) Ign. magnurct. natr-m. plat. rhus. sulph. 2) Amm. caust. cham. cocc. croc. euphr. lach. magn-c. nitr-ac. tart. veratr.

ZONA, ZOSTER, IGNIS SACER.

This disease only occurs on the trunk, and should not be confounded with common vesicular erysipelas. The principal remedies for this disease are: 1) Rhus-t. 2) Graph.—These two remedies generally suffice in recent cases. In old cases, which had been mismanaged with other medicines, we may try: Ars.; or: merc. puls. or: Bry. cham. natr. selen. sil. sulph.

HOMOEOPATHIC BOOKS.

JAHR'S NEW MANUAL OF HOMEOPATHIC PRACTICE. Edited, with annotations, by A. Gerald Hull, M. D., from the last Paris edition. This is the fourth American edition of a very celebrated work, written in French, by the eminent Homeopathic Profess or Jahr, and it is considered the best practical compendium of this extraordinary science that has yet been composed. After a very judicious and instructive introduction, the work presents a table of the Homeopathic Medicines, with their names in Latin, English, and German; the order in which they are to be studied, with their most important distinctions, and clinical illustrations of their symptoms and effects upon the various organs and functions of the human system.—The second volume embraces an elaborate analysis of the indications in disease, of the medicines adapted to cure, and a glossary of the technics used in the work, arranged so luminously as to form an admirable guide to every medical student. The whole system is here displayed with a modesty of pretension, and a scrupulosity in statement, well calculated to be peak candid investigation. This laborious work is indispensable to the students and practitioners of Homeopathy, and highly interesting to medical and scientific men of all classes. Repertory, 1 vol, bound. 1849.

JAHR'S NEW MANUAL; originally published under the name of Symptomen-Codex. (Digest of Symptoms.) This work is intended to facilitate a comparison of the parallel symptoms of the various homomopathic agents, thereby enabling the practitioner to discover the characteristic symptoms of each drug, and to determine with ease and correctness what remedy is most homomopathic to the
